Tau Beta Pi Selects New Men

Dr. Henry Makes Talk at Banquet

Tau Beta Pi, the highest honorary engineering fraternity on the campus, initiated the following men into its organization last Tuesday night:

Electrical Engineering
J. H. Howard
E. J. Erwin
E. P. Hatcher
J. F. Cochrane
Mechanical Engineering
W. R. Trevorton
M. E. Clark
T. F. DeCapito
G. C. Campbell
Civil Engineering
J. C. Dorsey
W. T. Adams
I. G. Bradley
Chemical Engineering
B. E. Anderson

After the initiation ceremonies all proceeded to the Georgia Tech dining hall where a banquet was laid in honor of the new members. Dr. Henry gave a very impressive talk on Tau Beta Pi and its ideals.

Tau Beta Pi is a national honorary engineering fraternity with chapters in most of the leading schools of the country. The Alpha Chapter of Georgia offers membership to twenty-five engineering students of each graduating class who can qualify according to standards of scholarship, character, loyalty, personality, leadership, and school activities. The fact that Tau Beta Pi is the second oldest honorary fraternity in the country and numbers among its members many leading engineers, makes membership in the society a coveted honor.

Redfern is President of Robert Morris Society

Six Juniors are Elected to Membership

The Robert Morris Society, honorary Commerce Cooperative, at a recent meeting selected for membership the following men from the pre-junior class:

Lawrence, F. C.
Towers, J. K.
Turner, C. M.
Tripp, G. C.
Smith, F. B.
Waddell, H. L.

C. W. Redfern, Commerce Senior, was elected president of the society to fill the vacancy of J. S. Maxwell who left Tech last year to attend the University of Buffalo.

Mr. Geo. M. Sparks, Professor of Journalism, was unanimously elected faculty adviser and has consented to act in that capacity.

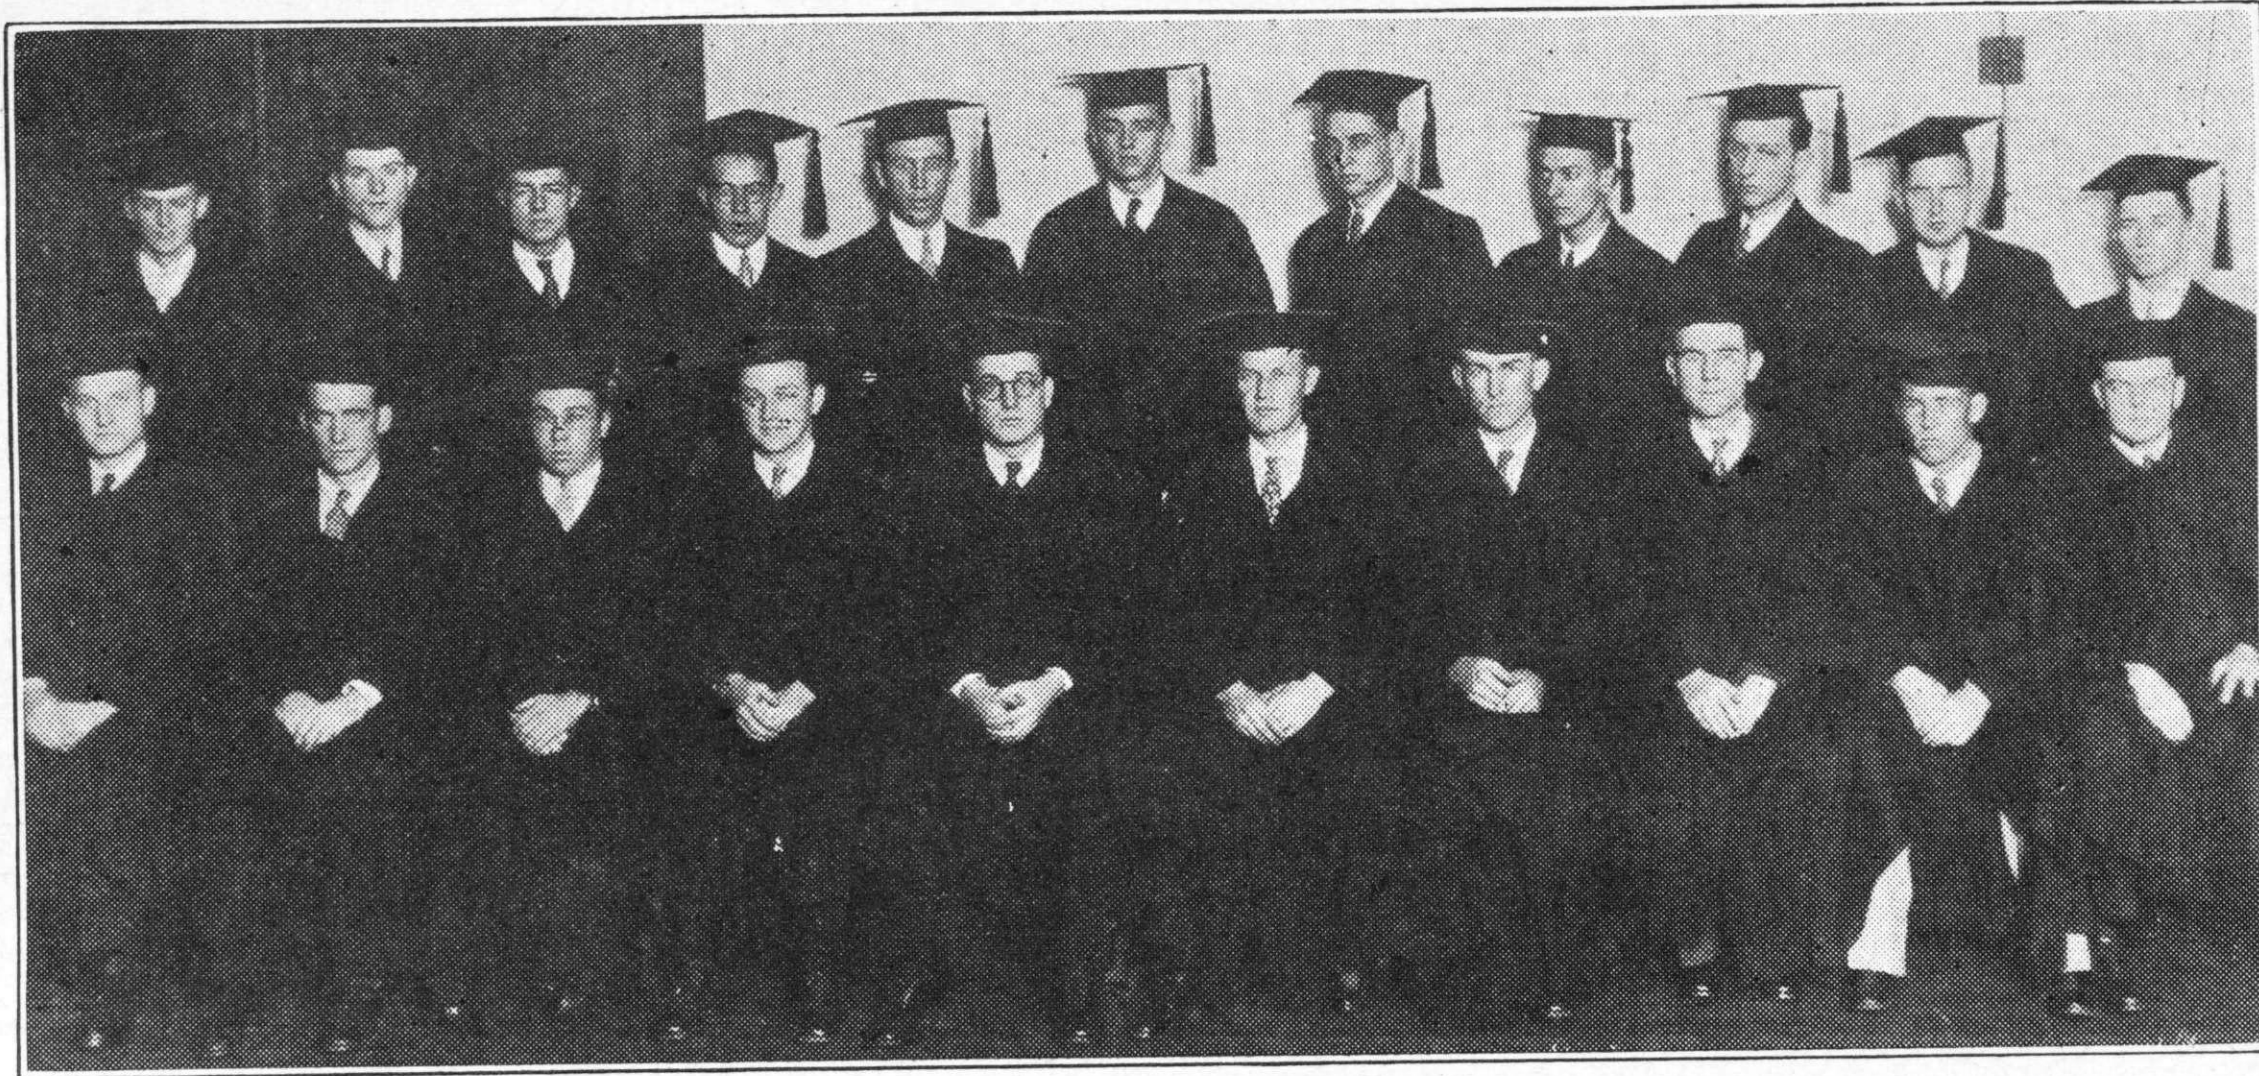

The purpose of the society is to establish a fraternal, business, and scholastic relationship among its members. The society, which was founded at Tech last year, also secures speakers monthly for the Juniors and Seniors of the Commerce Department.

Holidays Begin Dec. 20

The annual Christmas vacation period at Tech will begin this year at twelve noon, on Saturday, December 20th, 1930, and end at 8:00 A.M. on January 5th, 1931.

It is especially brought to the students' attention that "Cuts" before or after a vacation period or holiday will be charged as offenses.

PHI KAPPA PHI INITIATE SENIORS

Honor students of the senior class who were initiated into membership of the Phi Kappa Phi honorary fraternity on November 20th. They are, from left to right, front row, M. H. Clarke, J. L. Russ, F. S. Stephenson, W. P. Barber, W. A. Smith, H. W. Mason (president of the Tech chapter), V. A. Graves, H. N. Richardson, G. G. Mooney, and J. H. Howard. Back row, Harold Breedlove, I. G. Bradley, G. C. Carson, W. T. Adams, E. W. Barclay, H. W. Sphar, H. W. Persons, F. R. Jenkins, M. L. Robb, E. P. Davis, and C. L. Curry.

Homecoming Day Set for Georgia Game

Many Reunions to Be Held

Homecoming Day at Georgia Tech has been definitely set on December 6th, the day of the yearly Tech-Georgia football game. This day is set aside each year for a reunion of the alumni of Tech and it is an event much looked forward to by them.

Final arrangements for the event are now being checked and as far as present reports indicate, many men will remember this celebration and are planning to attend. Local alumni of Tech prophesy that this will be one of the largest and most interesting Homecoming Days ever held at Tech. Practically every railroad into Atlanta is offering special rates for the occasion, and numerous alumni in distant cities have signified their intention to be present.

The Anak, honorary senior society, has a special entertainment planned for the night after the game with Georgia for the enjoyment of the "Homecomers." The main luncheon of the day will be held in the school dining hall and as such a large crowd is expected to attend, it has been requested that reservations be made in advance for this get-together.

Official reunions will be held by the classes of 1890, '95, 1900, '05, '10, '15, '20, '25, '30, while the classes just before and following these dates will hold their unofficial meetings.

Alpha Kappa Psi Holds Dinner Meeting

Rushees Entertained

The Georgia Tech chapter of Alpha Kappa Psi honorary Commercial fraternity, held a dinner meeting at the Georgian Terrace Hotel, Sunday, November 23rd. Some twenty-five prospective members, from the Sophomore and Junior classes, were invited to attend. Although the exact date on which the pledging will take place has not yet been announced, it will probably be about the first of December.

The first initiation will take place in January. Plans were discussed for their annual dance which will be given at an early date. It was announced that Billy Zuber was voted the most outstanding student in the Tech Night School.

Dean Noel, of the Commercial Department, attended the dinner.

Boifeuillet Addresses Phi Kappa Phi Chapter

The Tech chapter of the Phi Kappa Phi honorary fraternity held its initiation ceremonies preceding the annual banquet held in the school dining hall on November 20th.

H. W. Mason, president of the Tech chapter, presided at the banquet. The address of the occasion was delivered by John T. Boifeuillet, of Macon. Mr. Boifeuillet had had a notable career in diplomatic and political circles. He has been secretary of Senator Hoke Smith, on the diplomatic staff at the Court of St. James, and has been a member of the House of Representatives of Georgia for twenty-three years. Other accomplishments include former chairmanship of the Public Service Commission, associate editor of the Atlanta Journal, and an orator of ability. He attended Mercer University and was a close friend of the late Nathaniel E. Harris, one of the founders of Georgia Tech.

Immediately before the banquet the candidates were ushered into the assembly hall of the Tech "Y" and the initiation ceremony was performed.

Those who were received into membership were:

Notice

Candidates for varsity swimming team will meet at 12:00 A. M., Monday, December 1, in the "Y" chapel. If unable to attend, report at pool in Atlanta Athletic Club at 4 P. M. on the same date.

The Blue Print has requested several times before that each fraternity turn in to the staff ten or twelve snapshots taken around your fraternity house, and as yet the staff has received pictures from only one or two fraternities. These pictures have to be in the possession of the staff by or before Tuesday, December 2nd, in order to get into the annual.

Interior pictures of rooms, pictures of boys, or any other object around your house that might be representative of your particular Fraternity. Automobiles or anything.

See that these pictures are sent to the Annual Staff in care of Fred Stephenson, Beta Theta Pi house, Fowler St., Bill Horne, Delta Tau Delta House, Spring St., or Hugh Stancill, Phi Kappa Sigma House, on or before the above date.

Glee Club Abandons Musical Comedy

Informal Program Planned

It was decided at a business meeting of the Glee Club last Monday afternoon to abandon for this season plans for presentation of the original two-act musical comedy written by members of the club. The score will be saved for next year's club.

Officers for next year will be elected at a meeting to be held next Monday afternoon, December 1st, at 4:10 in the "Y" chapel.

It is planned to arrange an informal program of solo, quartet, and instrumental numbers for presentation over the radio and similar performances. No road trips are planned for this year.

Plans are under way for the organization of a concert orchestra this year. All candidates for the orchestra are requested to report in the "Y" chapel next Monday afternoon at 4 P. M.

Auburn Seniors Visit Tech on Trip

Shown Class Room Work

Tech again played the part of host Monday, November 24, when the senior civil and architectural engineers of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute made an inspection tour of Georgia Tech and its various departments. The Auburn seniors are on a three-day inspection tour of the various Atlanta institutions and activities pertaining to their course of study. While at Tech they were shown through the civil, mechanical, and textile engineering; architectural; and ceramics departments. Professors Franklin C. Snow and F. C. Black were in charge of showing the visitors around the campus. Professor John A. Callan of Auburn accompanied the students on their trip. About thirty Auburn men made up the party.

Co-Op Freshmen Hold Class Election

At a meeting of the first section of the Co-Op freshmen held on Saturday, November 15th, the following officers were elected:

President, C. B. Rogers.
Vice-President, R. Elton.
Secretary and Treasurer, C. W. Lines.

These men are to serve until the fall of next year. The present Freshman Co-Op class is one of the largest co-op classes to enter Tech in several years.

Italian Consul Speaks to Cosmopolitan Club

Brittain and Busby are Honored by Club

Dr. M. L. Brittain and Professor H. S. Busby were honored at the last meeting of the Cosmopolitan Club by being elected as the club's representatives in the Permanent International Council of the Association of the Cosmopolitan Clubs, of which the Tech club is a member. The meeting was held in the "Minstrel's Quire" of the Tech Dining Hall, and an informal luncheon was also enjoyed by the members.

The club could not have chosen two better men to assume the duties of guiding the destinies of the organization. Both men have taken a keen personal interest in the club, and have given much time and attention to the club's affairs.

Distinguished guests at the luncheon were the president of the Atlanta Foreign Board, Mr. Robert Hecht, the Royal Italian Consul to Atlanta, Sr. Cav. Attilio Bolloti, and Mr. W. N. Cashion, Tech "Y" secretary.

Sr. Bolloti made a very interesting speech in which he expressed interest in the fact that his own country was represented in the club. He also said that Georgia Tech should be proud that so many foreign students had elected this college at which to prepare themselves for their careers. He further stated that his own country was making special arrangement for foreign students in its universities.

Mr. Hecht has taken a very personal interest in the club from its establishment at Georgia Tech, and has proved a very valuable friend to the organization many times.

There are eighteen countries represented.

Georgia Colleges May Appoint Students to Assist in Research Work

To Study Regional Problems

The Savannah Chamber of Commerce has submitted a plan to the heads of the University of Georgia, Mercer University, Emory University, Oglethorpe University, and Georgia Tech, which, if followed by these five major colleges of Georgia, will result in the formation of a body of student associates, numbering nearly 500 young men to assist in the future commercial, agricultural, and industrial development of Georgia.

The plan specifies that each university appoint one senior and one junior from each eighty four counties in South Georgia who will study local and regional problems and will be in a position to bring to the work of the associate membership the viewpoint and research of the institutions they represent.

Robb Given Mention by Beaux Arts Institute

M. L. Robb, senior in the Architectural department of Tech, received first mention in a national contest on an Archaeology problem. This problem, a Norman castle entrance and drawbridge, was sent to all the Architectural departments of schools in the country by the Beaux Arts Institute of Design in New York. The problems completed by the Tech students were judged here and sent to N. Y. where they were entered in competition with those from the other schools. The first mention awarded to Robb is the second highest award given. All of the Tech entries received mentions.

Fraternalism

"The love of man for woman waxeth and waneth like the moon, but the love of Brother for Brother is as eternal as the sands of the desert and as lasting as the stars in the firmament above."

A bit flowery, but it contains a lot of truth. There are times that we long for the editorial page to contain illustrations and this is one of those times. Inasmuch as it isn't being done, we hope that a word picture will suffice. We once saw a little ragged urchin coming down the street, you know the Tom Sawyer or the Huckleberry Finn type, carrying his smaller brother that was almost as large as he. Approaching him we asked, "Quite a heavy load for such a small fellow, isn't it?" At this every muscle was called upon to its utmost, the tension was at a maximum and the reply was prompt, "No sir, he ain't heavy, he's my brother." We have read countless volumes on Brotherhood and Fraternalism, but have never seen real brotherhood more vividly illustrated.

Helping a brother, one of your own selection (and at the same time you were one of his selection) should be a pleasure. Fellows, when a Fraternity loses sight of this fact, the fact of pulling together and helping each other, they cease to become fraternities and become clubs, or other types of organizations, good in their class, but void of the Fellowship and Brotherhood that makes fraternities mean as much as they do.

Let's stick by our brothers and our fraternity and accomplish things that are worth while and make Tech a better school because of our presence there. There are times when we all are down hearted, and everything seems to go wrong—9 times out of 10 our brothers have caused us to "snap out of it." There's something a little deeper in this thing called Fraternalism and Friendship.

A prominent Dean of men at a large college once said, "When I want something accomplished as it should be, I turn it over to the various fraternities and forget about it." Let's forget petty politics and jealousies and make it possible for our Dean to feel that anything that he turns over to the Fraternities can be looked on as a job well done.

Far-Sight

The eye is a wonderful organ. Not the least wonderful thing about it is its ability to accommodate itself to the vision before it.

It can glimpse upward and see the stars; it can glimpse downward and see the dust on the ground. It makes this accommodation in a short space of time.

There are some people who have far-sight, but are unable to see things close about them. They see the stars but fall in the ditch. Such are sailors who are accustomed to looking in the distance scanning the horizon and viewing far off ships. In the city men are apt to become near-sighted. They read much. They are accustomed to looking at things close about them. They become sophisticated and quick. The street Arab in the city is usually a lively chap. He has the power of quick accommodation. He knows what is going on around him and can quickly suit himself to circumstances. He is accustomed to dodging cars and otherwise looking out for himself.

The Kansas boy from the country is liable to get run over in the city. He has been looking at distant things along the prairie. But the Kansas boy is usually to be more trusted than the city street Arab. He has more perspective and can see things better in their proper relation.

Many critics lack background. They have no far vision. They cannot see into the gist of things. They are merely sophisticated and quickly read what is on the surface. The ancient distinction was between the sophist and the wise man. Sophism consisted in a dexterous handling of apparent truths; but seldom meant an observation of hidden truths.

The perfect man has perfect accommodation. He can see that which is distant and that which is close. His eye adjusts itself. He has fixed principles, high ideals, and far off goals, but at the same time he is practical. He sees the road which he must travel as well as the end he must attain. He sees the difficulties that lie before him and the obstacles that he must overcome as well as the goal he must attain.

There are very few men in history that have this rare accommodation of

By-Products

Here at Tech we are losing hundreds of valuable by-products by wasting our odd moments. They should be made to count heavily in our daily life, because time is the one thing that we have enough of, and its constant use and economy is certain to be a vital step in our intellectual advancement.

Frequently one hears worthless students talking about killing spare time. They are ruining their chances for success by not making themselves useful, and it is this same group that never thinks of applying an odd fifteen minutes to reading and thinking problems out.

In our industrial fields today there are numbers of prominent concerns that by utilization of by-products make more than enough to cover their overhead expenses. The men who thought of this used their spare time to plan in. They were not loafers—they were filled with an ambition that strictly opposed time killing.

All of us have time each day left to apply to something besides study. Education and intellectual training should not be ended by a routine of chemistry, physics, and math each night. Thoughtful application of what is picked up on the side is likely to contribute as much to our well being and usefulness in later life as anything on the face of the earth.

qualities. Some were idealists, having no practical knowledge of the way to attain their ideals; others were opportunists and were deficient in idealism.

It is not only necessary to know what is good for ourselves and the race, but it is necessary to know how to attain it. Otherwise we shall be like the man that looked at the stars, but ripped up over obstacles at his feet.

People who have ideals only, but no practical wisdom, are called visionary; people that have merely practical wisdom, but no ideals, are called materialists or opportunists. The right man has the proper balance between the two. He knows the end he is to attain and the road by which he is to come to it. You might call him an ideal opportunist, or an opportune idealist. At any rate he illustrates the fact that any best man has a balance of qualities and is not extreme in any direction.

CAMPUS CHATTER

Old Peter Hereweare was sure trying to rate suction last week when he spoke of missing the Chi Phi tea dance so much. No doubt nearly everyone has a good time at these occasions, but a break into the monotony of the same old time and same old place with the same old faces is sometimes good. Maybe Peter didn't rate one of the blanket bids and is now seeking one. Good luck, old Sourface!

MORE TURKEY HASH! Two more UGH-UGH's.

Will they or won't they make 90 the exempting grade? That is the question. According to all customs this system would begin with the Freshman class entering this year, but from the talk around school it will apply to all. Hope some of profs can be a little less of a certain thing than the officials seem to want to be!

And the big Thanksgiving funtion at Garber's Hall. Another dance, another dollar two-bits. We notice an addition to the managers of the Grabber brawls and were amazed to find him a Tech man. Is the Emory clan losing its grip on the concession? It seems impossible.

EVEN MORE HASH! Hebrews 13:8!!! (Look it up in the old King James version and see for yourself.)

Take any number, triple it, take the naperian logarithm of the cube root of this quantity, multiply by the reciprocal of your age, divide by the blood pressure of your oldest living uncle and you will probably know as much about what you're doing as some of our dear Tech teachers seem to know about their respective courses.

We had an unusual occasion to be out on Ponce de Leon the other morning at just about time for the Tech Factory Whistle to blow when we saw what seemed to be an avalanche of riot squad cars go past, nearly ditching everyone they passed. It turned out that it was the customary regular run of Tech automobilists trying to beat the profs to class.

It most certainly is a wonder that somebody hasn't been killed already. The driving is almost as erratic as one extremely unPOPular professor on the campus. Leaving two minutes sooner might save a life.

The GENE TURNER CAMPAIGN! A good cause, and a good bunch backing it. Let's back them!

And how about the fraternity man who, in class the other day, backed up a non-fraternity man in denouncing fraternities on the Tech and all other campuses? What a great help to his chapter he must be!

This last week sure has had the resemblance to one of those at the Coca-Cola school. No football, but plenty of dances. The cross country to far-away Marietta sponsored by the Phi Gamma may have been popular with some few, but to others it was quite a pain. To say the least, the crowd was not overly large which added to the enjoyment of the occasion. We were certainly surprised when we learned that it was not a square dance but somehow managed to step around in our new box shoes bought for the occasion.

As to the Co-op dance, the Club certainly played to a capacity house. And from the looks of things, a number of the invited (and possibly uninvited) guests were filled to capacity themselves. It seems that nearly everybody was told that they had a good time. 'Nuf sed.

We will have to hand it to the Tech Ramblers for their peppy, lively syn-

TECH IT OR LEAVE IT

That big gang from Florida
Came to Atlanta, it seems,
For a big turkey dinner
And fulfillment of their dreams.

They got their turkey dinner
And it did most enjoy;
And as for the football game,
Well . . . you know, Ship Ahoy!!

Famous last words: "Say, Mister Ira Strout, what do you all think of southern cooking and southern peaches?"

"Bowl some my way," said the pin setter as the next alley rumbled with business.

One bright day in the middle of the night
Two dead boys began to fight;
A deaf policeman heard the noise
And came and killed the two dead boys!

Who says Tech teachers are not paid well? They are indeed. Witness their numerous cars:

No teacher has five cars.
One teacher has one car more than no teachers.
Therefore, each teacher has six cars.
It sounds pretty good, anyway.

Add obsolete Tech terms: Student Robbery, good ol' numerical grades, winning football teams, the Yellow Jacket, and exemptions.

Advice to the forlorn:

Hearken to this,
Little Charlie Ware,
Never should you trust
A sweet lady fair.

Things causing a lot of that "Sweet misery of life":

Profs . . .
Little brothers . . .
Green freshmen . . .
8:00 A. M. classes . . .
Quizzes . . .
Bills . . .
Girls who don't understand . . .
And countless . . .
Other things.

HERE WE ARE

Dear Ma:

Well, Ma, the varsity had a much needed rest Saturday, that is they didn't play a game, the rest part, well, not so much, and practice was in order until the wee small hours. The frosh surely did do themselves proud by trampling the Baby Gators from Florida. Here's hoping that their older brothers are able to repeat Thanksgiving and December 6. The team, the band, the Yellow Jacket club, in fact, everyone concerned, is working hard for this game and here's hoping that the work is not in vain. Here's to the Yellow Jacket Club, long may they wave. There might be several things that they have done that brings criticism but if you will be fair-minded enough to figure out the reason why you will find that they are doing a good work.

We see that the circle of ODK has elected four new men to their ranks. Congrats, Newman, Paul, Jim and Fred.

It seems that every student at Tech holds a warm spot for the warriors from Notre Dame and when they trounced Northwestern in the last few minutes Saturday there were a lot of smiles and well wishing at Tech. Here's to you, Irish; long may you wave.

Remember when there was a lot of gnashing of teeth at Tech occasioned by the loss of an excellent fullback. Well, it seems that there are other schools that are in the same boat now. Jumping Joe will no longer jump for Notre Dame. Matrimony caused it. Plunging Sy will no longer plunge for the Army. There seems to be a controversy about his age. Well, Joe and Sy, here's to you. We are glad that the sport was able to see you as long as it did. Two wonderful players lost to the game. Au revoir, fellows.

Aha, the voice of the classic city has caused quite a rumpus in the Journal. Well, we are glad to say that Tech has been satisfied with all of the gentlemen of the press. This is a hard job these newspaper men have and we salute them for their excellent cooperation on every occasion. It is probable that they may make a mistake now and then but we all do and in their position I am sure that we would be a lot more erroneous.

At last there is a potential foe for the Tech fencing team. The co-eds at Oglethorpe have taken up the ancient art of wielding the rapier. Why not a match for the championship of Atlanta? We would then see if they had the same tact in touching the heart with steel that they have with the winning ways and other attractions.

Speaking of Oglethorpe, we see that they lost a hard fought game to the Mercer Bears 2 to 0 Saturday. Too bad, Petrels. Here's to your next game. Which reminds us that the publication at Oglethorpe is pulling for a Tech-Oglethorpe game for the benefit of the unemployment situation. An excellent idea and a wonderful thought, Petrels, from the standpoint of charity. However, we have both had a strenuous season and lots of casualties. Why risk more men being lost to the squads next year?

Thanks, Charlie Chatter, for the boost. It does one good to think there is someone else who thinks like you do. Let's pull together for more lodges that mean something and the abolition of the meaningless ones for a bigger and better Tech.

Ride 'em, cowboy. Now the Rodeo club looms up over the horizon. The SYT's are trying another stab at the old word Rate from another angle. I suppose that the term can well mean the rounding up of the best possibilities as tactfully as possible. More about "Go west, young lady, go west" later.

The engineers have begun on their social activities for the year—last week the Phi Gam, freshman party at Marietta. It seems that Marietta isn't so far after all and the crowd wasn't so small as we had predicted. Well, here's to you fellows for trying at any rate.

Then the hard working scions at Tech got together at the Druid Hills Golf Club. At last this club seems to have fallen for the SYT's and there were more than usual at this dance this year. They were plainly labeled, too. Why wear a costume? An evening dress is our speed. Wonder if the maker of the no-break cards had the fact in mind that the dances made perfect sense when they were read in order? Lots of people, buttermilks, Scott, Georgia, Oglethorpe, Brenau, SYT's and debs were all represented in large forces. They did patronize a home institution in getting the Tech Ramblers to furnish the music, good music, too. Let's patronize the talent at Tech and help our comrades at Tech rather than outsiders. A good dance with the exception of the CROWD. Congrats, Co-ops. Congrats, SYT's. We didn't know you could do it.

Over the horizon looms the holiday festivities. Banzi Currie and his Floridians will play at the mosque. Plenty of social activity for the week-end starting one day early this year thanks to the closing of the factory for Thanksgiving. More about this next week.

And the debbies still get their share of publicity. Several more are presented to the society of Atlanta in the same old way. There were several hundred members of Atlanta's elite society at one of the debbies' parties. This is a new one. Maybe there is another clan starting in the realms of the RATING class.

The N.A.P.S. Dramatic Club makes its bow at the Tech Y. M. C. A. this week. A bunch of good talent in the past. Fellows, this is the school that at one time was socially ahead of the Seminary. Wonder why the reversal?

The debbies gave a fashion show at the Biltmore the other night. The show was as good as fashions go, we suppose, but the charity was a well worthwhile one. Congrats, debbies.

Aha, the co-eds at Emory have gone in for push ball this year. The men had better get into good shape or they are slated for a good drubbing. At any rate they will have some keen competition now.

Letters to Santa

It won't be long before old Santa will be making up his list of presents for all the good little boys and girls. Of course all the little Tech boys want to be represented when Santa hitches up his reindeer team and starts out Christmas eve. So write your letters early. If you will drop them in the box at the Technique office in the "Y" basement we will see that Santa gets them. Here are some of the first:

Dere Santy Claws,

I have been a good boy all year and have made good marks at school and have been good to my little brothers and have not had any more fights with Clinton and I want you to please, Dere Santy, bring me one of those cunning little Austins.

Lovingly, your little boy,
Vance.

Dear Sandy Claws,

I ain't been a good boy much lately but I'll try and do better now. Now, Sandy, if I don't never do no more bad things will you bring me some new Whiz Bangs and Police Gazettes?

Hopefully,
"Doc" Perry.

My own dere Sandy Clause:

I have been very, very good all year and haven't slapped any little children at all. Will you please see that I have a bigger team during the coming year. Last semester only seven hundred boys made the team. More, please, dere Sandy.

Your little pal,
Dean Skiles.

Dear Santa,

Please next year bring us a varsity that will offer us some competition in scrimmages.

Respectfully,
The Grey Devils.

Dear Santy,

If you will have all the societies at Tech do something besides "elect," I will have a big, big Christmas.

Regards,
Editor, The Technique.

Our own dear Santy Claus,

We are two little boys that go to Tech and study hard to make good grades. We love our dear teachers and try to be good little boys and we want you to come to see us Christmas eve. Please bring us a new crop of beautiful SYT's for us to fascinate with our charming wiles.

Your tiny friends,
Frank Martin and Jim Coleman.

Cosmopolitan Club Meets

sented at Georgia Tech, most of whom are represented in the club. The countries represented in the Cosmopolitan Club at Tech are Argentina, Brazil, Cuba, Mexico, Honduras, the Bahamas, Panama, Porto Rico, France, Nicaragua, Russia, Italy, Greece, Nova Scotia, Turkey, Albania, Trinidad, and of course the United States.

The officers for the year are:

Pres. Serafin Savina
V. Pres. Theodore Heriot
Sec. George Mahoff
Treas. Horace A. Hunnicutt.

The purpose of the Cosmopolitan Club is to develop in the world the spirit of human justice, tolerance, co-operation and brotherhood, and to desire to serve humanity unlimited by color, race, nationality, cast or creed.

Biology Lab is Scene of Battle Between Rat and Moccasin

Monday morning the peace and quiet, which customarily reigns in the Biology Lab, was rudely shattered by such boisterous and unusual cries as, "Hurrah," "Whee" and "Golly". And the occasion warranted the remarks.

It began when "Doc" Cain, of the Lab, staged a sensational fight between John, an ordinary wharf rat, and Abercrombie the latest find in Cotton-mouth Moccasins.

The small crowd which attended the melee had expected no more than a mediocre resistance from John, but were they surprised? He proved the old saying, "You never can tell, even with rats." The whole thing took place in the wire cage used for housing the Department reptiles and tardy students.

Cain introduced the participants to each other, rather rudely, by dumping the rat on Abercrombie's head. Those things do annoy, so "Ab" came to life. His calmness and deliberation at this point were remarkable. He chose the unprotected left side of John's head and for the next few minutes directed an attack as aggressive and potent as any your correspondent has ever seen, John, stunned for the while, merely squeaked and danced around in frenzied circles. It looked like that would be the end of it and at the half the crowd threw pillows for excitement.

Came the dawn. Whatever it was that the coach said to John during the rest period, had its effect. He came back with his eyes glistening and a new spring in his step. The crowd sensed the change and roared its approval. A comeback!

His attack became a thing as swift and powerful as had ever graced the now packed arena. Boring in with slashing body attacks and varied head blows he served notice that with him it was a fight to the finish. Abercrombie, taken aback, parried as best he could. The crowd went crazy! The champ was going under. Even the peanut vendors sat down. Strong men fainted. It was the climax!

The Cotton-mouth proved his right to be champ in surviving the terrific onslaught of the Wharf Kid, but such a dissipation of energy told on both. Summoning every last particle of strength, each of them put it all in one mighty charge and the end was there. John leaned on "Ab" and "Ab" leaned on John and then the whistle blew and that was all.

UNIVERSITY OF GEORGIA (Bulldogs)

Located some seventy-two miles from Atlanta is Athens, Ga., the home of the University of Georgia. It is rather hard to believe, especially this close to the Georgia game, that the University and Tech are parts of the same system, but whether we can believe it or not it is true.

The Master Architect, nature, had a big hand in making the University of Georgia's campus a beautiful one. Several places on the campus are as if they were made for the campus at the time of the Glacier. The open air theatre and the stadium are especially beautiful because of their natural locations.

We wish to thank James H. Cobb, Jr., Delta Tau Delta, 2nd associate editor of the Red and Black, Biftads (Honorary) Thalian (Dramatic) for his help in compiling this article.

The University of Georgia edits and publishes several hundred bulletins, etc., that pertain to Agriculture, etc., all are good in the fields but of little interest to the Rambling Wreck. Then too they have three college publications that are all good. The Red and Black, the weekly, the Georgia Cracker, the comic magazine, and the Pandora, the year book. With these publications before those with a journalistic frame of mind there is plenty of outlet for their thoughts.

Naturally the sport that concerns the Bulldog at the present is Football. Georgia has had a highly successful season this year with only one tie and one defeat to mar its perfect record. They tied Florida and lost to the powerful Green machine from Tulane. The wins include Yale and N. Y. U., two excellent teams, this year. As this goes to press we can hardly say that we think they will win any more games this year. 'Bama Thanksgiving and Tech December 6th we believe will prove too much for them. On paper 'Bama deserves a win and we believe that they will get it. Tech is slated for a licking, but we don't believe that paper will mean much in this game. Remember the world champions bowed to a team that was about 10 touchdowns inferior on paper. Well we shall see what we shall see and regardless Georgia has had a wonderful team this year and has played one of the hardest schedules in the conference.

The Bulldogs have one thing in common with the Notre Dame Irish and that is the fact that they have not been defeated in their own stadium and inasmuch as they do not play any more games there this year the record will last another seven or eight months at least. The well dressed Bulldog that trotted out on Sanford Field this year wore white jerseys with red numerals. However, when the Bulldog meets the Jacket on Grant Field this year the charges of Coach Harry Mehre will be clad in the conventional red that acts to enrage the jackets as it does the bull in the bull fight.

Our correspondent says that Yale is the biggest rival of Georgia this year.

We are inclined to believe that this is only the opinion of a minority. But regardless it would do the Rambling Wreck plenty of good to defeat the Bulldog, rival or no rival.

When Georgia men meet, regardless of whether it is at one of the historic places on the campus as The Old College (1801), the Academic building (1881), the Library (1889), the chapel (1882), or New College (1821), or one of the favorite gathering places, Costello's, Gus's, under the arch at the Y. M. C. A. or some of the more modern buildings, the well dressed Bulldog will be seen wearing the two buttoned jacket with matched lapels. This holds first place while the three-button peaked lapel and the two-button notched lapel vie for second place. The shoulders on most of the models are of the new roped variety. The colors are varied, however, the blues and Oxford greys seem to predominate with the browns and greys of mixtures and tweeds taking second place. The knicker and light weight sweater that was so popular last year for class room wear is giving away to long trousers and heavy sweaters. The Frosh wear the caps of red, and the underclassmen seem not to care for hats, while the dignified Junior wears bits of grey and brown, with the greys having the slight edge and the snap and rolled brims being about even. The derby of Senior also makes its advent every year not to mention the cane and sometimes spats.

And the Co-Eds—yea, lots of them. At last the mystery of why some of the girls insist that the long dress is hocus and others adopt them right away is solved by our correspondent when he says "Those Co-eds who do not have such shapely legs are taking advantage of the new long dress skirts while the others are unwilling to give up the short skirts." The predominating color among the brunettes is red while the different shades of blue are chosen by the blondes. The co-eds, says our correspondent, insist on wearing anything that they care to to classes, from Polo skirts and dar skirts to the flimsiest of Paris creations—or what have you. Seems that they rate, and at the same time don't. The Pandora selects the beautiful from their co-eds and at the same time the co-ed at Georgia is envious of the social popularity of the co-ed from Alabama. Well, such is the life.

Over in the Classic City they are not without the social life that makes the life of the college most interesting. The biggest of these being the series of spring dances, house parties, tea dances, buffet luncheons, etc. An out-of-town orchestra is generally imported to lend to the merriment of such occasions. There are dances at Homecoming, Oct. 18th, and at this time also several house parties are given. Then the fraternity club dances make the social life very varied and interesting. Then the last dance of the year, Commencement. Goodbye to the Senior class. Then, also, are house parties

V.M.I. Wins Conference
Cross Country Race
at Chapel Hill

Captain Ham Smith of V. M. I. led a field of sixty runners to win the Southern Conference cross country title at the seventh annual five-mile race at Chapel Hill last Saturday.

V. M. I. won the event with a low score of 40. V. P. I. took second honors with 56, and Florida was third with 84. North Carolina surrendered her third won title to place fourth with a score of 106. The individual honors were divided evenly between Captain Smith and his team mate, H. A. Wise. They broke the tape simultaneously, clocking off a neat 28 minutes and 3.4 seconds. The race was Smith's from the start. He took the lead at the one mile mark and held it. Mr. Wise joined his captain at the turn, and they finished side by side at a dead sprint.

Captain Miles of V. P. I. was third and Bond of V. M. I. was fourth. Clarence Jensen, a Tarheel sophomore, led his team at fifth place. Captain Baucum, defending champion, was forced back to twenty-first place by his old foot injury.

Others winning medals for finishing among the first fifteen were: Rice, Florida; White, V. P. I.; Ayres, Florida; Bennett, Georgia; Mahler, W. & L.; Fisher, V. P. I.; Gegenheimer, Georgia Tech; Carter, V. P. I.; Romm, V. M. I.; and Gladden, W. & L.

Tech entered only two runners, Asbury and Gegenheimer, and was not rated as a team. Georgia finished fifth after North Carolina, followed in order by Washington & Lee, Tennessee, and Duke.

The football players at Oklahoma A. & M. are required to carry their textbooks with them on all trips, and regular study hours are held.

Stumpy Thomason, Raleigh Drennon, Coot Watkins, and Ed Crowley, all former Tech stars, are playing together on the Buffalo professional team this year.

Coach Alex Plans
Record Breaking Trip WestMeets Rockne, Jones, and Warner in Los Angeles

A combination flying and rail trip across the continent and back has been arranged by Coach W. A. Alexander, of Georgia Tech. Coach Alex is due to meet with Knute Rockne, of Notre Dame; Pop Warner, of Stanford, and Tad Jones, former Yale coach, on Monday, December 8, at Los Angeles. He also has to be present at Chapel Hill, N. C., on December 10. On Saturday, December 6, Tech plays Georgia and, of course, Coach Alexander will be at this game.

So it seems that in a space of six days, Coach Alexander will have to be in Atlanta, Los Angeles and then Chapel Hill, N. C. So with the help of airway and railroad officials, he has his itinerary mapped out, and it will be possible for him to make connections.

This is the way he will do it. Will leave Atlanta Sunday, December 7, at 8 o'clock by airplane for Dallas, Texas. Arriving at Dallas Sunday night he will board a Pullman for Amarillo, Texas, arriving there Monday morning and he will hop another plane from there and arrive at Los Angeles Monday afternoon at 3:10 p. m. He will leave Los Angeles the morning of December 9 and by the same succession of air and mail will get to Atlanta Wednesday afternoon in time to board a rattler for Chapel Hill, N. C., to attend the southern football coaches' meeting.

Railroad officials say that this fast trip taken by Coach Alexander will mark the fastest time in history for carrying a passenger from Atlanta to Los Angeles. It is faster by several hours than the straight air trip. In the straight air trip there is an overnight stop in Dallas.

Duke Tied by Wake Forest

The Southern conference was rather quiet last week, Vanderbilt and Auburn attracting most of the attention. Auburn put up a game fight against the Commodores, but they were too plainly outclassed. In the scoreless first quarter, Auburn made a gallant try at a score which was frustrated. Early in the second period, however, Askew cut loose and ran 47 yards for the first touchdown. The final score registered 27-0.

An upset that cut a swathe through North Carolina occurred at Wake Forest last week, when Wake Forest tied the almost unbeaten Duke eleven. The Blue Devils scored in the first three plays of the game, and the Deacons made their first in the third. The first Wake Forest score was speedily followed by another, only to have it equalled by Duke in the last few minutes of play. Both teams made one point after, the game ending 13-13.

The South Carolina Gamecocks did the North Carolina Wolfpack up in grand style in the annual battle of the Carolinas 19-0. The Wolfpack was outclassed by the speedy Gamecock backs, but they averted a complete disaster by turning the game into a punting duel at every opportunity.

New York University made short work of the Rutgers eleven at New York last Saturday, and defeated them by the convincing score of 33-0. New York hit the line until they became tired of that, and then they cut the air for a while. This is a very commendable score, and gives Georgia a place in the world after all.

Notre Dame received the fright of her life in the Northwestern game, and will remember it for many a day. She was held scoreless for three quarters, but finally ran through the Northwestern team in the fourth quarter, chalking up two touchdowns.

The University of Kansas team will travel to its Philadelphia game by airplane.

Basketball Practice in Full Swing at Gym

4 Eastern Games Scheduled

Basketball was ushered into the Tech athletic regime last Monday when the jacket cagers took their first workout at the gym.

This year's squad is built around a nucleus of five able veterans who survived the cap and gown epidemic of last Spring. The team, perhaps, will suffer slightly from the loss of "Red" Williamson, "Sid" Goldin, and "Hank" Heeke, but probably enough material will develop from last year's reserves and freshmen to fill the gap.

The team is captained by "Ginny" Wages, a flashy guard with two seasons of varsity experience in his wake. "Ginny" will be ably assisted by Vance Maree, alternate captain and guard; Bill Tate, forward; "Cy" Perkins, forward; and Ted Raines, guard. Jim Brooke and Sam Colvin are expected to make a try for the basketball T.

Coach Roy Mundorff is back on the job as head mentor, and Bill Fincher will probably join the staff when the football noise has ceased. Paul Dorn is looking after the business details of the squad as senior manager.

Coach Roy has signed the Jackets for five games on their annual Christmas trip. The itinerary takes them to Birmingham, where they inaugurate hostilities in a game with Alabama, the Conference champions. From Birmingham the team treks eastward for games in New York, Philadelphia, Brooklyn, and Baltimore. The boys will leave the day after Christmas, and will return January 5 to open their series of fifteen conference games, preliminaries to the S. C. tournament which takes place in Atlanta early in March.

The schedules follow:

Christmas Trip.

Dec. 27—Alabama at Birmingham.
Dec. 29—Arundel Boat Club at Baltimore.

Dec. 30—K. of C. at Brooklyn.
Jan. 1—Manhattan College at New York.

Jan. 3—Temple at Philadelphia.

Regular Schedule.

Jan. 7—South Carolina, Atlanta.
Jan. 13—Florida at Gainesville.
Jan. 16—Vandy, Atlanta.
Jan. 20—Florida, Atlanta.
Jan. 22—Tennessee, Atlanta.
Jan. 24—Kentucky, Atlanta.
Jan. 28—Auburn at Auburn.
Jan. 31—Georgia at Athens.
Feb. 7—Vandy at Nashville.
Feb. 9—Kentucky at Lexington.
Feb. 10—Tennessee at Knoxville.
Feb. 14—Georgia, Atlanta.
Feb. 18—Alabama, Atlanta.
Feb. 21—South Carolina at Columbia.
Feb. 24—Auburn, Atlanta.

Players Participating in Charity Games May Be Ruled Ineligible

Professor N. W. Dougherty, president of the southern conference, said football players in the conference "may jeopardize their eligibility if they accept invitations to play in charity games."

He pointed out, however, that seniors who accept invitations to play "may be declared ineligible only for competition in other college sports this season."

Professor Dougherty said the rules as laid down by the conference specifically state that no college player will be allowed to play on any team other than that of his own college.

He also pointed out the rules forbid any team in the conference playing after December 8.

"I have no authority to give special permission for any player to play in charity games," Dougherty said. "I will be glad to take a poll vote of the other members of the executive committee, if anyone demands it."

Little Tornado Crushes
Baby Gators, 27-13Wink Davis, Galloway and Black Play Brilliantly
in Colorful Game

The freshman football team of Florida departed from the native haunts of Tech's raging baby Tornado with the short end of a 27-13 score, and a very healthy respect for all Yellow Jackets in general and young Yellow Jackets in particular.

The baby 'Gators displayed a fine brand of football in the first and second quarters, but the Tech frosh took control of the situation from then on and ran things to suit themselves. The Floridians lost no time in opening up. On two occasions in the first period the baby Alligators drove deep into Tech's territory, and were in scoring position, but each time the baby Jackets staged a rally and stopped the vicious plunges of the Florida freshman team. The Tech frosh halted the second scoring drive of the baby 'Gators on their two-inch line, displaying a magnificent defense that their opponents failed to penetrate. Tech punted out of danger and the Florida frosh again smashed to scoring position on the one foot line. In two attempts, the Floridians failed to gain, and the first quarter ended with the score 0-0.

The baby 'Gators made another unsuccessful attempt to smash through the Baby Tornado's forward wall, but it was impregnable. They changed their tactics on the last play, however, and managed to score on a wide end run. They also annexed the extra point and the score was Florida 7, Tech 0. The infuriated baby Jackets then opened up. Their first touchdown was the result of an uninterrupted march down the field with the swirling baby Tornado ripping the Florida frosh line to shreds. Black, fullback for the Tech freshmen, smashed the line for the initial score, and then kicked the extra point to tie the score 7 and 7. Having failed to gain after receiving the kick-off, the Florida rats proceeded to make a grave mistake. They punted to "Wink" Davis, Tech's flashing half-back, who ran through the entire Florida team for sixty yards and a touchdown. Black again kicked the extra point, and a few minutes later the half ended with the Tech freshmen leading 14-7.

Florida opened up the third quarter with another determined drive, but the baby Jackets brought it to an abrupt halt and started a scoring drive of their own. Late in the quarter, Good-year, Florida's right end, recovered Galloway's fumble before it was grounded, and raced fifty-five yards for Florida's final score. The fast charging forward wall of the baby Tornado blocked the attempted kick for extra point. From then on the Baby Jackets were in complete control. Black, Galloway and Davis smashed the Florida line to pieces, and pushed over two more touchdowns in the final period. Black broke loose for twenty-five yards on one occasion, and Davis reeled off fifteen more at another time. Each of these brilliant runs placed the oval in scoring position, and Black rammed the 'Gators' forward wall for the two successive scores. Lackey, Tech's stellar left end, played a wonderful game both on offense and defense. On an end around end play, he broke loose on two occasions for considerable gains.

Florida took to the air in an attempt to score, and their aerial attack was very effective, but not sufficiently effective to repulse the vicious drive of the baby Jackets. Florida passed twenty-three times, completing eleven of them for a gain of 101 yards, an average gain of about 9 yards per pass.

Fencing Team Practicing at Tech Y.M.C.A.

The fencing squad is meeting regularly now in training for its coming bouts. Coaches Wimberly and Moremus seem very optimistic about the team's prospects this year. With six men back from last year's squad and a promising array of freshmen, they have reason to pin their hopes high. The gallant chevaliers hope to defeat during the coming season the swordsmen of North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Charleston College.

Fencing is a comparatively new sport at Tech and has not yet acquired the prestige and popularity that are its due. It used to be the sport of Kings and Princes, and, with dancing, was considered a part of the education of every polished gentleman. There is a nerve and fire written in the flickering blades that holds a man. It is no mere matching of skill; it is a sport! As well part Isaak Walton from his angling, or Bobby Jones from his golf, as part a skillful fencer from his foils. The strength, skill and speed of a fencer are a joy to watch. Ease and grace flow through every movement. "—thrust and parry—thrust and parry—a lightning-like lunge and an equally swift recovery." It's a great sport.

Stanford University is planning to build a stadium that will seat 184,000 spectators.

NOTES OF SPORTDOM

Paul Hug and Fritz Brandt, Tennessee all Southern ends in 1929, made their first appearance in the Vols' lineup against Vandy Thanksgiving since the beginning of the season. Both players received injuries in fall practice which kept them on the sidelines until the Thanksgiving game.

Although Notre Dame's football team is known as the "Irish Ramblers," Captain Tom Conley is the only Irish boy on the first string varsity.

"Stumpy" Thomason, the pride of Ga. Tech and Atlanta, has been chosen

Frosh Defeat Florida

Eleven were incomplete and two were intercepted which speaks rather well for Florida's passing attack. Tech passed only 4 times. Two were intercepted and two were incomplete. Both teams punted five times. Florida gained about 190 yards, an average of about 39 yards a kick. Tech's total gain was 170 yards, an average of about 34 yards a kick. Only six penalties were inflicted during the entire game. Tech received four penalties, Florida received two. Tech gained 241 yards from scrimmage, Florida gained 134. Tech made 15 first downs, Florida made 14, all of which goes to show that the two frosh elevens provided an extremely interesting clash with the swirling baby Tornado bringing the contest to a whirlwind conclusion.

The record of Tech's freshman team is four games won, none lost, none tied. Their final opponents are the Georgia rats and prospects certainly look bright for the smashing baby Tornado from Georgia Tech.

Jacket Tankmen Start Practice December 1

December First is the time set for the Jacket tankmen to begin training to defend their title as last year's Southern Conference champions.

Graduation deprived the team of three valuable men last year, namely; C. Y. House, who swam the breast stroke and was last year's captain; Pancoast, who swam the dashes, and Little Frankie Maier, who is at present at Pennsylvania, was the fancy diving fish, and his services will be sorely missed.

Under the leadership of Fleming Cooper, the prospects for this year's team look exceptionally bright. With Al Kennickel, Ed Fain, Bill Wise, Ed Patton and John Ingle, and last year's sophomore flashes, aided by "Ish" Williams, Charlie Wagner and Harry Stover, who were last year's freshmen stars, the team should have little trouble in retaining last year's crown.

Wagner and Williams, when in form, are probably the best in the conference in their respective races. Wagner swims the 100 yard back stroke, while Williams swims the 220 yard free style in record time. Stover, who did the fancy diving for the frosh, should do himself credit in this year's meets.

The schedule and dates are not yet obtainable, but it is very probable that most of last year's opponents will be retained.

to coach the all-star senior team from the South which will meet an all-star senior team from the East in a charity game to be sponsored by the Knights of Columbus of N. Y. The game will be played one day during Christmas week.

Captain Herb Maffett and Jack Roberts the University of Georgia's star end and fullback, have been invited to play in an all-star charity game Christmas Day in Los Angeles.

Maffett is free to play if he sees fit, but Roberts, under the Conference ruling, is ineligible, as he has another year to play at Georgia.

Tickets for the Notre Dame-Northwestern game were as scarce as Mosquitoes in a Flit factory. It is said to be a known fact that one enthusiastic fan paid the price of $350 for 4 seats. Single seats brought anywhere from $25 to $75.

Many years ago, when Tech defeated Cumberland 220 to nothing, one of the Cumberland ends is said to have grown so tired of being cut down when a play came around his end, that on one play directed around his flank he fell in with the Tech interference and led them and the ball carrier across his own goal line.

Cal-Tech Sends Student Envoys to Europe

Three students of California Institute of Technology have been selected to tour European and American universities to study the housing and social organizations being developed and to report their findings to the student-faculty committee working on the new under-graduate housing plan.

The planning committee desires to incorporate into their scheme the most progressive and successful features being used in community student life here and abroad. The first unit of the plan will be completed next fall, and more than half of the under-graduate students will then be living on this campus. "This is expected to revolutionize the social life of Cal-Tech students," writes Howard Nagashi, N. S. F. A. chairman.

The three men chosen to travel are: Robert Lehman, Philip Schoeller, and Walter Scholtz, all members of the N. S. F. A. committee at Cal-Tech. They will arrive in New York City on November 18th, and will sail directly for Europe.—N. S. F. A. News.

SPORT GLANCES

Notre Dame's Ramblin' Irishmen (there's only one Irish lad on the team) had a pretty close call last week end in the game with the Northwestern Wildcats. It was the second time that the South Bender's have been pushed this season, the other time behind in the first game of the season with Southern Methodist. Somebody said something about Rockne pulling a little strategy in holding his offense back for three quarters and then turning the boys loose in the last period, you know, saving the big push for Army and Southern California.

This was certainly master strategy on the part of the good brother who diagnosed Rockne's plan. Any time that an Irish team with Carideo, Schwartz, Brill and Mullins in the backfield fails to score for three and a half periods, it's not strategy at all but power; yes sir, power, and on the part of the opposing line.

Coach Roy Mundorff will start his basketballers to work this week and we certainly hope that the cagers will do something to start Tech back toward the top in athletics. Not since January 1, 1929, has a Tech team, except the swimming team, even been close to anything even looking like a championship.

Coach Mundorff has four or five veterans returning and he should turn out a winning aggregation. There's Captain Ginny Wages, Bill Tate, Vance Maree, Ted Raines, Bill Perkins, Hugh Gooding, and Roy McArthur, and all of them are good basketball players.

It would certainly help to bring things around the flats out of the dumps if the boys could come through.

The opening of the new Varsity Bowling Alleys are quite an addition to Techtown. A good bowling alley has been needed around the flats for quite a while. Bowling is a clean and healthy sport and it's mighty good exercise for some of the fellows who haven't enough time to go in for school athletics.

Just a little idea to the varsity, why not organize an interfraternity bowling league? It would help business and then it would give some of the boys a chance to add a new cup to the old mantel.

Mercer sort of pulled a "slicker" on Oglethorpe last week. Everyone had conceded the Petrels at least a two-touchdown victory. However, the Bears, led by little Pinky Walden, completely surprised everybody. Instead of taking it on the chin as everyone had expected, they rolled the conquerors of Loyola and Furman all over the field, and it was the terrific charging of the Mercer line that led to the blocking of the Petrel punt which gave the Bears the two-point margin of their victory.

By the time that this gets to the reader, either Georgia or Alabama will be pretty sure of an invitation to meet Washington State in the Rose Bowl. But wouldn't it be just too bad if the Bulldogs won from Bama only to go down in defeat at the hands of the Yellow Jackets on December 6.

Impossible, you might say, but let us turn back the pages of our memory book. Remember one cold and rainy December day back in 1927. It had been raining all week and Friday night the Tech freshmen were pouring still more water on the field. By the next day they had the field wet enough to drown Pharaoh's army, let alone Georgia's thousand backs.

About one-thirty o'clock the team that had run over everybody in their path, including the Yale eleven which was led by the famous Bruce Caldwell, came prancing out on the field. About that time the Georgia rooters put up a big sign, "Georgia 14—Yale 10."

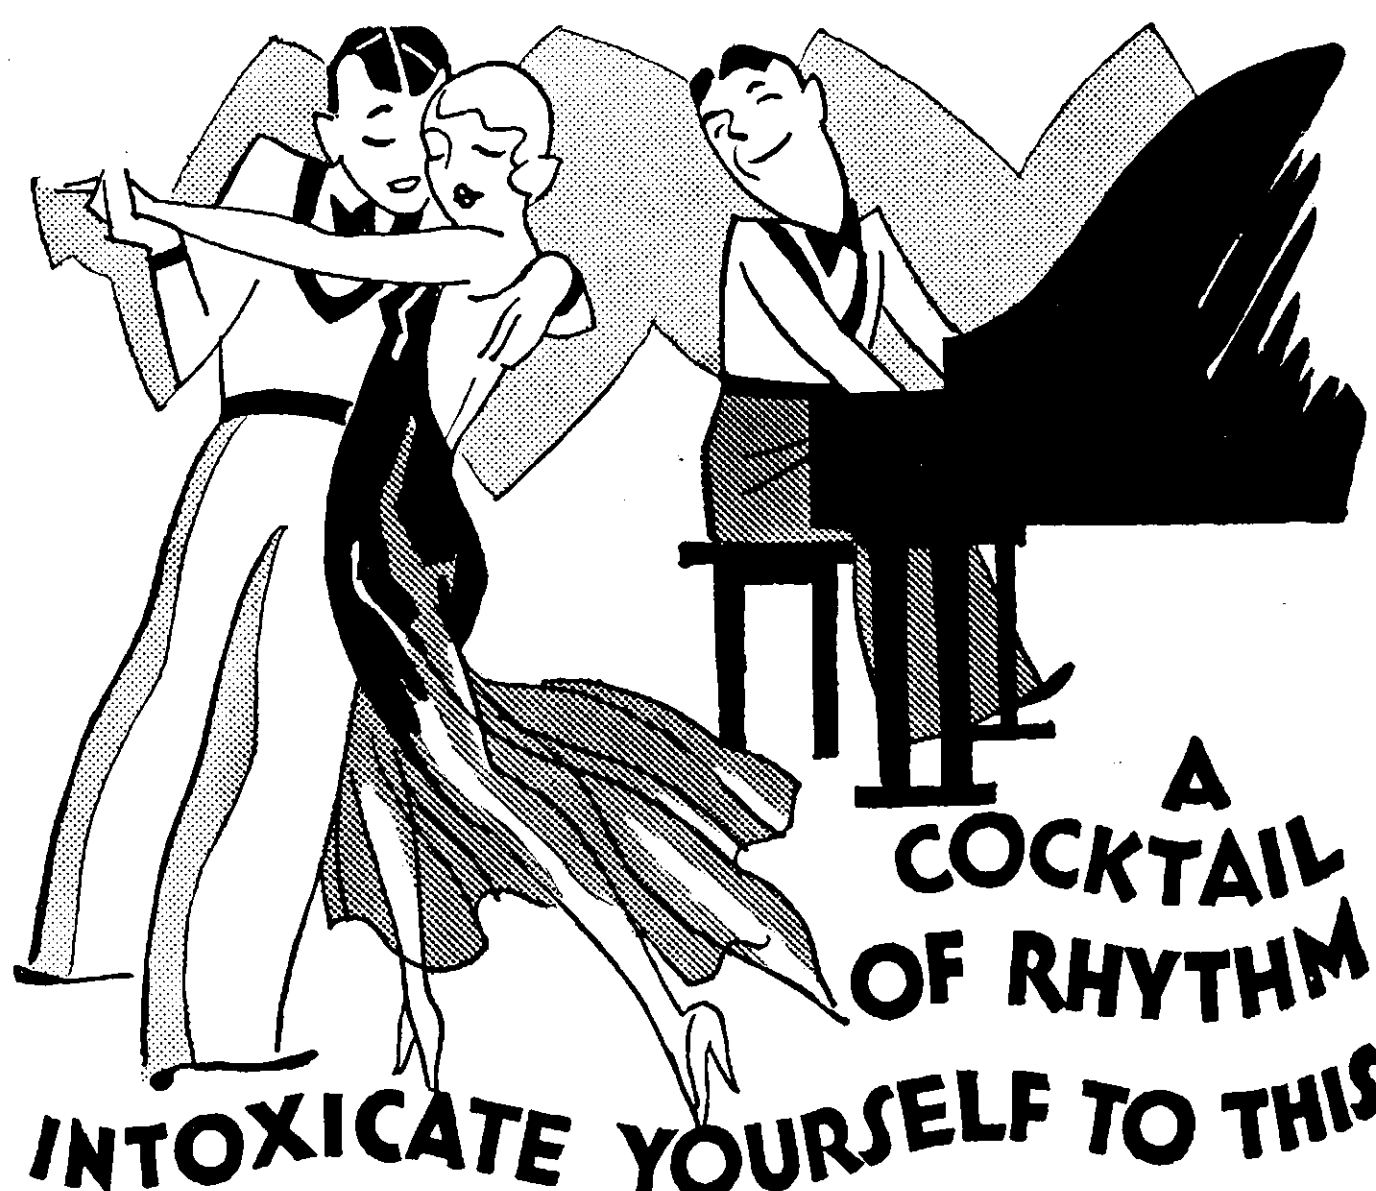

The Tech rooters didn't have much to brag about, right then at least. But when Durant heaved that pass to Mizell which accounted for the Engineers' first touchdown, well, they just went wild, and when Stumpy, God bless his heart, went over for the second six points for a 13-0 victory for Tech, people just couldn't believe their eyes.

It happened, though, and it may happen again, so watch out.

Ohio State uses over four thousand yards of bandage and about the same amount of adhesive tape yearly in dressing their injured athletes.

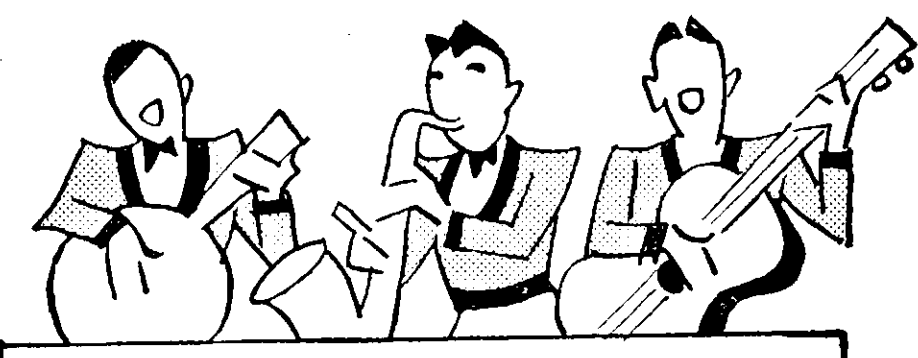

The cuckoo clock is 200 years old this year. The anniversary is being celebrated in Germany, the home of the cuckoo clocks.

Frat House Burglar Caught Red Handed By Pi K. A.'s

The stock of all would-be fraternity house burglars took a decided fall recently with the apprehension, red-handed, one of the slippery gentry in the act of pilfering the possessions of the boys who make their home at the Pi Kappa Alpha house at 26 North Ave. The marauder, one Fred Griffin, a negro, had found it profitable previously to rob the Pi K. A. house, and the boys thereupon set up a watch every night, in hope of catching the thief. On this particular night, or morning, Ed Lively and Vic Bercegeay were on guard, armed with a revolver and shotgun. It was at 4:30 A. M. The milkman had come. The guards had about decided to give up for the night, when one of them noticed a man near the back door in the act of removing his shoes; then he entered silently, and stole upstairs, oblivious of the grim pair below that were destined to end his midnight prowling for a long time to come. One of the boys posted himself at the light switch; the other manned the shotgun; then they waited. Before long, the negro crept down the stairs, showing assiduous care in avoiding squeaks; but almost at the bottom, with his loot, the light flashed on, and he found himself looking down the barrel of a shotgun in the hands of Vic Bercegeay, with an abrupt order to "stick 'em up." He surrendered, but sullenly refused to talk. An ex-convict, he was no novice, but his silence refused to save him in court, and he was given a long stretch to serve in addition to his remaining 13 years, which he had temporarily evaded by his escape from the chain-gang. Among the stolen articles found in his possession, were pins, watches, jewelry and clothing belonging to other fraternities as well as Pi K. A.

New Yellow Jacket Appears on Campus Is Football Number

The second issue of the Yellow Jacket has appeared on the campus and favorable comment has been heard from all sides.

The issue is an attractive football number and is devoted largely to the various phases of football. There is an interesting article on "Georgia Tech in Football" written by Ed Danforth, the sports editor of the Atlanta Constitution. This article gives the history of football at Georgia Tech up to the present time with a table of won, tied and lost games which is quite impressive.

The present issue has four more pages than the previous one. The college comic contains many more features than did the first. Many new and original jokes and poems are contained that are of great interest.

One of the outstanding features is the page devoted to Tom Jones, Coach Alex, and Vance Maree. There is a sketch of each with a very apt short poem under them.

The Yellow Jacket shows quite an improvement over the first issue and is the result of much labor on the part of the staff.

Rifle Matches Continue

Weather Causes Delay

Due to the continuation of the bad weather the Rifle teams have been held up in the shooting of their matches. However, the members of the various teams have done some little shooting on the days that permitted it, but the matches are far from being complete.

The Coast Artillery team is still holding the lead by a small margin over the other teams, with the Infantry team drawing up to a close second. The Signal Corps team cannot finish their shooting until the Sophomore Co-op members return which will be some time during the end of the month. The Navy team has been held back because of various reasons, and they expect to fire the rest of their scores off during the week of November 23. The Coast Artillery and Infantry teams, which have nearly completed their matches, will have their final scores in by Monday evening, November 24, if the weather permits.

Scholarships and Prizes are Given Students at Evening School Dance

Fae Allen is Best Student

Award of scholarships and prizes featured the annual banquet and dance of the Georgia Tech Evening School of Commerce Friday evening at the Tech dining hall. About 350 evening students, instructors and friends attended the function.

Miss Fae Allen was awarded the Stone Baking Company scholarship, a recognition of the best all-around student in the school. Miss Allen also received the Phi Chi Theta national key award, offered for the outstanding woman student in the Evening School of Commerce.

The Retail Credit Company scholarship was won by Miss Catherine Martin. It provides tuition and books for one year.

Norman Pettys, a graduate in the commerce course, won the Delta Sigma Phi scholarship key, offered the student in commerce making the highest scholastic record for the entire course.

The cup offered by the Venetian Society to an outstanding student leader was presented to Bernard Suttler. J. W. Zuber, Jr., won the key of Alpha Kappa Psi Commercial Fraternity.

Bobby to Welcome College and School Delegates to Meet

Four hundred delegates are expected to attend the annual convention of the Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools of the Southern States, here December 1-5. William John Cooper, United States commissioner of education; Dean Gordon J. Laing, of the University of Chicago, and other national leaders will speak.

Robert Tyre Jones, Jr., will give the address of welcome at the opening meeting, and Chancellor J. H. Kirkland, of Vanderbilt University, president emeritus of the association, will make the response. Dr. Willis A. Sutton will address the meeting. At the annual banquet, Dr. M. L. Brittain, president of Tech, will be the only speaker.

Officers of the association are Dean Harry D. Campbell, Washington and Lee, president; J. A. Stoddard, University of South Carolina, vice president; M. E. Ligon, University of Kentucky, vice president, and Guy E. Snively, Birmingham-Southern, secretary-treasurer.

Tech Professors Make Sets for Studio Club Presentation

Sets to be used in the production of Philip Barry's "In a Garden," three-act comedy to be staged Monday in the auditorium of the Atlanta Woman's Club by the Little Theater of the Studio Club, represent the latest departures in the art of stage design. They were made by Dean W. Axline, who is the critic of advanced design at Tech, and Matt Jorgensen, formerly a member of the production staff of the Greek Open-Air Theater of the University of California.

have already been selected from the last year's team and also those who have proved themselves expert shots. The rest of the Varsity team will come from the high point men of the different Battalion teams. The list of the men on the Varsity team is unavailable at the present time, but it will be published some time in the near future. Judging by some of the scores turned in by the riflemen, this is certainly going to be an "it" year for the Georgia Tech Varsity Rifle team.

Woman's Clubs of Tech and Emory Will Be Joint Hostesses

Plans have been completed for the tea at which the members of the Tech Woman's Club, and the Emory Woman's Club will be joint hostesses in compliment to the wives of the delegates to the Southern College Association, who will arrive on December 1, and will be in Atlanta for the first week in December.

The tea will take place at the Atlanta Biltmore Hotel, and there will be several hundred guests.

Receiving will be Mrs. H. W. Cox, wife of the president of Emory University; Mrs. M. L. Brittain, wife of the president of Georgia Tech; Mrs. H. D. Campbell, wife of the president of the Southern College Association; Mrs. E. H. Reese, president of the Tech Woman's Club; Miss Jessie Muse, principal of the Girls' High School.

Mrs. Vernon Skiles, Mrs. H. H. Caldwell, and Mrs. Theodore M. Jack will preside at the coffee tables.

A musical program will feature the afternoon. Many other parties are being planned to honor these prominent visitors who will be in Atlanta during the entire week.

Boifeuillet Addresses Phi Kappa Phi Chapter

bership are honor students of the senior class and their membership was based on scholarship, integrity and interest in the affairs of human endeavor.

The Phi Kappa Phi fraternity was established at the University of Maine in 1897, and in 1912 the chapter at Georgia Tech was installed. There are at present 48 chapters in the United States with the Tech chapter twelfth to be founded. The officers of the local chapter are H. W. Mason, president; D. L. Stamy, vice president; R. M. Matson, corresponding secretary; A. B. Morton, marshal; and T. W. Noel, orator.

copated harmony. It looked for a long time as if they would be just another of those orchestras, but after many trips to neighboring sister cities of the Empire State of the South (?) they have developed into real musicians. Why, we remember when they couldn't even—well, anyway, we're for 'em as were most of those who were in a physical condition to listen to them.

TURKEY HASH! UGH!!

The Freshmen must have forgotten the custom of wearing those cute little yellow caps after the Georgia game from the looks of the bare heads of a lot of them. Wonder where the VIGILANCE COMMITTEE is?

We were wrong about the $15. It seems that it is now to be an advancement and not an assessment. We would still like to know where all of last year's money went. Where is our straying council tonight?

Speaking of honor systems, a $10 bill was found on the campus at Washington and Lee, and posted on the bulletin board. Finally the owner saw it. He then communicated with the finder and identified the bill before taking it back.

FOX

"The Big Trail"

This is a Fox Movietone that pays high tribute to the brave, hardy settlers of the west who moved over the Oregon Trail nearly a century ago. The picture has a cast of 20,000, and was filmed in seven states. The principal characters are John Wayne, Marguerite Churchill, Tully Marshall and El Brendel.

There is a new Fanchon & Marco Idea with Mel Ruick and his musicians.

PARAMOUNT "Hell's Angels"

This four million dollar air spectacle, directed by a man only 22 years of age, Howard Hughes, was four years in the making. Ben Lyon and James Hall are the principals in this picture, one of the most important of the year. Also Paramount Featurette, "Red, Green, and Yellow"; comedy, "Apache Kid."

CAPITAL

"See America Thirst"

A comedy with animated laughs for wets and dries. Starring: Slim Summerville, Harry Langdon, Bessie Love. Also Universal News, Comedy, and Cartoon. The Capital inaugurates a new policy of starting its program each week on Thursday instead of Friday. This policy will continue until the first of the year.

GEORGIA

"The Girl of the Golden West"

Ann Harding, James Rennie, and

Harry Bannister fill you with thrilling adventure of the open sea.

Also four acts of Keith's vaudeville.

RIALTO

"Leathernecker"

An extremely unusual musical comedy in this Technicolor picture with Ned Sparks and Louise Fazenda.

New York critics gave this picture a very good send-off at its premier two weeks ago; this is the first time it will be shown in the south.

GRAND

Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday

"A Lady's Morals"

This is the first time this show has been shown in Atlanta.

Thursday, Friday, Saturday

"Way Out West"

With William Haines and Lella Hyams. It is a rollicking comedy of the west.

Beau Brummels

and an imported orchestra to add to the merriment and fun making.

The Cavalry Unit affords horses for riding that seems to be somewhat a diversion. The horses get a treat (?) later on in the year when there are riding classes for the co-eds.

Luckies are the favorite fags of the Deltas as well as the entire campus. Dunhill gets one on the jaw and the pipe is biting the dust that was so popular at one time, especially among the two upper classes.

Next week—University of Texas.
