OUR VIEWS Consensus Opinion

UGA has had their year to gloat.
We gave them a
break last year,
but now it's time
to kick some ass!
Let's show those farm
boys + girls what being a Yellow
Tacket is all about!
Let's go to Athens
and prove once and for all that Ma
Tech is truly the bastion of good football (and good education) in the South.

DAWG VIOLATER

Election help needed from Tech profs

The recent election of the Green Party candidate for Athens mayor points to the need for major reform of the electoral process in Athens. As a professor from the school of Industrial Engineering at Georgia Tech, I believe that I can solve the problem better than anyone at UGA. After all, many of the broken screens were caused by professors from your school of Political Science, many who had extensively studied the new voting method before the election.

The basic premise of my argument is this: you stupid people should not be prevented from voting, but clearly having you interact with technology that has more intelligence than you is disastrous. While the DICK was a step in the right direction, all of you are clearly unable to handle such a piece of equipment.

To improve this system, I propose that Athens use a voting method that all of you are more familiar with: raising your hands. I realize that this presents a few problems. One, no secret ballot. This is easily solved by all of you closing your eyes while you vote. Two, no one in Athens could count high enough to tally all the votes. I propose brining in election officials from the Carter Center who could not only monitor the situation but could also count up to one hundred, easily enabling them to count all the residents in Athens. If you want to re-enfranchise yourselves, give me a call.

Miss Skank Advice on Kissin' and Sexin'

Miss Skank tells all and advises all dysfunctional UGA students

Miss Skank, you've got to help me! I recently discovered that my boyfriend of three months was sleeping with my sister. As I am pregnant with his love-child, I decided I should do something about it! When I went over to his house, though, I caught him there with my roommate! I couldn't help but wonder, what next, my mom and my cow? I still love him, and I want him back for the baby's sake. What should I do to stop those dirty hoes from sleeping with my man?

—Sleeping with a Man-Whore

You know, Sleeper, I once had something similar happen to me. I just plum thought my life was ovah! Here's what I did to solve the problem; it might give you some insight as to what to do in your situation.

I decided that castration would be the best method. I lured the cheater to my bed one night as usual, and when he got nice and, well, not quite long, but as long as he could get (which made me question why I was with him in the first place, but you know, I thought what with the inventinin of those new blue pills, Vimagra or somethin, he'd do better) and I just took that pitchfork that my daddy usta done use for scooping the shit, and I done raked off his wanker!!

If you take away his privates then you can be sure that he won't be messin' around with any of them other girls, he'll just be there for you and your baby. Make sure to use a sturdy metal object, now, and use a firm grip!

When I was a freshman, I bought this great pair of black "goin' out" pants. They made me the most popular girl in Athens. Lately, though, a two-fold problem has reared its ugly head. First, the long-term shortage of black pants available in Athens has made it impossible for me to find a new pair, and this old one is starting to get holes in some very unfortunate places, if you get my drift. The second problem is that the wonderful farm sloop they have at UGA has made me gain over 10 pounds since I've been at college. Help me with both my problems, and I'll be forever grateful!

—Party Girl

Aye, I once had holes in my pants too, but I liked it. It made me feel like the animals were REAL close when we was dancin' together under tha moon. The sorority-mandated black pants look should be going out of style soon, anyhow. I say it's about durn time that we all go back to our roots and go for the retro bumkin look and wear our old overalls. So, if you aren't into getting some through that hole in your pants, then you should start this new trend and wear your overalls proud. Plus, with all the pockets them overalls have you can put a six pack of Natty Light in 'em to carry around partying with ya! This solution saves money and will make all the guys go ga ga over your beer prowess.

As far as your fat problem, the overalls solve this too because they just flow around you and make you look farm beeeeoootiful!

I was talking to my boyfriend last week and he said now that our relationship is getting serious he knew he had to tell me the truth... he's really a woman. He then told me not only is he gay, but he's having an affair with a transsexual!

I had two secrets of my own for my boyfriend: I'd been pregnant with another man's child earlier but lost it after a vigorous day of farming and I've been stripping for the last year. He wasn't upset at all but asked me if I would perform a live sex show with my roommate! After all of that was over, I hoped my life would settle down for a while.

But it didn't. My sister has been a prostitute for 2 years, and has decided that she's quitting the business. After she told her pimp, he decided to quit, too, and they got married at a mass cult wedding! Then more family problems just piled up, my grandmother danced naked on the Jerry Springer show. So, my question for you is this: how bout' them Dawgs?

—Trailer Trash

Aw, dawg, you know it's gotta be PISS ON 'EM!!
