

V-12, ASTP Exams To Be Given Friday

Men Under A-12 Must Complete 13 Weeks of Basic Army Training

Just as in the case of the Navy Qualifying Examination, there will be held in the Georgia Tech Auditorium on April 2, between the hours of 9 a. m. and 11 a. m., a qualifying examination for the Army Specialized Training Program. This examination will be supervised by Dr. A. J. Walker.

All uncommitted Georgia Tech students and high school seniors and graduates who will have attained their 17th but not their 22nd birthdays by July 1, 1943, are eligible to take this examination. The name of the examination is the Army College Training Program Test (A-12).

Held to Fill ASTP

The purpose of the examination is to select students for the Army Specialized Training Program. However, all students who expect to be a trainee for the Army Specialized Training Program must complete the 12 or 13 weeks of basic military training in a camp before being sent back to college. The scores of this examination, however, will be considered at the time of the selection of students for the Army Specialized Training Program.

Test Held in Auditorium

All Georgia Tech students who are interested in taking this examination on April 2 at the Georgia Tech Auditorium, between the hours of 9 a. m. and 11 a. m., should drop by the Personnel Office and secure an official application form which they will present to Dr. A. J. Walker at the time of the examination.

Five Officers Arrive to Help Conduct ASTP

Group Headed By Capt. Simons, Tech Alumnus

Tech welcomes to its campus this week a group of new army officers connected with our Army Specialized Training Unit. These officers are headed by Captain Charles R. Simons, a Tech graduate of outstanding merit. Although nine new officers are expected, only five have arrived, consisting of Captain Simons, First Lt. Wainwright, First Lt. Smith, Second Lt. McClure, and First Lt. Usry.

Will Command Company A

Captain Simons will be the commanding officer of Company A. Following his graduation in Industrial Management from Tech in June, 1937, he worked for Devoe and Reynolds Co., Inc., a paint concern in Louisville, Ky. In February, 1941, he went into the Infantry and was with an attachment at Camp Blanding, Fla., for over two years.

Former ROTC Big-Wig

While in school at Tech, Captain Simons was in the Infantry Unit and became cadet lieutenant colonel of the Army Regiment. He served as captain of the Scabbard and Blade his senior year and belonged to the Pi Kappa Phi social fraternity.

1st Lt. W. P. Smith, Infantry, comes to the ASTU No. 5408 from Camp Sibert, Alabama. Lt. Smith was inducted into the army on March 10, 1941, and was selected for OCS at Ft. Benning, Georgia. He was commis-

Civilians Expected To Make Up Large Part of Enrollment

In a statement last week, Dean Skiles expressed assurance that there would be civilian students at Tech this summer. In fact, civilians are expected to comprise one-third of the number of students, with the Army and Navy students each comprising a third.

Will Be Deferred

The civilian students will be deferred every six months until they graduate, provided they take approved courses and keep up a passing average. No students taking Industrial Management, Textile Engineering, or Architecture will be deferred.

The school will not play favorites with the Army and Navy in regard to teachers but will try to provide instructors for civilians as good as those provided for Army and Navy students.

Committee Looks Into Housing

A committee has recently been appointed by the Executive Board to secure adequate housing for the new civilian students since the Army and Navy will take over the dormitories.

Results! That is what they are getting in the College Inn's "Cigarettes for Service Men" campaign sponsored by Camel cigarettes. It was stated in a letter to the College Inn from the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., makers of Camel cigarettes, that at present 33,000 packages of cigarettes have been sent to American service men on most of the battlefronts of the war with the compliments of Georgia Tech.

Attention, Co-Ops!

Attention, June Graduates:

Regulars and co-ops may order graduation invitations next week. Orders will be taken in the lobby of the Administration building by the invitation committee. Last date for these orders is April 5.

Who Are They Gonna Be?

Political Parties Vie In Election Finals Monday

Twenty-four men were selected in the class officer primary, which was held on March 22, and from this group the class officers will be chosen in the final selection, Monday morning, March 22. The three men polling the most votes in their respective classes will hold the positions of president, vice-president, and secretary for the coming year.

Wins Wings

JOHN HENRY BROOKS, former Georgia Tech student, was graduated from the Army Air Forces Advanced Flying School, Napier Field, Dothan, Alabama, March 25.

Six Seniors Listed

The six senior nominees are: Bill Harris, Alex Lofton, Mutt Manning, Charlie Scruggs, Marty Van Buren, and Ralston Woods. Harris now holds the position of treasurer of the Student Council, and is a member of the Scabbard and Blade military society. The swimming team and membership into the "T" club are more of his accomplishments. Lofton is a member of the Student Council and Scabbard and Blade. He holds the position of presidency of the Bulldog club and of the Nautilan society. Cadet lieutenant commander is his rank in the Naval Department at Georgia Tech. Mutt Manning has been tapped by the Anak society, is a member of the varsity football squad, and having won his letter in this sport, is a member of the "T" club.

Scruggs Well-Known

Scruggs was elected vice-president of the Junior class, and is a member of both the basketball and baseball squads. Van Buren is the editor of the Yellow Jacket and a member of Pi Delta Epsilon, honorary journalism society. He is also a member of the Architectural society and the Bulldog club. Woods held the position of president of the Freshman class. He is now a member of the Student Faculty Lecture association, the

Personnel Head Lists Numbers In Reserves

The Personnel Office released to The TECHNIQUE the following figures regarding Georgia Tech students in the various reserve corps.

These figures show the number of students who have been called out and also those expecting future calls. However, all Georgia

Tech students should remember that the plans of the Army, the Navy, and the draft boards are subject to changes frequently. Thus, these figures may be true one day and changed the next. Until a student actually receives his own individual order, his sole obligation is to remain in school and maintain a good scholastic average.

Requires 13 Weeks

Further, the Army Specialized Training Program requires 13 weeks' basic military training before a student is allowed to return to Georgia Tech or some other selected engineering college, with his expenses paid by the government.

Navy Program Starts July 1

The plans of the Navy still call for an initiation of the Navy College Program about July 1. Members of Navy V-7, Navy V-1, Marine Reserve, will in time be absorbed by the Navy College Program, known by the name Navy V-12. Until official plans are made known, all students in the various Naval reserves are reminded of their duty to their school work.

Dig Deep, Boys!

Anak, senior honorary society, has announced that they will be responsible for the Red Cross drive at Tech next week. Plans have already been completed for the establishment of booths around the campus. Every student in school is urged to contribute to this worthy cause.

STANLEY GOLDSTEIN, ex-Tech man, was recently appointed a Naval Aviation Cadet and was transferred to the Naval Air Training Station at Pensacola, Florida.

Over 300 Donate Blood Under APO During Past Year

The Tech Blood Bank is one of the more important campus activities sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega, honorary service fraternity. This will make the fourth year the club has sponsored this bank at Tech, and its growth has been phenomenal. The first year only about thirty-six donations were made. This year well over three hundred persons contributed.

Operated for Poor

This bank is operated for those patients who are unable to pay for blood when the need arises. Occasionally, in an emergency when no other source is available, blood is taken from this bank for someone who is able to pay. All money that is thus taken in is used to furnish transportation for charity cases to and from the hospital.

Each Case Handled Separately

Each case of need that comes up is handled individually. The bank makes no large donations to institutions of any kind.

Nurses from the different hospitals have been very helpful to this cause. They have given much of their time and have received nothing in return for it. Each year a nurse from a different hospital helps. Thus all the hospitals are given a chance to help. This year a nurse from the Emory hospital helped.

Frats Need Aid!

Program For Leasing Fraternity Houses Offered Authorities

Georgia Tech's fraternities, all twenty-two of them, are beginning to really feel the pinch of war. The late ERC order has cut pretty deeply into the ranks of Tech fraternity men. In fact, fraternity membership has dropped from approximately 1000 last October to 550.

As yet no chapter house has been forced to close, and none are likely to this semester. However, when the army and navy programs start in real earnest on July 1, the chapters will be left but a handful of civilian members. The naval ROTC will be inducted as apprentice seamen, and although they will be left in school, these men will be living in barracks and will have little time for an active fraternity life.

This drop in enrollment will so seriously affect the finances of the various chapters that most of them will probably have to close their doors. This would leave the 13 fraternities who own their own houses in the rather awkward situation of having to either rent their property or accept the rather considerable loss of closing up for the duration.

A practical solution for the problem would be for the school to lease those houses or at least a part of them. Each separate house could be operated as a dormitory, and could be used to house those members of that fraternity who wished to remain in the house plus a portion of the civilian enrollment.

By making use of this plan, the acute shortage of dormitory space anticipated in July would be alleviated. Too, the fraternities themselves would be greatly benefited. The Technique calls on the Interfraternity Council to back some similar plan.

Plans of Today Will Insure Better Peace When Fighting Stops

Today the Tech students are preparing themselves for the gigantic task of wrestling a constructive peace from the aggressor nations of the world. But what are the articles of this peace that is being won at so dear a price? A democratic government assures the citizens that it will be a peace which can win the approval of the majority of the peoples of the different allied countries.

For the grocer, the mechanic, or the college graduate to be successful in such an undertaking, however, he must be schooled in the various causes and effects which each suggested agreement will cause. Because of the rapidity with which situations will change after the war, the time for unifying this action is now.

It is for this purpose of preparing the public for a constructive peace that the International Relations Council at Tech has directed its energies. Such a task as this one, however, is successful only if it reaches and creates thoughts within a great number of people. Therefore, the Council has invited all campus organizations to stimulate thinking and planning along these lines. Every group is asked to appoint a representative to the Tech Council for International Relations. Each is urged to set aside at least one regular meeting for the discussion of the subject of post war plans and international relations. In this way every student will be prepared to face the job of dictating the peace immediately after hostilities are over. It is the only way a democratic people may formulate a peace that will be worth the blood it has cost.

The boys had a great time out at the Fort. Got up bright and early—4:45 Atlanta time—and had nothing to do but lie around all day. Crap games were predominant, and apparently comprise an important part of the activities at the Reception Center—some of the soldiers out there thought they would clean these simple college boys, but they didn't consider the thoroughness of a Tech education. Consequently, many a poor soldier's salary came back to those hallowed halls.

The physical exams and shots are something else to put in the books. After tying a tag around your neck so you know who you are—and after a day out there you even wonder about that—you are herded with fifty thousand other guys into the medical building. Someone looks at you and writes down your height and weight. Then everyone goes into a room and stands next to the wall while a Lt. stands in the middle, looks around and asks if everyone feels all right. If you don't, he puts an "X" on your back with red chalk. Then comes the eye, ear, nose and throat specialist. He takes his little flashlight, tells everyone to open his mouth, then walks down the line flashing the light anywhere in the vicinity of your face.

When it comes to the issuing of clothes, you are given two duffle bags. Holding them open, you go down the line, cafeteria style, while clothes are thrown into the bags. In two minutes and thirteen seconds you are outfitted.

Finally, you go back to the medical building, get in line again and as you move down, sergeants take swings at you with ten-inch needles. Then you lie around shooting craps for a couple more days, and come home.

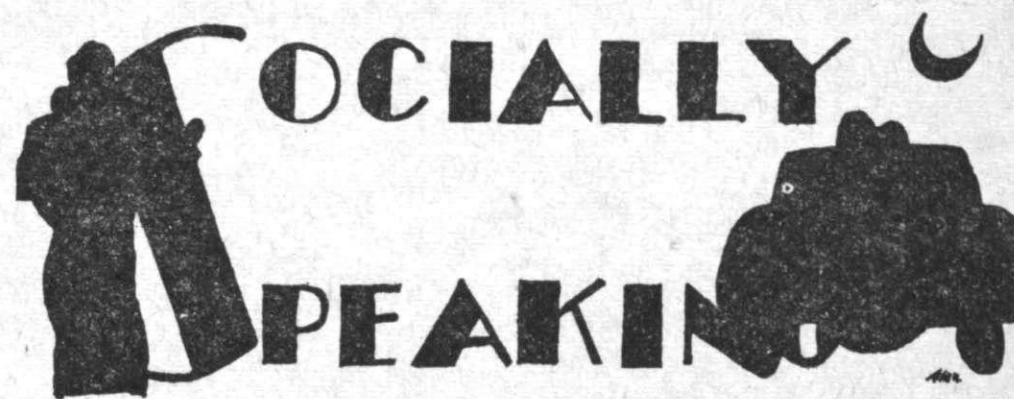

It's a great life!

AMERICAN HEROES

Thirty-four days were spent on the open sea in a rubber boat by three U. S. Navy men, Harold F. Dixon, Gene Aldrich, and Anthony Pastula. After enduring torturous days under the blazing sun, and freezing nights, these American heroes were finally rescued. In effect, they were kept afloat by a War Bond.

We need lots of these rubber boats, so buy as many War Bonds as you can. You've done your bit; now do your best. Buy your Bonds and Stamps from the Georgia Tech Post Office and help Tech fly the Treasury "E".

THE NEWS OF THE WEEK is that Uncle Sam called another batch of his young nephews this past week-end and among them was a Co-Op lad who was determined that Atlanta or at least the Union Station would long remember him. College Men Called 'Type of Manpower'

McNutt Regards College Students As Important To National Service

Following is a digest of an address delivered recently at Haverford college by Paul V. McNutt, chairman of the war manpower commission:

Until recently it would never have occurred to college students to regard themselves in terms of manpower.

The term is more frequently associated with the masses of workers employed by large-scale industry than with the fortunate minority of carefully educated individuals whom the colleges induct into professional and managerial life. So when you were registered for the national service you may have experienced something of the surprise of that character in Moliere's play who discovered that he had been talking prose without realizing his accomplishment.

Trained Men Valuable

Your government regards you as important, whether you are leaving college for the military or for other forms of national service, because of the exceptional training opportunities which you have had.

It is very important that popular faith in the value of our colleges, and in the quality of their students, should be sustained.

Colleges Called On

The larger educational institutions, with facilities for housing, feeding and teaching large numbers are naturally and properly being called upon more largely than others, although by no means exclusively, to accommodate the specialized training units which the army and navy are setting up.

Washington is not Berlin and we do not propose to regiment our colleges to any standardized program of state-directed service. Washington will not dictate a uniform plan of action to the colleges. But I can assure you that both the war manpower commission and the United States office of education, which also comes under my jurisdiction as federal security administrator, are keenly interested in all efforts which the colleges, individually or collectively, make in their own interests.

Quality Needed

In the provision of manpower we do not expect much quantitative help from the small liberal arts colleges. But we do expect important qualitative assistance, both for the preservation and improvement of our own way of life and for the eventual establishment of a better international order.

Two New Schools Take Place Among Training Colleges

Courses Are Given In Far-Reaching Subjects

SEATTLE, Wash.—(ACP)—You won't find them in any directory of educational institutions, but the College of the Aleutians and Kodiak university rank as the two newest American institutions of higher learning.

They are a possibly far-reaching innovation in education of the men at the nation's military outposts.

Captain M. L. Witherspoon, naval recreation and morale officer of the Alaska sector, told of the "newest thing in the navy" on a visit here.

"Courses will be offered in any high school or college subject that three or more students elect to take.

"Classes will be held evenings in halls, barracks and special huts.

"There aren't any girls around, and I'm sure the boys will study harder than they would in any other environment."

Captain Witherspoon said the program is a forerunner to a world-wide correspondence school system the army and navy, in conjunction with universities and colleges, are contemplating.

"Correspondence courses will be offered which will lead toward degrees in any institution of higher learning the student elects," he explained.

"These courses will be available to anyone in the armed forces. They will be called the armed forces' institute."

Class Election—

Interfraternity Council, and the Student Council.

Herb Bergman, John Gatty, Wes Paxon, Buddy Sanders, Dickie Touchstone, and Comer Weaver were the winners of the Junior class primary. Bergman is a member of the baseball and basketball squads. Gatty is a member of the Yellow Jacket Club, was a member of the staff of The TECHNIQUE, belongs to the Skull and Key honorary society, and represents his fraternity in the Interfraternity Council. Paxon is a member of the basketball varsity team and has been elected into Skull and Key. Sanders has held the titles of president of the Freshman class, vice-president of the Sophomore class, and is now secretary of the Student Council. Touchstone has worked on the staffs of the Blue Print, the Yellow Jacket, and is sports editor of The TECHNIQUE. Through his work on these publications he was elected into the Pi Delta Epsilon journalism society. He is also a member of the Skull and Key society. Weaver is a member of the Student Council, the Yellow Jacket club, and Skull and Key honorary society. Membership into the track squad is another of his accomplishments.

Sophomores

The six sophomores who survived the primary are David Blackshear, Monte Bond, Bobbie Gaston, Lawrence Gellerstedt, Hugh Penn, and Ray Spitler. Blackshear was president of the class his freshman year, and is a member of the Skull and Key honorary society. Bond has served on the staffs of The TECHNIQUE and of the Blue Print. Gaston is the president of the Skull and Key society. His sporting endeavors have been on the freshman football and basketball squads. Gellerstedt is a member of Phi Eta Sigma, the highest freshman honorary on the campus, and is a member of the Skull and Key and of the Yellow Jacket club. Penn was the president of the freshman "Y" Council, and is a member of the Yellow Jacket club. Spitler has worked on the staffs of the Yellow Jacket and Blue Print. He is also a member of the Skull and Key club.

Freshmen

The freshman class will choose three men from among Robert Austin, Maurice Furchgott, Frank Gurry, Jinks McNutt, Chris Pappas, and Bill Pryor. Austin is a member of Phi Eta Sigma, highest freshman honorary society on the campus, and has worked on the staffs of the Yellow Jacket and Blue Print. Furchgott played football on the freshman squad. He is an honor roll student and is a member of Phi Eta Sigma. Gurry was captain of the freshman cross country team, and is a member of the track team. McNutt helps edit the Nautilus, official magazine of the Naval Department, and is a band baton twirler. Pappas held the position of secretary and treasurer of the Freshman "Y" Council, is a member of the band, and has worked on the Nautilus staff. Bill Pryor is an honor roll student and is a member of the staff of The TECHNIQUE.

Voting Places

The voting will take place in the class rooms, and there also will be a ballot box in the administration building for those who do not take part in the class room voting.

Co-op Juniors Processed As Privates At Fort McPherson

Last Tuesday the second section of Co-op Juniors (ERC-ROTC) left school to be inducted into the army. These Co-ops, who make up a large part of the first year advanced class of the Ordnance and Signal Corps Units, went to Fort McPherson at the order of the Fourth Service Command. Upon induction, these men received the same type of processing which the regular ERC-Advanced ROTC were given the previous week. Later they returned to the campus with that typical G.I. appearance in full army uniform.

Until June, these Co-ops will pursue their regular schedule at Tech. Then, as explained by the Public Relations Officer of Tech's Military Department, they will be sent to a replacement training center with other Tech men from the ERC.

Late Mail Due To Wrong Box Address-James

Students Urged To Have Letters Marked 'Ga. Tech'

In the past few weeks, many out-of-town letters and packages have been delayed in arriving to the students. This delay has been caused by incorrectly addressed mail. It happens that both the boxes in Atlanta's Post Office and those in the Tech Robbery have similar numbers; and addressed mail without the specification of Georgia Tech before the box number has confused the mail sorters in the city office. All mail intended to go to Tech students, but which does not have Georgia Tech before it, will end up in Atlanta's Post Office for a long period of time, until someone calls for it.

The Tech Post Office clerk has requested that all students as well as the new ASTP men, who have boxes, to advise their relatives and friends to address mail correctly. A great deal of confusion can be avoided in this way. The correct addressed letter should be as follows: George P. Burdell, Georgia Tech P. O. Box 1599, Atlanta, Georgia.

Co-Op Sophomores Give To ODK Fund

Section I of the Co-op sophomore class has donated $21.30 worth of War Bonds and stamps to the ODK Student Union Fund. This was announced on Monday, March 22, by Prof. Fred B. Wenn, faculty advisor of ODK. The donation, which consisted of all the money in the class treasury, was made by Bob McNeill, Secretary of the class. The members of the class are no longer on the Tech campus because they have become eligible for induction, as a result of the ERC ruling of last week.

Yellow Jackets Will Play Notre Dame

Irish Forced To Drop Two Games From Their Schdule Because Of Difficulty In Traveling

Although previous announcements had been made that Notre Dame sought to remove Tech from their '43 schedule, final word came through on Saturday, March 20, that the Yellow Jackets would remain on the Irish's schedule. The game has been set for Oct. 2, and the Jackets will again become guests of the Irish.

Wartime restrictions and travel conditions have forced the men from South Bend to cancel two football games which they had originally intended to play. One of these games was against Stanford out on the west coast, and the other with Southern California scheduled for South Bend. The University of Pittsburgh will replace Stanford for the Sept. 25th game, and Iowa Pre-Flight doubles for Southern Cal on Nov. 20.

The revised schedule subject to government restrictions follows:

- Sept. 25—Notre Dame at Pittsburgh.
- Oct. 2—Georgia Tech at N. D.
- Oct. 9—Notre Dame at Michigan.
- Oct. 16—Notre Dame at Wisconsin.
- Oct. 23—Illinois at N. D.
- Oct. 30—Notre Dame and Navy at Cleveland.
- Nov. 6—Notre Dame and Army at New York.
- Nov. 13—Notre Dame at Northwestern.
- Nov. 20—Iowa Pre-Flight at Notre Dame.
- Nov. 27—Notre Dame and Great Lakes at Chicago.

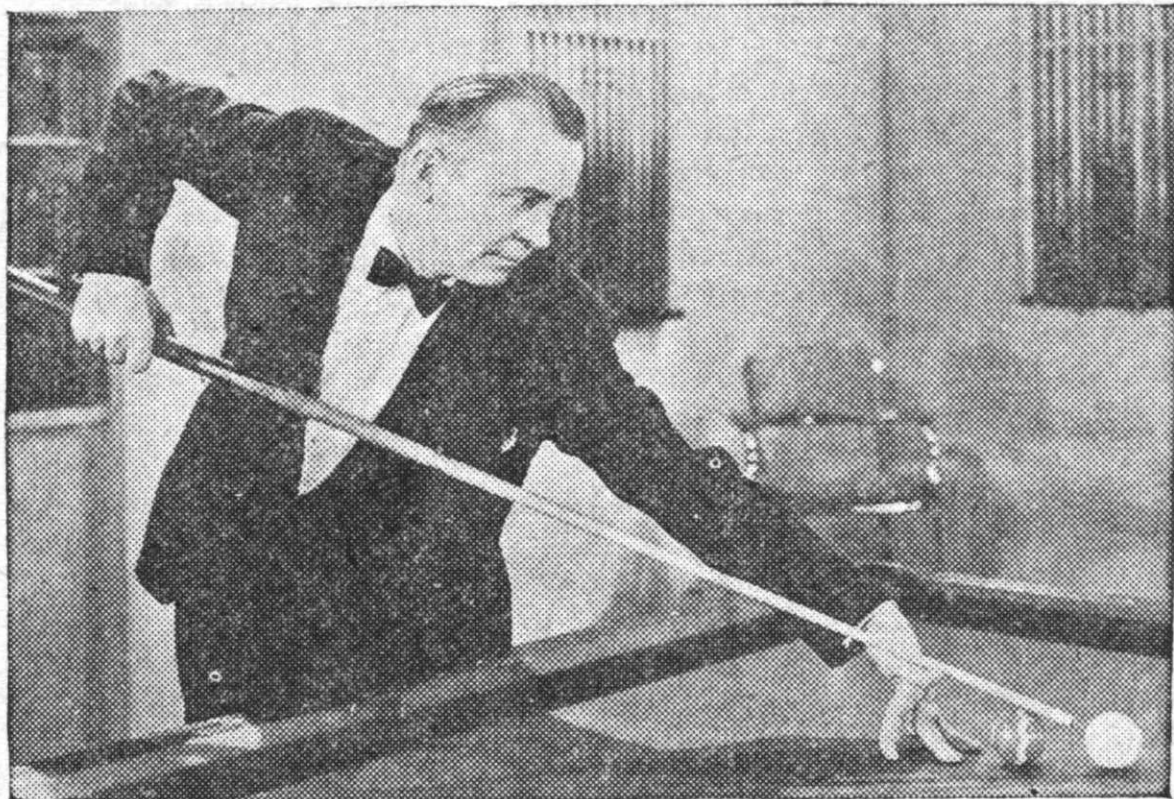

Notice!

The sports staff of the TECHNIQUE is in bad condition as far as talent is concerned. This is your paper and if you are interested in writing, come by the "Y" Tuesday night at 7 o'clock.

Erwin Rudolph, Billiard Expert Gives Exhibition Wednesday

Veteran Of World War Has Won 5 Championships

Erwin Rudolph, one of the greatest pocket billiard players of all time, will perform for the students and faculty in a special exhibition next Wednesday at 4:30 in the Tech "Y" auditorium. Rudolph, a veteran of World War No. 1, during which he spent nine months overseas, has held the world's pocket billiard championship five times, having defeated such wizards as Ralph Greenleaf, Frank Taberski, Willie Mosconi, Irving Crane and others as he battled his way to title heights. During his show next Wednesday Rudolph will give an exhibition of the kind of billiards necessary for world championship skill, he will open his bag of trick shots, and after his solo appearance at the table, he will instruct students in the fundamentals of billiards. Rudolph, in addition to being a great billiard player, is a fine showman and is certain to put on a very interesting show, including an exhibition of trick shots which will more than astound you. Announcements will be made of the time Rudolph will give an additional performance for the soldiers in school.

SPRING IS HERE!... And with it comes the thought of baseball, golf, tennis and other sports. It looks as though the major leagues are going to continue their full schedule. However, the bulk of good young players has been given the nod by their "Uncle."

From the write-ups that appear in the papers on the different teams in training camp, the "St. Looney" Cardinals are again picked to win the National League pennant. "Dem Wonderful Bums," all pepped up over the thought of their peppery manager playing with them, seem to dominate the majority of votes for second place. The Cincinnati "Reds" and New York "Giants" show promise of producing good teams for the coming campaign. Mel Ott, the gentleman who entered major league baseball when he was 17, has a good looking outfit. Moreover, with good manager-ship, of which Ott is very capable, and fair pitching, they will be one of the teams to watch.

The American League won't change. First will be the "Yanks," followed either by the "Red Sox" or—don't hit me—the "Browns." The "Brownies" have an abundance of good young material on hand. If the Army leaves them alone, Joe McCarthy had better keep his eyes open.

SHORT SPORTS... The Southeastern Conference swimming meet, which is usually held here at Tech, has been cancelled. So has the SEC intercollegiate golf tournament that is usually held in "Athens-town." Transportation difficulties!

The tennis team started practicing Monday. Nelson Abell, Bartell's pride and joy, looked exceptionally good for the first day of practice.

We would all like to know what happened to "The Sinkwich's movie careers. Must have flopped—just like his feet!

Dale Morey, LSU's head basketball coach since Harry Rabenhorst was called into the Navy in November, has done many wonderful things for himself since entering "The Old War Skule." He started earning his own money early in life by caddying on his public golf course in Indiana. In high school he was the star of the basketball, track and golf teams. Since he entered LSU, he has played on the varsity golf and basketball teams. He and his golfing pals, Earle Stewart, Ben Downing, Sonny Ellis and others, twice won the SEC team trophy. When he went to the national intercollegiate tournament in '40 and '41, both times he qualified in the championship flight, which is a great honor in itself when taking under consideration that the nation's top golfers are represented in this tournament.

And that is not all: he was picked by Esquire Magazine as one of the ten best dressed men on the nation's college campuses.

Since Rabenhorst was called to duty, Morey took over the responsibility of building a first-rate basketball team for his school. And he did a darn swell job of it, too.

That's all for this week, so Buy, Buy, Buy Bonds!

Reporter Finds Many Students Want Opportunity to Finish

Mock Interviews Reveal Thoughts Of Some of Tech's Leading Students

By Kelder Mertone

Taking under consideration the fact that very few Tech students will be allowed to finish school, the TECHNIQUE planned to take a thorough survey among the students concerning their intentions of returning to school after the war. Here's a few of the answers they would probably receive when the students were asked, "Do you plan to return to Tech after the war?"

Kirk Nesbit: "Yes! I plan to come back and straighten out the politics on the campus."

Bernie Horowitz: "This school has the wrong idea about everything. Now take for an example the social conditions — blah, blah!"

Comer Weaver: "Ha, ha. I think everybody is swell here, especially the nice Juniors, and don't forget to vote for me Monday. Yes, I plan to come back, just to date Martha."

Lloyd Skidmore: "Well, de guys around dis place is awl-right—but I prefers Nawth Ca'lina. I guess I'll kum back an' finish Math 18."

George Backus: "Nope, not me. I want to go to a college where there are some 'wimmen'."

Jimmy Hicks: "Come back—why sure. I want everybody to know that I am a B.M.O.C. How absurd."

"Krisco" Cain: "As long as Bussey is here I'll be here too. Gad, what a woman!"

Bill Young: "You are right!"

Ernest Hungerford: "I couldn't stand another year like those two that I've already undergone. A fellow gets tired of carrying a thing to an excess as I do."

Frank Kone, Jack Webb, Woods Staton, and Marmelstein: "We all want to return and exercise our professional ability to A.K. to a greater extent."

Ed Council: "Nope, I definitely wouldn't return to Tech after the war. These students around here want to have big dance bands for finals and it takes money out of my pocket to get a good band."

Herb Bergman: "I couldn't stand another year around here with all those women clamoring over me. It's too much on the nervous system—and I don't want any of it."

Gordon Lewis: "This is the easiest joint I've ever seen. I guess I'll wander back and let Dr. Brittain give me my diploma."

Pierce Yates: "Yep, I'm coming back. I've spent the best years of my life making a name for myself in the T. E. department. I'm not going to let Wister Gary take it away from me."

"Marty" Van Buren: "I'll come back under one condition, and that is provided they throw the damn TECHNIQUE off the campus and Milton Merts with it." (Ed's note: Why don't you get busy and edit a "Yellow Jacket?" Afraid to show the students some of your corny jokes?)

Scott Kelso: "No, I'm definitely not coming back here. The school places too much emphasis on work and not enough on extra-curricular activities. I want to go to a school where there are wine, women, and song—and a few keys to add to my lengthy chain."

Earl Bohner: "Since I'm the last one to be honored by your interview I'll be frank and tell the truth. I hate this —hole, and furthermore I wouldn't come back here to this corrupt state for all the mules in Missouri."

Buglers Begin, End Sixteen-Hour Day For ASTP Students

That disturbing sound which, a few days ago, began to spoil so many Tech men's peaceful dreams right after they crawled in bed is only the 6:15 first call issuing forth from the loud speakers on Techwood dormitory. This is the beginning of a busy day for Army Specialized Training Unit No. 3408. From Reveille until Taps at 10:30 the soldier's day is unfolded by a series of bugle calls which originate at battalion headquarters. The two amplifiers located on the roof of the dormitory send about fifteen different calls echoing across the campus each day.

The following schedule of calls has been ordered by Colonel Collins, commanding officer. Meals are to be staggered in order to avoid over-crowding the dining hall.

Reveille—6:15.
Physical Drill—6:30.
Mess Call—7:00 and 7:45.
