President's Welcome

Welcome to the 259th Commencement of the Georgia Institute of Technology. On behalf of the entire Georgia Tech community, I extend our greetings to friends, families, and guests gathered here for this significant event, and to those of you participating virtually.

These ceremonies on the Atlanta campus have additional significance. They will bring us back together again after our difficult decision in the spring to cancel Commencement amid the early months of the pandemic. Back then we held an online celebration, and I will never forget delivering my congratulatory remarks in an empty McCamish Pavilion. Since then, we have traveled a long and difficult journey together and, with everyone's help, we have found innovative ways to get the job done and keep Georgia Tech strong.

Like everything we have done this year, these ceremonies will also be different. They are being held outdoors in the middle of December in Bobby Dodd Stadium with a host of safety precautions in place, and with many of our graduates and their families following online. Yet, rain or shine, no matter how cold it may be and how physically distanced we may need to sit, the Georgia Tech community will gather to celebrate the remarkable academic accomplishments of our graduates.

We celebrate the resourcefulness, resilience, and hard work of all 9,330 graduates: 3,800 from fall, 1,290 from summer, and 4,240 who graduated in the spring; bachelor's, master's, and doctoral degrees through our six colleges and 28 schools. Each of them completed their degree in unprecedented circumstances and had the resolve to do whatever needed to be done.

The past few months have been challenging for everyone. Yet Georgia Tech students, faculty, staff, and alumni have met the challenges with resilience, confidence, and a spirit of innovation. They have crafted sophisticated solutions to help us fight the pandemic on campus, in our community, and around the world. From designing new personal protective equipment, to developing and testing therapeutic and diagnostic tools, to analyzing and visualizing complex data to track and slow down the spread of the disease, the Georgia Tech community has stepped up and made a difference.

Over the past year, students, faculty, staff, and Georgia Tech supporters joined together to create a new 10-year strategic plan that we just launched. It is grounded in our commitment to developing leaders who advance technology and improve the human condition and is driven by a set of ambitious goals and bold actions to amplify the impact we have in the world.

As we celebrate these new graduates who are prepared to address some of the world's greatest challenges, it gives me great pride to realize that they have already been doing that.

At the foundation of Georgia Tech's success are our hardworking and incredibly talented students. Their creativity, dedication, and accomplishments are inspiring and should make us all tremendously hopeful about their, and our, future. Thanks also are in order to all the family members and friends who have inspired, guided, and challenged our graduates both before and during their time here at Tech.

Commencement marks the end of an important chapter for these graduates, but it is truly just the beginning as they step into a bright and successful future. We thank you for coming here today, as well as those of you joining virtually, to share this milestone in their lives.

Ángel Cabrera, Ph.D. President

On Sept. 1, 2019, Ángel Cabrera became the 12th president of the Georgia Institute of Technology. Cabrera came to Georgia Tech after serving for seven years as president of George Mason University in Fairfax, Virginia.

A top-10 public research university in the U.S., Georgia Tech has outstanding programs in business, computing, design, engineering, liberal arts, and the sciences. With 40,000 students and more than 170,000 living alumni who work in business, industry, and government throughout the world, Georgia Tech has become internationally recognized for the quality of its educational and research programs.

Under his leadership for the past year, thousands of members of the Georgia Tech community have contributed to a new 10-year strategic plan launched in Fall 2020. The plan is grounded on a new mission statement that reaffirms Tech's commitment to "developing leaders who advance technology and improve the human condition."

He is leading the Institute through one of the most critical times in its history in response to the coronavirus pandemic — internally to prioritize the health and safety of the Tech community and externally to develop innovative solutions to combat the disease.

Under his leadership at George Mason, the university accounted for more than half of all enrollment growth in Virginia, increased student outcomes, and joined the top tier of research universities in the Carnegie Classification. From 2004 to 2012, Cabrera served as president of the Thunderbird School of Global Management, now part of Arizona State University. Prior to that he was dean of IE Business School in Madrid.

As a business educator, Cabrera has played a key role in advancing professional ethics, internationalization, and corporate social responsibility. As a senior advisor to the United Nations Global Compact, in 2007 he was the lead author of the "Principles for Responsible Management Education," now adopted by more than 700 schools around the world. He is also a co-founder of the University Global Coalition, an international network of universities working in partnership with the United Nations in support of the Sustainable Development Goals.

He's been named a "Young Global Leader" by the World Economic Forum, a "Star of Europe" by Bloomberg Businessweek, "Henry Crown Fellow" by the Aspen Institute, and "Great Immigrant" by the Carnegie Corporation of New York. He has received honorary degrees from Miami Dade College and Universidad Politécnica de Madrid.

Cabrera serves on the boards of the National Geographic Society, the Atlanta Committee for Progress, the Bankinter Foundation for Innovation, and the Metro Atlanta Chamber.

Cabrera earned his M.S. and Ph.D. in cognitive psychology from Georgia Tech, which he attended as a Fulbright Scholar. He also holds a B.S. and M.S. in computer and electrical engineering from Universidad Politécnica de Madrid. He has published extensively in academic journals and has been featured or quoted in leading media around the world.

He is married to management scholar and Georgia Tech classmate Elizabeth. Their son Alex is a recent Georgia Tech graduate and currently a Ph.D. student at Carnegie Mellon University. Their daughter Emilia is a senior at Harvard University. Cabrera is the first native of Spain to serve as president of an American university.

Commencement Traditions

THE MACE

In academic ceremonies, the mace is an ornamental staff carried as a symbol of authority. The office of the mace bearer, though purely ornamental, dates back to medieval England when special occasions required the use of a bodyguard. In colonial America, the mace became a symbol of office when it was used in conjunction with academic regalia.

The Georgia Tech mace carried in today's ceremony was designed by Cabell Heyward, a former research scientist in the College of Design, and was first used in April 1988 at the presidential installation of John P. Crecine. The mace was made possible by a gift from the Georgia Tech Student Foundation and the Class of 1934.

The primary focus of the mace is its three brass rods, which demonstrate the principle of "tensegrity," a concept of structure combining tension and integrity developed by R. Buckminster Fuller in 1927. The integrity, or wholeness, of the mace is maintained by each of the rods being held in place by the tension of the steel wire; the rods do not touch one another at any point.

The brass rods symbolize the three primary components of Georgia Tech's mission: education, research, and service. The gold color of the brass and the white color of the steel wire represent Georgia Tech's colors. The mace also incorporates three silver metallic seals, which are reproductions of the official seal of the state of Georgia, the original seal of Georgia Tech, and the current seal of the Institute.

The mace was fabricated by Heyward and Arthur Schoenfeld, another former research scientist in the College of Design, in conjunction with Atlanta jeweler Robert Nagle.

ACADEMIC REGALIA

The academic regalia worn by today's participants is a colorful relic dating back to the Middle Ages, when education was a function of religious organizations. The monks' habit and the cowl worn over their heads were predecessors of the modern black gowns and hoods. The mortarboard was developed from the skullcaps worn during medieval days by churchmen officiating at religious services.

In 1894, American universities standardized gown styles for the three different types of degrees. Doctoral candidates at Georgia Tech wear customized gold regalia with full rounded sleeves, velvet facings on the front, and velvet bars on the sleeves. Hoods are lined in Georgia Tech's colors of white and gold. The doctoral hood is distinguished by its blue trim, which is the color representing philosophy. Doctoral candidates also wear a six-pointed tam in the same blue trim.

Master's degree candidates wear the traditional black gown with full-length square sleeves that have a crescent-shaped piece hanging from each sleeve. The gowns are also adorned with the Georgia Tech seal. The master's hoods are lined in white and gold and are distinguished on the outside by the color of their degree program. Recipients of the bachelor's degree wear a similar black gown, but with no hood and no additional material at the bottom of the sleeves.

Caps used by master's and bachelor's graduates are traditional mortarboards, and tassels are white and gold.

Academic Degrees, Designations, and Programs

ACADEMIC DEGREES

The Bachelor's Degree

The bachelor's degree is the oldest academic degree used by American colleges and universities. The degree, which represents completion of a four-year course of study, was first awarded in 1642 to the graduating class of Harvard College.

The Master's Degree

The master's degree represents the completion of one or two years of study beyond the bachelor's degree. The degree dates back to the oldest universities in Europe, and it usually requires a thesis and an oral examination.

The Doctoral Degree

The doctoral degree is the most advanced academic degree conferred by American institutions of learning. "Doctor," which means teacher or instructor, was used as a title in the 12th century to denote men of great learning.

HONORS QUALIFICATIONS AND CORDS

Honor designations are for undergraduates at Georgia Tech who have met the minimum residency hours requirement of 60 hours, as well as the minimum GPA.

- » To achieve honor, the minimum GPA is 3.15.
- » To achieve high honor, the minimum GPA is 3.35.
- » To achieve highest honor, the minimum GPA is 3.55.

Changes in honor status may also occur after final printing. Georgia Tech issues honor cords to recognize students' academic achievements. White cords denote honor, gold cords denote high honor, and a braided white and gold cord denotes highest honor.

INTERNATIONAL PLAN

The International Plan is a challenging four-year program that works in tandem with an undergraduate's academic curriculum to produce globally competent citizens. The International Plan utilizes existing study, work, and research abroad opportunities available through the Office of International Education and the Center for Career Discovery and Development.

COOPERATIVE PLAN

The Undergraduate Cooperative Education Program is an academic option designed to complement a student's formal education with paid, practical work experience directly related to the student's academic major. It is available in all engineering majors, as well as many majors in other colleges at Georgia Tech.

Ceremony and Traditions

THE RAMBLIN' WRECK

The Ramblin' Wreck is the 1930 Ford Model A Sport coupe that serves as the official mascot. The Wreck is present at all major sporting events and student body functions. Its most noticeable role is leading the football team into Bobby Dodd Stadium at Historic Grant Field, a duty that the Wreck has performed since 1961.

THE WHISTLE

Tech's iconic steam whistle blasts its signal when Tech wins a home football game and for milestone events.

BUZZ

Legendary Tech icon Buzz made his first campus appearance at a student pep rally in 1980. Over the past three decades, Buzz has gone on to become one of the most beloved — and globally recognized — university mascots.

IN MEMORIAM

We recognize the passing of members of the Georgia Tech community with the floral arrangement at the front of the stage.

GUEST DECORUM

You are requested to refrain from loud expressions of excitement for individual graduates. Such expressions detract from the recognition due the next graduate in line. Your cooperation is appreciated.

Colleges and Primary Units of Georgia Tech

COLLEGE OF COMPUTING

Charles Isbell

Dean, College of Computing

The College of Computing and its four schools — Computer Science, Interactive Computing, Computational Science and Engineering, and Cybersecurity and Privacy — push the boundaries of knowledge across the full breadth of modern computing.

The College is a global leader in computing education, through innovations like its much-copied Threads curriculum for undergraduates and its Online Master of Science in Computer Science. OMSCS is the world's first graduate degree program delivered through “massive online” platforms and is the largest master's degree program in CS in the nation. The College is home to multiple interdisciplinary research centers, including the Gvu Center, the Algorithms and Randomness Center, the Center for Novel Research into Computing Hierarchies, the Center for Machine Learning, and the Constellations Center for Equity in Computing. College faculty lead several of Georgia Tech's interdisciplinary research units devoted to such areas as cybersecurity, data science, and people and technology. More than 15,000 students are enrolled in the College, including 3,300 undergraduates and more than 12,000 residential and online graduate students.

Named for former Atlanta Mayor Ivan Allen Jr., the College is internationally recognized for curricula and research in fields such as science and technology policy, digital media and interactive game design, history and sociology of technology, international economics, national security, and modern languages and culture. The College is also the home of Georgia Tech's Army, Navy, and Air Force ROTC units.

COLLEGE OF DESIGN

Steven P. French

Dean, College of Design

Unlike traditional art and design programs, the Georgia Tech College of Design focuses on technologies that enable better design. Then we use the design process to fuse technology with places, products, lifestyles, learning, and healthcare.

Students and faculty in the Schools of Architecture, Building Construction, City and Regional Planning, Industrial Design, and Music develop interactive products, robots, instruments, buildings, environments, and digital experiences.

The College's research initiatives encompass today's most pressing human and built environment issues, from accessibility, sustainability, and smart cities to groundbreaking efforts in spatial analysis and music technology. More than 1,000 graduate and undergraduate students are enrolled in the College of Design. An additional 1,000 students from across campus — representing every major at Georgia Tech — enroll in music courses each semester.

ERNEST SCHELLER JR. COLLEGE OF BUSINESS

COLLEGE OF SCIENCES

Susan Lozier

Dean, College of Sciences

The College of Sciences leads Georgia Tech's charge to create and discover fundamental new knowledge in the sciences and mathematics. Together, Sciences students and faculty boldly explore natural and artificial worlds, not only to reveal and underpin the technologies of tomorrow, but also to advance the quality of human life and elevate the human spirit.

The College nurtures students who are intellectually curious, inspiring them to build for themselves empowering foundations in the natural, mathematical, and behavioral sciences. They are transported to the frontiers of human understanding, and invited to participate in pushing those frontiers forward by undertaking high-impact research in collaboration with world-class faculty in state-of-the-art facilities.

College of Sciences graduates are well honed in thinking critically, testing hypotheses, and engaging with others to unravel complex problems. They draw conclusions, reach decisions, and make judgments about nature through the enthralling interplay of data, reason, and imagination. They are indispensable in ensuring that the basic knowledge pipeline for new technologies is full and flowing.

From exploring the bizarre quantum logic of ultra-cold atoms or the breathtaking grandeur of the stars and the galaxies, to deciphering the billion-year history of Earth's oceans and atmosphere, the origins of life on Earth and elsewhere in the cosmos, or the workings of the human brain, Sciences students embody the value and rewards of scientific curiosity shaped by careful mentoring and deep respect for how much of the world we still must discover and understand.

The Yellow Jackets have won five national championships during their illustrious history (four in football — 1917, 1928, 1952, and 1990; and one in women's tennis — 2007), and made two appearances in the Final Four in men's basketball (1990 and 2004) and three in the College World Series in baseball (1994, 2002, and 2006). Combining a world-class education with top-notch athletics, Georgia Tech has produced 85 Academic All-Americans.

THE ALMA MATER

*Oh, sons of Tech, arise, behold!
The Banner as it reigns supreme,
For from on high the White and Gold
Waves in its triumphant gleam.
The spirit of the cheering throng
Resounds with joy revealing
A brotherhood in praise and song,
In memory of the days gone by.
Oh Scion of the Southland!
In our hearts you shall forever fly.
We cherish thoughts so dear for thee,
Oh, Alma Mater in our prayer.
We plead for you in victory,
And in the victory we share!
But when the battle seems in vain
Our spirits never falter,
We're ever one in joy or pain
And our union is a lasting bond.
Oh! May we be united
Till the victory of life is won.*

THE RAMBLIN' WRECK

*I'm a Ramblin' Wreck from Georgia Tech, and a hell of an engineer
A helluva, helluva, helluva, helluva, hell of an engineer.
Like all the jolly good fellows, I drink my whiskey clear.
I'm a Ramblin' Wreck from Georgia Tech, and a hell of an engineer.*

*Oh! If I had a daughter, sir, I'd dress her in white and gold,
And put her on the campus to cheer the brave and bold.
But if I had a son, sir, I'll tell you what he'd do—
He would yell "To Hell with Georgia" like his daddy used to do.*

*Oh! I wish I had a barrel of rum and sugar three thousand pounds,
A college bell to put it in and a clapper to stir it 'round.
I'd drink to all good fellows who come from far and near.
I'm a Ramblin', Gamblin', hell of an engineer.*
