Google Book Search & LibX

by Annette Bailey - Monday, 27 March 2006, 10:27 AM

There was some discussion at the Google Print/Book Search talk about linking to library catalogs - convincing Google to include links.

LibX places a cue/hint in Google Book Search already - underneath the scan of the book, to the right of the ISBN.

LibX is so useful

I'm giving a presentation to some of the crew at Serials Solutions on highlights of the ER&L conference. LibX is one of them, and I've been using it since the conference (not that I have access to Virginia Tech resources!). 😊

I really like the functionality and building advanced searches with text from the page. When I present today, I'm going to show LibX in action and put out the bait that volunteer developers are wanted. ;)
