2009 SPRING OUTLOOK

Anchored by a pair of All-Americans in Cameron Tringale and Chesson Hadley, Georgia Tech's golf team enters the 2009 spring with as much depth as it has enjoyed in several years.

The Yellow Jackets return eight of nine players from last year's team, and all five members of its travel squad that played in last year's Atlantic Coast Conference Championship and NCAA Central Regional. The Yellow Jackets were ranked No. 10 following the fall season by Golfweek magazine, finishing strong with a second-place showing at the Brickyard Collegiate and a tie for sixth at the Isleworth-UCF Collegiate.

Goal No. 1 for the Yellow Jackets is to get back to the NCAA finals this spring after missing out last year for the first time in 11 years. The championship structure has changed this year to include six regional tournaments, from which five teams each will advance to the NCAA Championship. The Championship event will be composed of 54 holes of stroke play, after which the top eight teams will compete in a match play tournament to decide the national title.

Head coach Bruce Heppler welcomes back a pair of All-Americans in senior Cameron Tringale and junior Chesson Hadley, along with an experienced squad that includes three other seniors and a pair of sophomores who played in a total of 14 events last year.

Hadley, a junior from Raleigh, N.C., had a breakthrough year in 2008-09 in which he led the Jackets and the Atlantic Coast Conference in scoring average (71.09) and top 10 finishes (5). That earned him first-team All-America honors from Golfweek magazine and a second-team nod from the Golf Coaches Association of America, as well as a spot on the All-ACC team.

Tringale posted four top-10 finishes and a 72.22 stroke average last year, then enjoyed his best fall as a Yellow Jacket this year by finishing in the top 10 three times and the top 20 once. A three-time All-American, Tringale averaged 71.50 strokes in 12 rounds and captured his third career victory at the Brickyard Collegiate.

"I think Cameron realizes that this is it," said Heppler. "And I don't think he liked being left off those All-American teams last year. He seems to have arrived with maybe a little more purpose than normal. Chesson is learning how to deal with expectations. That's going to be a real growth thing and a real factor in whether he plays well or not because now, there are expectations, so there are some things he's got to learn to deal with. But he had a pretty good summer and shot some really good numbers."

Heppler looks for those two to contend each week while he looks for the competition of team qualifying to help produce competitive performances from the other three spots in the lineup.

Seniors Taylor Hall and David Dragoo played the third and fourth spots at the end of the spring, both logging impressive performances at the ACC Championship, but falling short in the NCAA regional. Hall, from LaGrange, Ga., played great golf at times, but often had trouble putting together three good rounds the same weekend. Still he finished third on the team with a 73.54 stroke average and posted three top-20 finishes, including a fifth-place showing at the ACC Championship. Dragoo, from Scottsdale, Ariz., tied for 13th at the ACC Championship and averaged 74.79 strokes for the year over 29 rounds, and this fall tied for seventh at the Carpet Capital collegiate while posting a 74.00 stroke average in 12 rounds.

"Getting the last three spots consistent was problematic in the fall, and really before the year was over, it got turned around," said Heppler. "I'm very pleased. In the ACC Tournament, Taylor Hall finished fifth and David Dragoo finished 13th and you would have said to yourself, 'Boy! How many might we win by?' And even at regionals, some of the scores those guys shot, it got to be between Taylor and J.T. and David that there were two pretty decent scores every day. And, unfortunately, we struggled on the other end a bit in the spring."

Also vying for spots are senior Adam Cohan (Wayne, Pa.), a pair of sophomores in John-Tyler Griffin (Wilson, N.C.) and Paul Haley (Dallas, Texas) and red-shirt freshman William Miller (Venetia, Pa.).

Haley and Griffin each played in seven tournaments last year as red-shirt freshmen, Haley grabbing a spot in the lineup during the fall before giving way to Griffin in the spring. Haley posted one top-20 finish at the Yale Spring Opener, an individual event, and averaged 75.10 strokes in 20 rounds. Griffin, whose highest finish was a tie for 33rd at the United States Collegiate Championship, tied for third at the Brickyard Collegiate and made the travel team for every tournament this fall while averaging 74.42 strokes in 12 rounds.

Added to the mix are two incoming freshmen in James White and Minghao Wang, both of whom ranked in the top 50 among the nation's junior players, giving the Jackets much greater depth and competition for spots in the travel squad each week.

"I think they'll push these guys," said Heppler. "They seem to be very focused, very driven, quite mature, I think. Whether they get their spots or not, or just push for them, I think they'll make a difference from that standpoint."

All three played in the fall, with Wang having the most success after tying for 20th at the Isleworth-UCF Collegiate. White tied for 28th at the Brickyard Collegiate for his best finish in two tries.

The biggest issue for Heppler will be getting his team to finish tournaments strong and put poor stretches of play behind them, both of which were problems at times last year.

"I really believe that from me on down, we need to get back to being really hard to discourage," said Heppler. "I've thought about that regional over and over again, and quite frankly, it came down to nine holes. The other 45 holes that we played, we were competitive with the people that won the tournament. We were only 7-over at the turn, which was fine treading water, but then we just gave in. We backed away from the challenge."

Entering his 14th year at Tech, Heppler believes he has the depth to create competition in team qualifying, which in turn will produce better results on the course in tournaments.

"The goal every week is to make sure that no one gets to go unless they are playing well," said Heppler. "Not very often do you play poorly in a qualifier and then go to a tournament and things just turn around. With those other eight guys returning another year older, hopefully a little better, and with two guys that have shown that they can play very well, you hope every week that when you leave for a tournament that the five that get to go are playing well. That would be the benefit of the depth."

Three-time All-American Cameron Tringale (left) enjoyed his best fall with a victory and two other top-10 finishes for the Yellow Jackets. Chesson Hadley is coming off a breakout sophomore year in which he was a first-team All-American and had five top-10 finishes.

BRUCE HEPPLER

Head Coach ~ 14th year at Tech ~ Five ACC Championships

If a consistently high level of success over a long period of time is the measure of a great program, then Georgia Tech's golf program under Bruce Heppler would certainly meet the standard. One of the top coaches in collegiate golf, Heppler has guided the Yellow Jackets to six top-five NCAA finishes in the last 11 years, including three runner-up finishes.

His Jackets have played in the NCAA Tournament 11 consecutive years and advanced to the finals in 10 of those years. During his tenure, Tech has won five Atlantic Coast Conference titles, including a share of the 2006 and 2007 crowns most recently, and finished second in the conference championship on three other occasions. The Yellow Jackets have captured or shared 28 team titles overall. All these accomplishments, and more, have factored into Tech's golf program being judged the best in the nation in the September, 2005, issue of Golf Digest magazine, and No. 2 in the 2006 edition.

Heppler has recruited and developed his share of star players as well. The Yellow Jackets have had at least a pair of All-Atlantic Coast Conference honorees for 11 consecutive years, including last year when Cameron Tringale and Chesson Hadley made the team. For 10 straight years, Tech has had at least two players earn All-America honors, including Roberto Castro, Cameron Tringale and Chesson Hadley in 2007. Three of his players, Matt Kuchar, Bryce Molder and Troy Matteson, have been named national players of the year.

Seven of his Tech players are members of the PGA Tour, including Matt Kuchar, Troy Matteson, Bryce Molder, Nicholas Thompson and Matt Weibring. Three others, including Roberto Castro, Kevin Larsen and Chan Song, are also playing professionally either in the United States or abroad.

During the summer of 2003, Heppler served as the head coach of the United States' Palmer Cup team, which faced off with a team of European collegiate players in Kiawah Island, S.C. Kuchar, Molder, Castro and Hadley have all played for the USA in Palmer Cup competition.

On the conference level since 1985, when the Yellow Jackets won their first ACC Championship, Tech has earned more NCAA Championship berths than any team except Clemson. The Jackets have earned more top-10, more top-5 and more top-2 finishes in NCAA Championship competition than any other ACC team. Tech also has had more All-America selections (53) than any other ACC team during the same period except the Tigers.

Nationally, only Arizona State, Florida and Oklahoma State have had greater success in NCAA Championship competition and in All-America selections over the same period of time. Since 1997, however, when Heppler got the Tech program back on its feet, the Yellow Jackets have fared better head-to-head against all those teams in the NCAA Championship (7-3 vs. Arizona State, 6-4 vs. Oklahoma State, 6-4 vs. Florida).

It didn't take long for Heppler to restore the glory to Tech's golf program following a couple of lean years in the mid-1990s. After recruiting future All-Americans Matt Kuchar and Bryce Molder, Heppler had the Yellow Jackets back in the NCAA Tournament in his third season, where they finished third, just four shots off the lead. Tech also was ranked No. 1 in the nation during the course of the year and won the NCAA East Regional.

Even better things were to come as Tech captured the first of its five ACC titles under Heppler in 1999. In 2000 the Yellow Jackets came the closest to an NCAA Championship in their history, tying for first after 72 holes with Oklahoma State before losing a one-hole playoff. On the year, Tech captured four team titles and finished in the top four in each event it entered.

During the 2001 campaign, the Jackets won their second ACC crown in three years, the second under Heppler, captured a school-record-tying five tournament wins during the year and finished fourth in the NCAA Championship. For his efforts, Heppler was named ACC Coach of the Year for the second time in his career, and guided three All-Americans in Bryce Molder, who was also the consensus National Player of the Year, Troy Matteson and Kris Mikkelsen.

In 2002, Heppler led the Yellow Jackets to arguably the best season in school history, as Tech captured seven team titles and finished second at the NCAA Championship. In the process, Heppler earned National and ACC Coach of the Year honors. During the year, the Jackets won the school's eighth ACC title, while placing all five starters on GCAA All-America teams. Under Heppler's tutelage, junior Troy Matteson became the third Tech player to win the national individual title, the first player to win the event in its current team format.

A 48-year-old native of St. George, Utah, Heppler has demonstrated his strength as a recruiter by attracting both National Players of the Year during 1997-98 and the ACC Players of the Year for 1998, 1999, 2000 and 2001. His first recruit at Tech was Kuchar, who won the 1997 U.S. Amateur Championship, was named the ACC Player of the Year and the Fred Haskins National Player of the Year in 1998. Molder was the Jack Nicklaus Player of the Year in 1998 and in 2001, along with being named the ACC Player of the Year in 1999, 2000 and 2001.

Heppler, a dean's list student at Brigham Young, earned his bachelor's degree in accounting from BYU in 1985, and later received his master's degree in sport management from Massachusetts in 1988. He played golf for one year at Dixie Junior College in St. George before transferring to Brigham Young.

He became a certified public accountant in 1985 and spent one year in the firm of Huber and Associates in Salt Lake City, then began his collegiate coaching career in 1987 as the men and women's golf coach at Amherst. He then spent two years as an administrative assistant at UNLV, becoming the assistant men's golf coach at UNLV in 1989. He spent two years in that role before moving to Oklahoma State in 1991.

"Georgia Tech is a great fit for me," said Heppler. "This is one of the five or six best programs right now if you look around at college golf's successful teams since the '90s. We have a lot of alumni on the PGA Tour, which is great for the school. Young people can see they have a chance to be player of the year or win a national championship here. It's a great school academically, which is a real draw with the general pool of talent out there interested in playing college golf."

Heppler is married to the former Traci Schull of Southbury, Conn., and they have a son, Zakary, and a daughter, Moriah. Heppler is actively involved with Atlanta Alliance for Children and is a member of the Golf Coaches Association of America.

CHRISTIAN NEWTON

Assistant Coach ~ 2nd year at Tech

Formerly an assistant coach at Alabama and Georgia Southern, Christian Newton joined the Georgia Tech staff as assistant golf coach on August 1, 2007, and is now in his second year with the Yellow Jackets.

Newton, 29, is involved not only in coaching and the strength and conditioning programs for Tech's players, but also assists Heppler in recruiting and coordinates the Yellow Jackets' golf booster club and fund-raising efforts.

"He helped build Alabama's program into one of the nation's best," said Heppler. "He is involved in recruiting and all the other aspects of our program. I feel fortunate to have somebody with as much experience as he has."

Newton, who worked at Alabama for two years (2005-07), helped coach the Crimson Tide to a sixth-place finish at the 2007 NCAA Championship and was involved in all facets of the Crimson Tide program. He helped revamp the golf booster program and golf camp while assisting in the development of all-Southeastern Conference players Michael Thompson, Gator Todd and Matthew Swan.

A native of Lyons, Ga., Newton was an assistant coach at his alma mater, Georgia Southern, from 2003-2005, helping the Eagles to a tie for 13th at the 2005 NCAA Championship. He also assisted in coaching two All-Americans, Aron Price and David Palm, the Eagles' first All-Americans since the 1989-90 season.

Newton has worked as a golf shop assistant at Southern Links Golf Club in Statesboro and as assistant ticket manager for the AT&T Classic/Atlanta Classic Foundation, and competed on the Developmental Professional Golf Tour in 2002.

Newton earned a bachelor's degree in sports management from Georgia Southern in 2002, and completed his master's in sports management there in 2004. He played golf four years (1997-2001) for the Eagles, earned all-Southern Conference honors in 2001 and also played in the NCAA Championship that spring.

CHESSON HADLEY

Junior ~ 6-3 ~ 153 ~ Raleigh, N.C. ~ North Raleigh Christian Academy

Lanky player who hits it long off the tee ... Came out of nowhere to post a strong spring resume after not playing a single fall event as a freshman, and finished his sophomore campaign as the 9th-ranked collegiate player ... Has earned All-America recognition each year at Tech ... Has eight top-10 finishes and one victory in 22 events and a stroke average of 72.18 in 67 career rounds ... Stood at No. 40 at the end of the summer in the Golfweek/Scratch Players World Amateur rankings.

Fall 2008: Failed to qualify for the travel team to the Carpet Capital Collegiate, and struggled for most of the fall ... Posted a tie for 17th at the PING/Golfweek Preview, and finished on a high note with a tie for 16th at the Western Refining College All-America Classic.

2007-08: First-team All-American by Golfweek magazine, second-team by the Golf Coaches Association of America ... Made the All-Atlantic Coast Conference team ... Named to the United States team for the 2008 Palmer Cup Matches, in Glasgow, Scotland, where he earned two points for the U.S. ... A semifinalist for the Ben Hogan Award, and was on the watch list for the Jack Nicklaus Award ... Tech's top player, led the ACC in stroke average (71.09) with five top-10 finishes and 10 in the top 20 ... Won the Carpet Capital Collegiate to begin the fall and extended his streak of top-10 finishes in team events to eight tournaments before finishing 12th at the Southern Highlands Collegiate in the spring ... Spent time ranked as the No. 1 player in the nation by Golfweek/Sagarin, finished at No. 9 (No. 8 in the Golfstat Cup) ... Compiled a 595-97-16 head-to-head record against the nation's 10th-toughest opposition according to the Sagarin ratings ... A perfect 29-for-29 in rounds counted for the team ... Had 21 rounds of par or better out of 32, and was Tech's only player under par collectively for the year (minus-23) ... Paced Tech in the NCAA Central Regional (T-12), and did so five times in nine team, stroke-play events.

2006-07: Honorable mention All-America choice following his tie for fourth at the NCAA Championship, four shots out of the lead ... Developed into a solid No. 3 player in Tech's lineup in spring ... Top 10 finishes in his last three starts (9th at ACC Championship, 7th at NCAA East Regional, T-4 at the NCAA Championship) ... Finished No. 51 in the final Golfweek/Sagarin rankings following his remarkable performance in the three post-season events ... Appeared in every spring tournament, averaging 72.09 strokes over 23 rounds, 12 at par or better, five in the 60s ... Made his collegiate debut at the UH-Hilo Invitational, tying for 18th place with a 5-under-par score of 205.

ACC Championship experience: Two top-20 finishes, including a T-9 in his first ACC Championship as a freshman (3-under 213) ... Averaged 71.17 over six rounds (5-under-par).

NCAA Championship experience: 72.66 stroke average in six regional rounds ... T-4th at 2007 NCAA Championship in Williamsburg, Va. (5-under 275) ... 7th at 2007 East Regional in Alpharetta, Ga. (2-under 214) ... T-12 at 2008 Central Regional in Columbus, Ohio (9-over 222).

Amateur: 2008: Finished seventh at the Players Amateur following a final-round 60 ... Won both his singles matches, but lost his four-ball and foursomes matches as the U.S. lost to Europe in the Palmer Cup in Glasgow, Scotland ... 2007: Advanced to the third round of match play at the North and South Amateur in Pinehurst, N.C. (T-8 in stroke play) ... T-6 at the Dogwood Invitational ... T-17 at the Northeast Amateur ... T-26 at the Players Amateur.

High School: Three-time all-state performer in North Carolina (2004, 2005, 2006) ... Five-year letterwinner at North Raleigh Christian Academy ... Won the North Carolina Independent 3A Championship in 2004 and 2006 ... Twice earned TRIAD Conference player of the year honors (2004, 2006) and earned all-conference honors four times ... Won every conference match as a senior ... Class president and member of the National Honor Society ... Voted most comedic.

Junior Golf: Second-team Rolex Junior All-American and second-team FCWT All-American in 2005 ... Honorable mention Rolex Junior All-American in 2006 ... First-team EA Sports All-American in 2006 ... DAN RADAKOVICH

Director of Athletics

Entering his third year as Georgia Tech's Director of Athletics, Dan Radakovich has brought a new vision for excellence to the Yellow Jackets' storied athletics tradition. In a relatively short amount of time since arriving in Atlanta, Radakovich has put his mark on Georgia Tech's athletics program.

In the 2007-08 academic year, Radakovich earned national praise from his peers with the hiring of football coach Paul Johnson, who led his first Tech team to a 9-3 record and a share of the ACC Coastal Division title.

Yellow Jacket teams enjoyed a solid year in 2007-08. The women's basketball team, emerging as one of the top programs in the South, earned its second straight NCAA Tournament appearance. The defending NCAA champion women's tennis team returned to the Elite Eight. The baseball team overcame major obstacles to win more than 40 games and advance to the NCAA Tournament. The softball team, another rising program, returned to the NCAA Tournament for the second straight year. The swimming & diving teams set 19 school records, sent five individuals to the NCAA championships and saw two divers earn All-American honors for the first time in Tech history.

Outside the competition venues, Radakovich has directed an overhaul of the annual giving and donation structure for Tech athletics, anchored by the new TECH Fund, which establishes minimum giving levels tied to season tickets in various seating areas of Bobby Dodd Stadium and Alexander Memorial Coliseum. Several facility upgrades have been completed, including the transformation of Tech's former football locker room on the ground floor of the Edge Athletic Center into a new Technology Center, which benefits academic support services for all Yellow Jacket student-athletes. A new on-campus softball facility is scheduled for completion in early 2009.

Named Georgia Tech's Director of Athletics on February 22, 2006, Radakovich possesses nearly two decades of experience in collegiate athletics management positions. He came to Georgia Tech after five years as senior associate athletics director at LSU (2001-06), and he previously served as the Athletics Director at American University in 2000-01. That followed stints as associate athletics director at South Carolina (1994-2000) and Long Beach State (1989-94) as well as two years as the athletics business manager at Miami (1983-85).

A graduate of Center High School near Aliquippa, Pa., and a member of its Alumni Hall of Fame, Radakovich, 50, became a football letterwinner and student coach at Indiana University of Pennsylvania, where he graduated in 1980 with a bachelor of science degree in fi-

DR. GARY SCHUSTER

Interim President

Gary Schuster became interim president of Georgia Tech on July 1, 2008, and will serve in that role until the Board of Regents of the University System of Georgia names a permanent president.

In addition to his role as interim president, Schuster also serves as provost and executive vice president for Academic Affairs and holds the position of professor and Vasser Woolley Chair of Chemistry and Biochemistry. Prior to being named Georgia Tech's provost in 2006, he served as dean of the College of Sciences for twelve years.

Schuster is a nationally known scholar and researcher with an extensive list of published articles on topics ranging from biochemistry to physical chemistry, as well as a number of scientific discoveries with commercial applications. His research interests focus on the interaction of light with matter and the investigation of small molecules that bind and cut DNA selectively when irradiated with light. This work has applications to understanding the origin of certain diseases—such as cancer—and aging.

Schuster holds a bachelor's degree in chemistry from Clarkson College of Technology and a PhD in chemistry from the University of Rochester. After twenty years in the Chemistry Department at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, he became dean of the College of Sciences and professor of chemistry and biochemistry at Georgia Tech in 1994. He was a National Institutes of Health postdoctoral fellow at Columbia University, a fellow of the Sloan Foundation, and a Guggenheim fellow. He also received the 2006 Charles Holmes Hertzy Medal recognizing his work and service contributions since his arrival at Georgia Tech.

Schuster and his wife, Anita, have two sons, a granddaughter, and a grandson.

nance. He was enshrined into the Beaver County Sports Hall of Fame earlier this year.

Radakovich added a master's degree in business administration from Miami in 1982. He also completed the Sports Management Institute's executive education program in 1992. He is married to the former Marcie McDonald, and the couple has two children, Christian, 18, and Grant, 14. Christian is a freshman at Georgia Tech.

THIS IS GEORGIA TECH

Nestled in the heart of Midtown Atlanta

The Georgia Institute of Technology is one of the nation's top research universities, distinguished by its commitment to improving the human condition through advanced science and technology.

Georgia Tech's campus occupies 400 acres in the heart of the city of Atlanta, where more than 19,000 undergraduate and graduate students receive a focused, technologically based education.

Accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools (SACS), the Institute offers many nationally recognized, top-ranked programs. Undergraduate and graduate degrees are offered in the Colleges of Architecture, Engineering, Sciences, Computing, Management, and the Ivan Allen College of Liberal Arts. Georgia Tech is consistently ranked in U.S. News & World Report's top ten public universities in the United States.

Georgia Tech, the home of the Yellow Jackets, is the No. 7 public university in the nation, according to the 2007 rankings by U.S. News & World Report. Georgia Tech is an innovative intellectual environment with more than 900 full-time instructional faculty and more than 18,000 undergraduate and graduate students.

The university is a national and international leader in scientific and technological research and education. Over the past decade, overall research expenditures increased by 84 percent to $355.3 million in 2006, while federal research expenditures increased 129 percent. Georgia Tech now ranks among the top five in research expenditures among universities without a medical school. In addition, Georgia Tech has an estimated $3.9 billion annual impact within the state of Georgia, according to a 2006 Strategic Economic Development.

Rankings

Year after year, Georgia Tech is consistently the only technological university ranked in U.S. News & World Report's listing of America's top ten public universities. In addition, Georgia Tech's College of Engineering is consistently ranked in the nation's top five by U.S. News. In terms of producing African American engineering graduates, Diverse: Issues in Higher Education ranks Tech No. 1 at the bachelor's level, No. 2 at the master's level, and No. 1 at the doctoral level. These impressive national rankings reflect the academic prestige long associated with the Georgia Tech curriculum.

TECH TRADITIONS

The Ramblin' Wreck Fight Song

"I'm a Ramblin' Wreck from Georgia Tech,
and a hell of an engineer.
A helluva, helluva, helluva, helluva, hell of an engineer.
Like all the jolly good fellows, I drink my whiskey clear.
I'm a Ramblin' Wreck from Georgia Tech,
and a hell of an engineer."

Oh, if I had a daughter, sir, I'd dress her in white and gold.
And put her on the campus to cheer the brave and bold.
But, if I had a son, sir, I'll tell you what he'd do.
He would yell "To Hell with Georgia" like his daddy used to do.

Oh, I wish I had a barrel of rum and sugar three thousand pounds.
A college bell to put it in and a clapper to stir it around.
I'd drink to all good fellows who come from far and near.
I'm a ramblin', gamblin', hell of an engineer."

Buzz

The Yellow Jacket nickname and mascot are two of the most beloved trademarks of Georgia Tech athletic teams. The origin is unknown, but one thing is clear, the nickname did not grow out of the familiar six-legged insect, but that the mascot, known as "Buzz", grew out of the nickname.

"I'm a Ramblin' Wreck from Georgia Tech..."

It was Sept. 30, 1961. The opponent was Rice University for the home opener. For the first time, the official Rambling Wreck car was unveiled to 43,501 fans at Grant Field, leading the Georgia Tech football team onto the field. It has happened at every home game since. The event did not establish a new tradition, but it cemented one. The restored 1930 Model A Ford Sport Coupe was Tech's first official Rambling Wreck, and it was an instant success.

TOTAL PERSON PROGRAM

Preparing for life beyond the court

At Georgia Tech, the day the cheering stops will still be a time of celebration. An athlete's playing days will end, but the Total Person Program ensures that Tech student-athletes will be prepared for the career and personal challenges ahead.

Through this multifaceted program, the brainchild of former Director of Athletics Dr. Homer Rice, Rambling Wreck student-athletes have the opportunity to learn the elements of success beyond the classroom or playing field. They gain skills that remain with them for a lifetime, preparing for the career and personal challenges ahead.

During his 17-year tenure from 1980-97, Rice rebuilt Georgia Tech's athletic fortunes with an emphasis not just in fund-raising and facilities but in equally important areas such as academic support and life skills.

Since Rice started the Total Person Program in 1980, it has developed into the most comprehensive student-athlete support system in the country. Rice's model has been adopted nationwide as the foundation for the NCAA's Life Skills Program. Because of the success of the Total Person Program, Georgia Tech was one of three schools chosen to consult with the NCAA on this project. The foundation laid by Rice has been built upon with a continued emphasis on all aspects of the student-athlete's life.

Addressing virtually every area of a well-rounded educational experience, the Total Person Program, under the direction of Leah Thomas, focuses on the following components:

- Academic Support and Degree Completion
- Life Skills
- Career Planning and Placement
- Counseling and Wellness
- Leadership
- Honors
- Community Outreach

Homer Rice Center for Sports Performance

Georgia Tech's Homer Rice Center for Sports Performance is a unique facility for testing and improving performance. The Homer Rice Center focuses on six components: sports physiology, nutrition, sports medicine, psychology, motion analysis and vision. Opened in 1996, the $8 million facility also includes the Howard Candler, Jr., Football Conference Center and the George W. Mathews, Jr., Athletic Heritage Center.

Tech's golf team participates in many community outreach activities under the direction of Tech's Student-Athlete Advisory Board.

Strength and Conditioning and Sports Medicine

Georgia Tech offers the best facilities and staff to help each student-athlete achieve peak performance and receive the best medical care and injury prevention.

DELLINGER GOLF CENTER

The Dellinger Golf Center, housed on the ground level of the Northwest stands of Bobby Dodd Stadium, was originally dedicated on Oct. 13, 1990 and reopened after renovation in the fall of 2003. It was named for Tech golf enthusiast James Dellinger, and is the perfect spot for studying, relaxing, watching television, playing pool or browsing the internet. It also is a glorious reminder of Georgia Tech's great golf tradition.

The Dellinger Center houses a lounge with a large-screen television, stereo system, DVD player, video game console, comfortable couches, a card table and a pool table for the enjoyment of Tech's golfers. Additionally, there are offices for the Tech coaching staff and a state-of-the-art locker room. The center also includes a study hall with computer stations with internet access, along with a recreation room.

The carpeted lounge area is named for Charles R. Brown, the catalyst responsible for the modern success of Tech golf.

On the walls, you'll find portraits of each of Tech's All-America golfers, from Watts Gunn in 1927 to Roberto Castro and Cameron Tringale, plus photos of Tech teams past and a collage from Larry Mize's 1987 Masters triumph.

On display in trophy cases is memorabilia from the days of Watts Gunn, Bobby Jones and Charlie Yates. Encased in the center are Tech's National Player of the Year trophies honoring David Duval, Stewart Cink, Matt Kuchar and Bryce Molder. Also on display are Tech's NCAA East Regional individual championship trophies, and all 10 ACC championship trophies. Prominent displays of Tech's GCAA All-America honorees are in both the locker room and television lounge.

Tech's three team trophies, the Robert Tyre Jones Award for the team's outstanding player, the Watts Gunn Trophy for the team's most improved and dedicated player, and the Charles Yates Cup for academic achievement, are also displayed here.

As part of Tech's renovation of Bobby Dodd Stadium, the renovated golf center was completed in the fall of 2003 along with the expanded north end zone of the stadium.

GEORGIA TECH PRACTICE RANGE

PRACTICE FACILITY DONORS

Gene Brooks
Jim Dellinger
Julian Saul
Dan Yates

Thanks to the generosity of four supporters of the Georgia Tech golf program, the Yellow Jackets can take advantage of a Tom Fazio-designed practice facility conveniently located adjacent to campus between 14th and 16th Streets.

"We really needed to have our own place to practice, and Jim Dellinger, Julian Saul, Gene Brooks and Dan Yates were willing to make that happen for us," said head coach Bruce Heppler.

A tremendous asset for the team, the facility allows the Yellow Jackets to practice a wide array of skills. Covering eight acres of land and more than 320 yards in length from one end to the other, the range includes two bent grass greens, one for chipping and one for putting.

Tee boxes are located at both ends, as well as several fairway bunkers from which players can hit iron shots, and there are designed wedge areas to work on the short game. There is no shot in golf that Tech's players are not able to work on.

"Plus, they are able to practice with the balls they play with in competition rather than range balls, so they can find out more about distance, control and accuracy," says Heppler. "When you have your own place and you can throw down your own balls and practice anywhere you want, that's a much better situation than going to a driving range.

"It's four blocks from the new Olympic housing. It makes practicing more convenient and allows our players to use their time better. And, of course, it's still backed up by our ability to play on some of the best golf courses in the Southeast."

CARPET CAPITAL COLLEGIATE

Georgia Tech's annual Carpet Capital Collegiate, a staple of the collegiate golf schedule for many of the nation's top golf programs for the last 18 years, annually hosts one of the toughest fields on one of the most challenging golf courses that stage college events.

"With the excellent ACC and SEC teams in the tournament, outcome plays a significant role in which teams are selected for postseason competition," said Tech head coach Bruce Heppler.

Georgia Tech has won the event six times, including three in a row most recently between 1999 and 2001, and has been the runner-up five other times. Clemson has four victories, first in 1993 and most recently in 2002, while Florida and Georgia each has won twice.

Future PGA stars such as Tech's Stewart Cink and NC State's Tim Clark have won medalist honors, but former Yellow Jacket Bryce Molder surpassed them by winning the event three consecutive times between 1998 and 1999.

Three different formats have been used for the event. In the inaugural 1989 event, the low five of six scores by round were used for team totals, while the four low scores on each hole were used in 1991. All others have used the standard low four-of-five rounds each day counting toward the team score.

The Carpet Capital Collegiate is played at The Farm Golf Club, the 6,896-yard, par-72 course designed by Tom Fazio, located in Rocky Face, Ga., just outside the city of Dalton in Northwest Georgia. The tournament takes its name from the city, which is home to some of the largest carpet manufacturers in the world. The Farm, has been recognized by Golf Magazine as one of the nation's premier modern facilities.

The original idea for the tournament, conceived by former Tech coach Puggy Blackmon and born with the help of many Tech alumni in the Dalton area, was to pit the six best teams each from the Atlantic Coast Conference and the Southeastern Conference, with the winner claiming bragging rights.

The event was envisioned as a tribute to amateur and collegiate golf in the South, particularly Georgia, where Bobby Jones and The Masters have contributed to the heritage of the sport. The event has grown to include many nationally prominent programs outside the ACC and SEC area, and better than half of the tournament participants each year are ranked among the nation's top 25 teams.

The permanent Carpet Capital Collegiate champions trophy is named for Lowell Fritz, golf professional at Dalton Golf and Country Club. Fritz has long been dedicated to junior golf and the youth of the Dalton area. Boys or girls, members or non-members, Fritz has taken many hours of his personal time to teach the game of golf.

U.S. COLLEGIATE CHAMPIONSHIP

When the Golf Club of Georgia and Georgia Tech joined forces with the idea of hosting one of the nation's premier collegiate golf events in 2005, the idea was to bring together the nation's top golf programs to play one of the top golf facilities in the state of Georgia and enjoy a first-class golf experience.

The United States Collegiate Championship was the result, and the event has been a rousing success the first two years, drawing rave reviews from coaches and players alike. Traditionally held immediately after the Masters, the USCC is being played 16 days earlier this year to accommodate conference championship schedules.

New teams for 2008 include Stanford, Charlotte, Coastal Carolina and Texas A&M, which are all projected in the Top 10. They join defending champion Georgia, host Georgia Tech, UCLA, Southern Cal, Oklahoma State, Texas A&M, Texas, Georgia State, Alabama, Florida State, East Tennessee State and BYU.

Georgia managed an eight-stroke win over UCLA in 2007 for the team championship, followed by Wake Forest, Georgia Tech and Georgia State. Wake Forest's Webb Simpson was the 2007 individual champion by three strokes over Georgia's Hudson Swafford. Clemson defeated Florida by three shots to win the inaugural USCC, with the Tigers' Stephen Poole scoring a one-stroke victory for the individual medal.

"This event is in a class by itself in college golf," said East Tennessee State coach Fred Warren. "Everything associated with the tournament was first-class in every sense of the word."

"Without a doubt," said Georgia Coach Chris Haack, "(the USCC) is a Major on the college circuit."

"It really does kind of give you a feel of Augusta," said Wake Forest sophomore Webb Simpson, the 2005 Southern Amateur champion who has a first- and second-place finish in the event.

Players have caddies at the United States Collegiate Championship, probably the most unique aspect of this prestigious event.

Callaway Golf, Siemens and Cadillac are the tournament's primary sponsors.

"To have a tournament of this magnitude at a facility we feel is the best in the country is very exciting," said Georgia Tech coach Bruce Heppler, whose program has enjoyed a long-standing relationship with The Golf Club of Georgia. "Knowing and appreciating the commitment and enthusiasm the staff and the members hold toward the event, it makes us feel very comfortable that it will become a very special tournament."

The competition and golf experience of United States Collegiate Championship are as first-class as the quality of its teams.

Players wear long pants and have caddies. The course is not roped, allowing galleries an intimate opportunity to walk with the competitors, as is the case with the club's annual Georgia Cup match between the United States and British Amateur champions.

Rules officials and scoring volunteers also accompany each group, giving the competitors the feel of a championship event.

"As far as college tournaments go, the U.S. Collegiate Championship did, in fact, raise the bar," wrote Ron Balicki in Golfweek magazine. "Providing a great golf course is one thing. Providing all the extras and the unsurpassed hospitality is another, and is what pushed the bar to new heights of what a college tournament could be."

The Golf Club of Georgia, a 36-hole Arthur Hills facility north of Atlanta named "Best New Private Course in America" in 1991 by Golf Digest, also serves as the host site for the NCAA East Regional Championship this year, with Georgia Tech as the host institution. The Lakeside Course, on which both tournaments are played, measures 7,020 yards and plays to a par of 72.

SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAM

ACADEMICS AND ON-COURSE SUCCESS GO HAND-IN-HAND

Georgia Tech's golf team has achieved equal success both on the course and in the classroom in recent years. Tech has a majority of its members achieve Dean's List status with a 3.0 or above grade point average every semester, and the NCAA's Academic Progress Report has given head coach Bruce Heppler's team a 100-percent mark each of the last two years.

Since Bruce Heppler arrived as Tech's coach, at least four members of each team have made the Atlantic Coast Conference Academic Honor Roll, which recognizes student-athletes who record at least a 3.0 grade-point average for the entire academic year. Since 1999, at least five have made it every year, and as many as seven made the list in 2006 and 2007.

Eleven Tech golfers, for a total of 19 times, have been named All-America Scholars by the Golf Coaches Association of America, which honors juniors and seniors who record a minimum 3.2 GPA, play in 75 percent of their team's events and post a stroke average of 76 or lower.

"The mission statement of Georgia Tech athletics puts academics as the No. 1 priority of the Institute," said head coach Bruce Heppler. "It is our philosophy to recruit academically-inclined student-athletes who want academics to prepare them for life.

"Once a student-athlete has his or her academics in order, then golf comes very easy. We try to make every effort to make a playing and practice schedule each year that is suited to give our student-athletes academic success. Since 1995, every senior that has gone through Georgia Tech has earned their degree, and you have to give credit to those individuals for making graduation their top priority. It is a tribute to how hard they have worked and it is the vision the Institute has for them."

TEE CLUB SPONSORS

Thanks to the generosity of Georgia Tech alumni and friends, there is one other revenue-producing sport at the Institute. Football and basketball have traditionally generated sufficient funds to pay for their operations and others, but golf has become a money maker.

Through the golf booster club, known as the Tee Club, and through the newer scholarship endowment program, the team is financially self-sufficient. This financial autonomy does not conflict with the overall mission of Tech's Athletic Association. On the contrary, it helps free funds that would otherwise be earmarked for golf for use in other sports.

The growth of Tech's golf booster system has been extremely rapid in comparison to other top programs in the country. Beginning in 1981, with the backing of Dr. Homer Rice, Tech's director of athletics at the time, efforts were made to identify a group of alumni who would and could provide financial backing for a team that had not won a tournament in 10 years.

Golf does not have the built-in fund-raising advantages of some other sports, such as ticket sales, game programs or an outfield fence for which to sell advertising. The best way to raise funds is through contributions, and that comes primarily through the booster club.

The Tee Club began as a small committee made up of distinguished Tech alumni that began working with Dr. Rice on the revitalization of the golf program in the early 1980s. This group provided the first private financial support for the program, and within a year the committee had grown from five to 12 members, and is now composed of 16 people.

A new, exciting way to become involved with Tech athletics had been initiated, and the boosters soon became too numerous to be called a committee. The name was changed to the Tee Club, and its membership grew to approximately 300 in just seven years.

Soon, it became evident that the Tee Club could produce enough funds to cover operating costs, but not enough to pay for scholarships for the golfers. A scholarship endowment program was established and has grown to over $3.8 million, which is invested so that its returns can finance the education expenses of Tech golfers.

For their donations, supporters of Tech golf receive many benefits, including playing in an annual tournament. Therein lies the greatest incentive for many alumni — being able to play the game with some of the nation's finest collegians. Golf is perhaps the only sport where two individuals of divergent talents are able to compete together fairly and enjoyably, and that is what attracts many donors to the program.

Golf is one of the few sports where alumni can actually interact with the players. They understand golf, they like golf, they play golf, and it is the only sport where the kids can get out and participate with the alumni.

As a direct result of the Tee Club and the endowment program, the golf team is able to do many things now that simply would not otherwise be possible. The team has competed in recent years in distant locales ranging from Las Vegas, Nev., Tucson, Ariz., Bandon, Ore., and Pebble Beach, Calif., to Tokyo, Japan, Kona, Hawai'i and San Juan, Puerto Rico. Not the least of the benefits, of course, is the ability to recruit nationwide, and Tech's golfers can compete in the best tournaments regardless of location.

The financial support allowed the coaching staff to attend national junior events for recruiting and cover the cost of prospective student-athletes that visit Tech.

The Tee Club deserves much of the credit for the golf team's meteoric rise to national prominence.

It is the Tee Club's goal to completely endow all scholarships and operating costs for the golf program.

The Golf Coaches Association of America selects a 60-man All-America team each year following the NCAA Division I Championship. The first, second and third teams each honor 10 golfers, with the remainder named as honorable mention selections. Golfers not initially named to the 60-man team but who finish in the top 15 of the NCAA Championship are automatically added to the honorable mention unit.

Bryce Molder (1998-2001) and David Duval (1990-93) are two of only four Division I players to ever be named first-team All-Americans four times, joining Gary Hallberg of Wake Forest (1975-78) and Phil Mickelson of Arizona State (1989-92). Nicholas Thompson finished his career in 2005 by earning All-America recognition four times, and Roberto Castro followed by being named four times between 2004 and 2007.

NATIONAL CHAMPIONS

Troy Matteson

NCAA Champion in 2002

Troy Matteson capped an outstanding junior season by winning the biggest tournament of the year in Columbus, Ohio, at the NCAA Championships. The victory was his fourth of the year, tying the school record held by David Duval and marked the first time since 1934 that a Yellow Jacket was crowned National Collegiate Champion.

Matteson's run to the title began inauspiciously as he opened with a 2-over-par score of 73 to stand tied for 88th place, seven shots off the tournament lead. That would change quickly, as he found his scoring groove over the next 54 holes of play.

Day two saw the first significant move, as Matteson carded a 5-under-par round of 66 to move into a tie for 12th place a 73-66—139. The steady play continued over the final two rounds, as Matteson finished with sub-par rounds of 70 and 67 respectively to take over the individual lead as the final round came to an end.

The victory marked the fourth individual title of the year for Matteson, tying the school record previously held by David Duval, along with being the third time in school history that a Yellow Jacket had been the individual national champion.

For his efforts, Matteson was named the recipient of the Arnold Palmer National Player of the Year award and earned first-team All-America honors for the first time in his career.

Watts Gunn

National Collegiate Champion
in 1927

The Rambling Wreck and the name of Watts Gunn rose to supreme heights in 1927.

Becoming the first Georgia Tech golfer to win the National Collegiate Championship, Gunn shot a total of 302 over the 72-hole event at the Garden City Country Club to win the medal competition. He went on to dispatch Walker Cup teammate Roland McKenzie, 10-9, to win the individual title, and his 69 in the final round broke the course record. He also helped Tech win the Southern Intercollegiate title the same year.

Along with winning the collegiate championship, Gunn was a two-time U.S. Walker Cup team member, joining the squad in both 1926 and 1928. In those two events, he compiled a combined 4-0 record, posting a pair of victories in each.

Gunn was inducted into the Georgia Tech Hall of Fame in 1961. The annual Yellow Jacket men's golf team award for the season's most improved player is named in Gunn's honor.

Charlie Yates

in 1934

Yates, who won the British Amateur in 1938 and the Western Amateur in 1935, won the Georgia state championship in 1931 and 1935, advanced to the second round of match play in the U.S. Amateur and was the low amateur in the first Masters tournament in 1934.

He culminated a fine college career by winning the 1934 National Collegiate Championship in Cleveland, Ohio, joining Watts Gunn as the only two Tech golfers ever to do so. Yates is one of six Yellow Jackets to have competed in the Walker Cup, as he was a team member in both 1936 and '38, compiling a 3-0-1 record in those matches. In 1953, he was named the captain of the Walker Cup team and was an honorary captain in 1985.

Yates played in the first 11 Masters tournaments, five times finishing as low amateur and three times finishing in the top 24.

He was inducted into the Georgia Tech Hall of Fame in 1959 and an award named in his honor has been given annually to the member of the Yellow Jacket golf team displaying the most outstanding academic achievement.

GCAA ALL-AMERICA SCHOLARS

All-America Scholars, chosen by the Golf Coaches Association of America, are juniors or seniors academically, hold a grade point average of 3.2 or higher, play in 75 percent of his team's events and have a stroke average of 76 or lower.

NCAA TODAY'S TOP VIII AWARD

The NCAA honors eight student-athletes each year out of nominees from every sport, recognizing those who excel in their sport, in the classroom, and exhibit high character, leadership and service to others.

Roberto Castro (below), who graduated in 2007 with high honor in industrial engineering and won the Byron Nelson Award as a senior, and Bryce Molder (above), who won four national player of the year honors in 2001, are the only two men's golfers ever to win the prestigious NCAA Today's Top VIII Award.

The ACC Academic Honor Roll is compiled following the conclusion of spring sports each year, recognizing student-athletes in all sports who posted a grade-point average of 3.0 for the entire academic year, with no minimum placed on playing time.

COACHING HISTORY

H.E. Dennison ~ 1931-55

A professor of economics and social science, as well as the director of industrial management, H.E. Dennison served as Georgia Tech's first golf coach from 1931-55. He shepherded a program which had already earned success on the national stage when Watts Gunn won the national collegiate championship in 1927. Collegiate golf was strictly a dual match sport in Dennison's time, and Tech went three straight years from 1933-35 without losing a match.

Dennison had the distinction of coaching such standouts as Charlie Yates, the 1934 national collegiate champion, 1938 British Amateur champion and three-time Walker Cup team member, as well as the 1938 Southern Intercollegiate champion Tommy Barnes and 1948 Southeastern Conference champion Albert Swann. He also led the Yellow Jackets to their first NCAA Championship appearance as a team in 1947.

Tommy Plaxico ~ 1956-82

Likeable Tommy Plaxico, a former Georgia Tech star of the cinders in the 1940s, served as the Yellow Jackets' golf coach from January of 1956 until he retired in 1982, an era which saw the landscape of college golf evolve from schools playing dual matches exclusively to playing stroke-play tournaments. Among his players were future PGA Tour star Larry Mize, 1967 NCAA runner-up Bunky Henry and 1999 U.S. Senior Amateur champion Bill Ploeger.

Plaxico, a contemporary of such Tech coaching luminaries as Bobby Dodd, Whack Hyder and Jim Luck, was a regular on the Tech track team for three years and was captain of the 1941 squad. After serving four years as a Navy fighter pilot in World War II, Plaxico returned to campus to receive his degree in industrial management in 1946. He immediately joined the Tech faculty as a member of the Physical Training staff, a capacity in which he served until he retired. Plaxico, also an avid tennis player, served as an assistant track coach for five years and was in charge of Georgia Tech's intramural program.

Puggy Blackmon ~ 1982-95

The arrival of Puggy Blackmon signaled a new era in golf at Georgia Tech, keeping the Yellow Jackets in line with the way college golf was growing. The South Carolina native came from a teaching and professional golf background, and laid the foundation for the stature of the program today. Heavily involved in junior golf, Blackmon immediately began recruiting top junior players, set about raising money for the program and started the booster club which continues to support Tech golf today.

Within three years, he guided the Yellow Jackets to their first Atlantic Coast Conference championship, and Tech became a perennial top-25 program. That led to the program being invited to compete in bigger and better events, and the Jackets would go on to win five ACC titles, compete in 11 NCAA Championships and win 33 tournaments overall during his tenure. He recruited and coached current PGA Tour players Stewart Cink (pictured at right), Michael Clark II, David Duval and Tripp Isenhour.

BOBBY JONES - ATLANTA, GA.

On Sept. 27, 1930, Robert Tyre Jones, Jr., of Atlanta walked off the 11th green at the Merion Cricket Club and into history. No one before him had won golf's four major championships in a single year. No one has done it since.

No one might ever do it again.

"It may be 60 years, if then, before we see another Grand Slam," said Joe Dey, former commissioner of the PGA Tour and former executive director of the United States Golf Association.

"You never say never," said Ben Hogan, who was 18 when Jones won the Slam and remains the only golfer to win three professional majors in one year. "But considering the times — there are so many more good players — it's improbable that any player will win all four."

Of all the single-season sustained records of excellence in major sports, Jones' mark has stood the longest. Longer than Babe Ruth's 60 home runs, a record that last 34 years after he set it in 1927; longer than Joe DiMaggio's 1941 hitting streak of 56 games, which is still alive after 49 years; longer than Wilt Chamberlain's 50.4 points-per-game average, set in 1961-62; longer than Bryon Nelson's PGA Tour streak of 11 straight victories and 18 overall in 1945.

The four tournaments Jones won — the national Open and amateur championships of the United States and Britain — originally were known as the "Impregnable Quadrilateral." That term eventually evolved into the Grand Slam, a term that stuck even when the PGA Championship and the Masters replaced the two amateur tournaments in the mythical foursome.

To understand the magnitude of Jones' deed, consider that in the ensuing 60 years only four players — Hogan, Gene Sarazen, Gary Player and Jack Nicklaus — in their careers have won each of the four events that make up the modern Slam.

In golf's record books, Hogan comes across as the most serious challenger to Jones record when in 1953 the Texan won the Masters, U.S. Open and British Open. But because there was some overlap in dates of the British Open and the PGA Championship, the possibility of Hogan completing the Slam never existed.

Perhaps the most incredible thing about Jones' Slam is that he planned it. He didn't have a name for it, nor was he glory-seeking. His reasons were purely personal. Being an amateur golfer, his finances and family obligations would not allow him to play in all four tournaments after 1930. As it turned out, he didn't have to. He announced his retirement from competitive golf a few weeks after winning the U.S. Amateur. He was 28.

Dey, then a 23-year-old sportswriter for The Philadelphia Evening Bulletin, was there at Merion in Ardmore, Pa., when Jones completed the Grand Slam. Now 83, Dey said Jones' performance was "simply unbelievable."

"I saw every shot, and I haven't seen anyone since as dominant as Jones was in that Amateur," Dey said. "None of his matches went past the 14th hole. He cruised along. Considering the pressure and the crowds — you have to remember in those days the fairways weren't roped — it was a remarkable performance by a remarkable player."

Dey has seen all the great players and says only Hogan and Nicklaus equaled Jones in figuring out a way to win.

"If Nicklaus couldn't do it, I don't think it could be done. Maybe Hogan could have, but there wasn't that much emphasis on the Grand Slam during his day. I don't see anyone out there today who knows how to win like they did and like Jones did.

"Also, it's just too hard now because there are too many good players to expect one to win all four, and too, I believe the intense media attention given to the majors creates tremendous pressure that begins to build when someone wins the first two."

Hogan, now 78, agrees about the media pressure. "It's incredible," he said, "much more so than when I played. Because it was impossible for me to play in all four in 1953, there was none of that."

Dey credits Jones with the Grand Slam transformation from two amateurs and two Opens to today's four pro majors. "When Jones retired, there was not another amateur of his ability, and after he started Augusta National, and the Masters took hold, the attention turned away from the amateurs to the professionals," he said.

"What Jones did was win the Grand Slam, then without realizing it, created another one."

How good was Jones? From 1923 through 1930, Jones won 13 major national titles in the U.S. and Great Britain, 62 percent of the championships he entered.

In the last 11 British and U.S. Opens in which he played, he finished no worse than second in 10, winning seven times. And from the time he was 14 to the time he was 28, no player ever beat him twice in championship match play.

It also must be noted that Jones was hardly a full-time golfer. Often he would go months without picking up a club. Instead, he studied mechanical engineering at Georgia Tech, got a degree in English literature at Harvard, dabbled in real estate and then attended law school at Emory. In his 13 years in major championship competition, he was a student, high school or college, in nine of them. He played only 52 tournaments in that span, an average of four a year, and won 23.

Though Jones was born and raised in Atlanta, there is no public display of his memorabilia. His old locker remains at East Lake Country Club men's locker room and several pictures hang on the walls of the grill room. Most of his trophies and his famous putter, Calamity Jane, are on display in a showcase in the Jones Room at the Atlanta Athletic Club.

Jones died in the early evening of Dec. 18, 1971. He played his last round of golf in 1948, the year he was stricken with syringomyeliam, a disease that attacks the central nervous system. His burial is in Atlanta's Oakland Cemetery. His tombstone reads:

Robert Tyre Jones, Jr.

Born 1902 Died 1971

No other words were thought necessary.

This story was written by the late Tom McCollister, who covered golf for the Atlanta Journal-Constitution and paid this tribute to Bobby Jones on the 60th anniversary of his Grand Slam, in the Sept. 27, 1990, edition of the Journal and Constitution.

WATTS GUNN - MACON, GA.

Watts Gunn was born in Macon, Ga., on January 11, 1905. He made golf history in 1925 in the U.S. Amateur at Oakmont Country Club, setting the world record for international championship golf by winning 15 straight holes in the first round of the 36-hole match. In that tournament, he went to the finals against friend and rival Bobby Jones, marking the only time two players from the same city ever met for the U.S. Amateur crown.

Gunn's first major tournament win was in the 1923 Georgia Amateur. In 1927, he won the Southern and National Intercollegiate tournaments, and the following year he won the Southern Amateur and Southern Open Championships. In 1926 and 1928, he played on the Walker Cup teams with Jones, defeating the British team both years. He played many benefit tournaments, including several exhibitions with Jones in 1927 and 1928. He took the Georgia State Amateur title in 1927 and 1928. At Lanier High School, he captained golf teams that never lost a match.

Watts Gunn was inducted into the Georgia Golf Hall of Fame on January 14, 1989.

From a Time Magazine account dated July 11, 1927

Last week, Watts Gunn of Georgia Tech, playmate of Robert Tyre Jones Jr., went four times around the Garden City (L. I.) Golf Club course in a total of 302 strokes. Had he been alive to do this in 1902, he would have won the U. S. Open Championship by five strokes.* But, at 22, his reward was the qualifying medal of the national intercollegiate golf tournament.

Consistently but not brilliantly, Golfer Gunn battered his way to the finals where he found the other favorite, Roland Mackenzie of Brown University, his good friend, with nerves set for a 36-hole struggle.

Beginning at the fifth hole of their first round, Golfer Gunn went stark, staring golf-mad, made six birdies, used only nine putts on seven consecutive holes—putts varying between 35 and 12 feet—sunk with a borrowed putter. His score for the first 18 holes was 69, breaking the course record by two strokes. After that it was only a matter of time before Mr. Gunn won match and championship, 10 up, 9 to go.

Another figure in the tournament was John D. Ames, blond son of Knowlton L. ("Snake") Ames (sinuous Princeton quarterback of the strenuous '90s), who lost to Watts Gunn in the second round but was elected president of the Intercollegiate Golf Association.

CHARLIE YATES - ATLANTA, GA.

Charlie Yates, a link to Atlanta's vast golf history who later shepherded the city's arts community into the future, was once heralded by Life magazine as owning "the best grin in golf."

He didn't mind using it either, whether to woo the English crowds while he was winning the 1938 British Amateur championship or while heading the effort to raise the $20 million that built the High Museum. A participant in the city's history for much of the 20th century, it is not inappropriate he be remembered first for that smile and a benevolent demeanor that underscored his life.

Yates, 92, died October 17, 2005 at his home in Buckhead.

Mentored by Bobby Jones - he in fact played with Jones in his final round in 1948 at East Lake Golf Club - Yates was national college champion while at Georgia Tech (1934), a two-time Walker Cup competitor (1936 and 1938) and was captain of the U.S. Walker team in 1953.

He seized the international limelight at the 1938 British Amateur at Royal Troon. Beating two U.S. and British Amateur champions along his eight-match campaign, he struck a tone with the British galleries who were not then so easily charmed by foreigners taking away their titles. Afterward, the legendary British golf author Bernard Darwin wrote, "There has been no invading Champion more popular than Charlie Yates, whose cheerfulness and humor, of his own particular brand, made everybody like him."

Yates played 11 times in the Masters, including the inaugural tournament in 1934.

"There wasn't any strict rule about who was eligible to play in the Masters then," he once told The Augusta Chronicle. "Bob invited some of his friends, such as myself."

He tied for 21st that year and twice was low amateur, but his most memorable Masters came in 1935. Yates was playing in the group ahead when Gene Sarazen made double eagle on the par-5 15th to force a playoff he won the next day. That shot put the Masters on the map.

Yates' amateur career, except for playing the Masters, ended with World War II when he was drafted into the Army. He transferred to the Navy and spent 30 months as a lieutenant on the destroyer USS Mayo, which was struck by enemy fire during the invasion of Italy.

For nearly 50 years, he served on the Masters' Press Committee, a constant presence in the media quarters and, to many who returned to Augusta National year after year, a Masters tradition in himself.

"I am deeply saddened by the passing of Charlie Yates," Augusta National chairman Hootie Johnson said. "Charlie was an outstanding amateur golfer and a member who was linked to Bobby Jones and the club's history, attending every Masters through 2003. He will be greatly missed."

But it was in 1973 that Yates began some of his most lasting work. He accepted Mayor Ivan Allen's suggestion to retire at age 60 and head up the Atlanta Arts Alliance (which later became the Woodruff Arts Center).

Yates already had served as president of the Atlanta Symphony Orchestra (1962-65) and helped recruit Robert Shaw to be its conductor.

"When you look at who had a heavy influence on the thinking of people like the late Ivan Allen, of Robert W. Woodruff, Charlie was an effective leader in getting those people to see how Atlanta's strategy should include the development of world class arts and organizations," said Beauchamp Carr, executive vice president of the Woodruff Arts Center.

Originally drawn to the arts when his wife Dorothy recruited him for nights at the symphony, Yates ushered the city into a new age. Besides overseeing the effort to build the High, he helped raise the $5.4 million for the center's endowment. In his 10 years as president (1973-83) of what became the Woodruff Arts Center, the overall budget rocketed from $3.8 million to $16.3 million.

"I don't think of it as reaching into their pockets," he once said of his fund-raising ethic. "I think of it as their doing something for their own benefit."

The smile didn't hurt much either.

*The national collegiate championships were conducted by the United States Golf Association through 1938, and consisted of a medal competition and a match play bracket similar to today's U.S. Amateur. The NCAA began conducting the championship in 1939, using a match play format through 1965, when it became a 72-hole, stroke-play event. The NCAA instituted a 54-hole cut from 1979-88. A 36-hole cut was used in 1989, and again from 1992-2001. No cuts were made in 1990, 1991 or 2002.

Tech's 2005 squad became the fourth team to be an NCAA runner-up, while Roberto Castro finished third individually at 1-under-par 279.

BOB McDONNELL - 1985

ACC Champions

Five Georgia Tech players have won Atlantic Coast Conference titles, and with one exception, the Yellow Jackets have won the team title each time. David Duval is the only Yellow Jacket to win twice (1991 and 1993), while Bob McDonnell was the first Tech player to win the medal in 1985. Only in 2000, when Bryce Molder captured the individual title, did Tech fail to also win as a team (runner-up).

Georgia Tech fielded its first intercollegiate golf team in 1918, “and it was met with marked success in the matches with the Eastern colleges,” reads the 1918 edition of the Blueprint, the Georgia Tech yearbook.

“To get to the personnel and work of the team. Very little time was had by the men to practice, but they went to it with a will and when the time for the first match with Columbia came around, a formidable quartet was on hand. Perry Adair, one of the foremost golfers in the South, was number one man. Adair has been playing golf around Atlanta since twelve years old and holds many of the course records in the South. Fred Howden of Savannah, was elected manager. Howden had a score of notable records to his credit there. Ewing Watkins, one of the best golfers in Tennessee and said to be the longest driver in the South, and Tom Prescott of Atlanta golf fame, comprised the other two members of the team.”

Scoring for matches that year, and in years beyond, “was kept on the Nassau system, the winners on the first nine being awarded one point, the same being true for the second nine holes, and an additional point being awarded for the best ball of the match.”

YEAR-BY-YEAR RESULTS (SINCE 1947)

Note: From 1937-39, the Southeastern Conference Championship was held in Baton Rouge, La. From 1940-64, the SEC Championship was held in Athens, Ga., as part of the Southern Intercollegiate Championship (no championship was held from 1943-45 due to World War II). Tech continued to participate in the SIC long after leaving the Southeastern Conference in 1964.
