STUDENT COUNCIL VOTES FOR QUARTER SYSTEM

FORTY-FIVE STUDENTS REWARDED ON HONOR DAY

Council Unanimous In Passing On Student Petition

TECHNIQUE CAMPAIGN NEARS CLOSE

Faculty Action Only Step Before Adoption Of Plan

The Student Council voted unanimously in favor of the Quarter System of operation at their last meeting, when a representative of The Technique appeared before the governing body with a student petition.

The Council has requested to the Faculty on behalf of the students that the Quarter System be adopted. The Student Council acts for the students. Now it remains only for the faculty to pass on the plan before adoption.

The Technique believing that the Quarter Plan of operation will be more advantageous than the semester basis, started a campaign to this effect early in the year. A petition, voicing the approval of the students, was completed and taken before the Student Council.

Annual Inspection Of R. O. T. C. To Be Held April 8, 9, 10

The annual inspection of the Tech R. O. T. C. units will be held on April 8, 9, 10. The units will be inspected by three officers: Major Duvall of the Coast Artillery Corps, Major Allen of the Infantry, and Lieutenant Colonel Grace of the Signal Corps.

These officers will visit each classroom, witness a review, and make a general inspection of the companies. They may call on the individuals for drill, and the performances of these individuals will largely determine whether Tech's R. O. T. C. units are rated as satisfactory or not.

All the students are asked to cooperate with the Military Department in this inspection, and thereby help Tech gain a distinguished merit.

Technique Editor To Attend Parley At Rollins College

At their meeting last Tuesday the Student Council voted to send Burton Cloud, Editor of the Technique, to Winter Park, Florida to attend the Intercollegiate Parley on Religion and the Modern World during April 19th, 20th and 21st, as representative from Georgia School of Technology.

The conference is planned by an intercollegiate committee of students and faculty assisted by the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America. There is no intention to proselytize and make converts for any particular religious group; the object is to stimulate thought and present information regarding the diverse religious questions and relationship of today. Invitations have been extended to colleges throughout the country to attend.

Cloud will write a series of articles for The Technique on the discussions which will be under the supervision of faculty members of various colleges and universities. These articles will appear immediately after the conference.

Meeting Of Seniors Seeking Positions At "Y" April 9

Secretary Theisen of the Georgia Tech National Alumni Association and Mrs. Askew of the Georgia College Placement Association will meet all Seniors interested in securing positions upon graduation at the Tech Y. M. C. A. auditorium on Tuesday morning, April 9, at 11 o'clock.

The work of the placement office, which is operated jointly by outstanding firms and colleges of this section, will be explained at that time and information blanks will be issued for registration. After these have been returned to the office, data will be compiled and places on file will be filled from applicants. In addition this information will be forwarded to over 1000 of employers of this district for consideration in reference to filling places that may be open. No charge to either students or to these concerns for this service is made.

All seniors who are not certain about a position upon graduation are requested to be present and get applications at that time as it would expedite matters if they wished to apply at a later date.

Business shows signs of decided improvement this year according to Mr. Theisen and more positions have been available than for some time during the past. Representatives from a large number of national organizations have already been on the campus interviewing prospects and still others will send representatives to Tech frequently from now to the middle of May or close of school.

All students are advised by Mr. Theisen and Mrs. Askew to be very careful about registering with any professional employment agency as the fee for this service is often considerable and amounts to as much as one-half of the first months salary besides the registration fee.

Player and Grantham To Represent Tech At Federation Meet

Ward Grantham and Frank Player were elected by the Student Council to represent Georgia Tech at the eighth annual convention of the Southern Federation of College Students which will meet this year at North Carolina State College, Raleigh, N. C. The dates for the convention have not been set as yet but it is likely that April 25th, 26th and 27th will be acceptable to all the schools. Other arrangements are being completed to make this the most successful convention ever held by the federation.

The object of the convention is to discuss the vital problems facing the student governments of the different colleges. Each college representative will take to the convention the solution to many of the problems which other colleges are faced with at the present time, and in this way untold good can be accomplished.

PASS BOOKS

Students wishing to obtain baseball passbooks may do so by presenting receipts for tuition at athletic office.

Herff-Jones Named Official Senior Ring Makers

The Student Council, at its last meeting, took definite action regarding the Standard Georgia Tech Class Ring. An agreement has been entered into with the Herff-Jones Company whereby they will furnish the rings to the Student Council until its product is found to be faulty, or below the standard set by the Student Council. This action has met with very favorable action by the faculty and the Alumni Secretary. A copyright is being applied for by the Student Council in the name of the Georgia School of Technology, to legally protect this property of the school.

This action of the Council will prevent unauthorized companies from the making and promiscuous selling of rings, bearing the name and seal of the Georgia School of Technology, to either unauthorized persons, or to students not having the proper scholastic ratings to possess one. Hereafter all rings must be purchased from the Student Council or their agent, and those desiring a ring must have their record checked in the office before they will be able to get their ring. All graduates desiring rings must get letter from Alumni Secretary stating their eligibility to wear one before ring can be purchased.

DR. BRITTAIN GIVES BARBECUE TO FACULTY

Last Thursday, Dr. Brittain gave a barbecue to the faculty of Georgia Tech. The barbecue, which was held at the country home of Professor Noel, was a faculty meeting and social gathering combined. The regular business was attended to first, after which everyone participated in the social life.

Grand Opera Season In Atlanta Affords Students Opportunity To Take Part

Opera supers are beginning to sign up for work during the coming opera season. Professor P. B. Narmore is in charge of securing the work and he has urged that everyone interested should register by the end of this week.

For the past few years boys from Tech have been used in the opera scenes to take the part of soldiers, slaves, etc. The supers are taken according to the need of the opera; that is, there may be an occasion where the taller and well built boys are needed, and then there may be a necessity for the boys who are not quite so heavy and are of lighter build.

In the selection from the registered list, the graduating seniors will be

FIVE ATLANTA FIRMS TO DISPLAY COLLEGE STYLES

Entertainment To Feature Annual Exhibition

Georgia Tech's annual fashion exhibition, sponsored by Pi Delta Epsilon honorary journalistic fraternity, will open Tuesday, April 9th in the Y. M. C. A. Five Atlanta firms will have on display the latest styles in masculine dress.

Refreshments will be served to all students who attend the show including drinks, ice cream, cigarettes, candy and cake. A program of entertainment has been arranged for Thursday afternoon and will be composed of music by the Tech Dining Hall orchestra, Tech "Y" singers and three acts of entertainment by Atlanta girls.

The firms who have co-operated with Pi Delta Epsilon in making the annual exhibition a success are, George Muse Clothing Company, Zachry, Parks Chambers Company, Florsheim Shoe Company, and Eiseman Clothing Company.

Kent Mack Elected President of Pi Delta Epsilon

Thirteen Men Named

At a recent meeting of Pi Delta Epsilon, National honorary Journalistic fraternity, thirteen new men were taken in and new officers elected. The retiring officers are: Jack Pruitt, President; Burton Cloud, Vice President; Dave Heritage, Secretary; and Charles King, Treasurer.

The incoming officers are: Kent Mack, Jr., President; Ward Grantham, Vice President; Jimmie Thompson, Secretary; and Bill Taylor, Treasurer.

The initiates, who are selected from literary organizations on the campus, consisted of Juniors and Seniors only this year. They are: Bob Alexander, A. L. Smith, R. R. Lett, N. J. Greene, Chuck Dubose, H. I. Neely, Alfred Sturgess, Homer Christian, Ralph Heard, C. L. Renfro, Frank McDonnold, Kenneth Rhodes, and F. S. Batchelor. Sophomores will be considered in the fall of the next school year. Plans were completed for the annual Fashion Show to be held April 9th, 10th, 11th and the forthcoming "Razberry."

Golf Tournament Qualifying-Round Set For April 15, 16

The Georgia Tech Golf Tournament, sponsored by The Technique, will open April 15th and 16th with the qualifying round at Druid Hills. The tournament will be match play and contestants will be placed in flights according to the qualifying round.

For an entrant to be placed in a flight it is necessary to go out to the Druid Hills golf course, who have extended this privilege to Tech students, and shoot the qualifying round on April 15th and 16th. National golf rules will govern the tourney.

The qualifying round score must be mailed or brought to The Technique offices in the basement of the Y. M. C. A. or to the Georgia Tech Y. M. C. A. Pairings will be published in the following issue of The Technique. Contestants paired will be required to arrange the matches with each other. Only the first flight matches will be played off on the Druid Hills course after the qualifying round. The other matches will be held on the Piedmont Park course. Be sure to put your address and phone number on your qualifying score card before it is turned in.

The committee in charge of the tournament is composed of Joe High Williams, Henry D. Anastasas, Burton Cloud, Paul Dorn and Bob Anderson.

VICTORY

Victory. The Student Council's passing on the Quarter System of operation and the request to the faculty that this plan be adopted brings The Technique campaign near to a close. Now it is only necessary for the faculty to pass on the Council's action before the Quarter System will be installed.

The Student Council, the voice of the students, believes in the Quarter Plan. Surely the faculty will not turn down the requests of the students. The Council's decision came after a student petition was presented.

A school cannot operate without students. The student must have some voice in the administration. The Student Council performs this purpose capably. Now it is up to the faculty. LETS HAVE SOME ACTION.

HONOR DAY AND ITS SIGNIFICANCE

There comes a pause in the varied and swiftly moving life of the campus to do honor to those few who have attained the scholastic goal. There are times for the cheering of the master athletes amid the blare of trumpets and the hurrahs of the victory mad multitudes, but there is only a quiet, dignified service in honor of those who have gained the real goal of the college scheme of life.

It is quite in keeping with the significance of the occasion that the affair should be quiet and dignified. And it is very commendable that the school should recognize the efforts of those who go through the school un-honored and unsung by the hoipoli.

The scholarship gold "T" is as coveted honor as the school has to bestow. Its attainment requires the same vigilance and training as the attainment of an athletic "T". Every man cannot be a scholar and every man cannot be an athlete, but there is room for each in the great scheme of affairs and each should be honored in his class.

Merely as a suggestion, it seems that the school should set aside a day, as a great many other schools have done, in which there is great merrymaking and honor done to both athletes and scholars. One great day when all honors and all branches of laurels may be placed on the heads of the great. Let athlete and scholar receive before the student body the honor that he has won and so richly deserved.

THE KEY TO SPIRIT

Collegiate America is today, more than ever, distinguished by school spirit. So enthusiastic is the display of school patriotism that the public has become won over to it, joins in it, expects it, and is disappointed when a college fails to manifest it. Small hope, then for an institution devoid of spirit. Such a school loses the respect of the public, slips in athletics and in campus activities, suffers decreased enrollment, and little by little that college ceases to be one of the ranking schools of the country.

Were these conditions mere possibilities, they would be reason for thought; but, in that they are realities of current history, they are reason for positive action. Tech must improve its spirit!

Colorful and capable cheer leaders, with the extra ton of personality, must be chosen.

The band must take an active part in all cheering programs.

Freshmen must be impressed with observing Tech traditions.

The rooting section must be organized, taught every song and yell in the vocabulary of Tech sportsmanship, instructed to form letters and words in the cheering stands, and be inspired with its duty to cheer.

The administration must cooperate by allowing an hour from classes every week or so for pep meetings.

The athletic association must aid by seating the Tech students opposite the visiting rooters, for no maximum of spirit can be attained under present conditions on Grant Field.

Honorary campus societies wishing their names to be associated with progress must take initiative to supervise parades, invent novel cheering schemes, sponsor bonfires and spirit meetings.

—For spirit lives by expression and by that alone. Left dormant, it will die. To live and expand, it must be asserted and re-asserted, and the more unified its expression, the greater its growth.

By N. D. P. III.

Well, here is another week gone by and still nothing to write about. That is nothing that amounts to anything.

There is one thing however that has been grating on our nerves for months and months, and that is the way we have to dodge and run whenever we get within throwing distance of the academic building. Several freshmen, it couldn't be upperclassmen, have a habit of trying to pick off every student that gets anywhere near with a nice big piece of chalk. Some of them are darn good shots too. But why not throw at trees instead of at some student's unprotected head?

If you have heard this one stop me. One big-hearted fullback went to a class in the commerce building the other day with a bag of "jaw-breakers" and all day suckers. Needless to say a joyful feast was had by all, even the prof, indulged. What we want to know is how anybody recited.

Please forgive us, dear students, for getting you in so much trouble and over such a little thing too. The professor who was mentioned last week in this column is seeking revenge by giving his students quizzes every day. Poor classmates, we sure are glad we don't take that course.

And now it has come to this. Fraternity men fighting over a little basketball game. Such marvelous spirit and manhood displayed in west end manner. Not only one frat or rather one free-for-all, but two took place during the tournament last week. Four different frats had free-for-alls and had to be stopped from murder by onlookers. It certainly seems a shame that men should carry such hatred for each other and display it in such barbaric outbursts, in a modern school like Tech. Well, it doesn't matter. But we sincerely hope that all parties have apologized and are deeply sorry for their actions.

Besides the handsome trophy which went to the winners of the final game there was also a goodly amount of cash. It seems that the treasurers of each chapter, before the final game collected all possible cash to bet on the outcome of the contest. There was something like ten dollars involved, a young fortune, we think. We needn't tell you who won the ten spot.

As Napoleon would say, enough is enough. If you want any more of this stuff you are strange. Look up a good doctor and have your head examined. Oh, river, which is Bulgarian for "nice day."

Haverford, Pa. (By New Student Service.) "You can't print that. Seeing that article in a student paper the public will take it as the official opinion of the college and we can't allow that." This is the argument that keeps many college papers from printing much of anything besides colorless lecture notices and club activities. Such reasoning has also brought the axe down on the head of more than one offending editor.

For this reason the bold-face statement printed in large type above the editorial column of the HAVERFORD NEWS is worthy of notice:

"Editorials in the NEWS do not necessarily represent the opinion of a majority of the undergraduates, faculty or alumni. They are designed instead to arouse intelligent discussion of such Haverford problems as the NEWS believes merit the consideration of those interested in the College. Constructive communications concerning Haverford problems or the conduct of this newspaper, whether favoring or opposing the stand taken by this paper, are welcomed by the editor and will be published on this page."

FOOTBALL AND HER CRITICS

New York, N. Y. (By New Student Service)—Once upon a time the friends and foes of football hung up their axes soon after the last game in November, but that is no longer the case. Football discussion has become a year-around game. Discussion of football policy is just as common these spring days as complaints of coaches that the men are not coming out promptly enough for spring practice.

At Columbia College a constant stream of criticism has poured in on THE ALUMNI NEWS, because of the habitually losing team and lack of enough spectators to fill the stadium. As a result of this complaint THE NEWS proposes that the department throw over the old athletic administration through an athletic committee, composed of an equal number of representative students, alumni and faculty. Athletics ought to be reorganized, unified, given the status of a department and made responsible to the president of the university only. The old system is a vestige of the old days of amateur sports and THE NEWS is undoubtedly right in urging an efficient modern machine if Columbia wishes to hold up her head in commercialized intercollegiate football.

Some students—still much in the minority but an intelligent and aggressive one—are advocating another course that is open. They would abandon the expensive and distracting in-

With BOOKS and AUTHORS

THEY STILL FALL IN LOVE

Jesse Lynch Williams
Scribner's, $2.50

Jesse Lynch Williams, author many college stories and the Pulitzer prize play, Why Marry? has pared a well mixed and fast moving tale of youth, love and laughter. "They Still Fall In Love" to be published by Scribner's at an early date. The story centers around the modern generation of to-day. Love and romance but the "Biological urge" causes the newer generation continue at break-neck speed.

Harrison Cope and Evelyn Meagle start the action moving when the girl wins a bet by kissing young Cope, who is more devoted to his research work than to the weak sex. Mr. Williams has used his witty dialogue to great advantage throughout the book.

Cope was too wrapped up in scientific work to rate a club at college. He didn't care for love, not even to book up with a few million. But when Evelyn Monteagle starts her work then another boy falls hard.

The scenes for "They Still Fall In Love" are laid in country houses on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts, on a college campus, an international banker's private car on a transcontinental train bound for China and California where the real action comes.

Mr. Williams has written a true to life story of fast romance in the present day. In the character of Mr. Monteagle, Evelyn Meagle, and Harrison Cope he has an understanding touch of human nature.

SECRETS OF THE SECOND EMPIRE

The Hon. F. Wellesley
Edited by his son

A review by Phillip Guedalla has edited a complimentary volume "The Palmerston-Gladstone Correspondence," also just published by Harper & Brothers.

The Paris embassy is the stage of Europe; and when the scene is viewed from it is the Second Empire the dramatic simile is quite irrefutable. For that strange interlude nothing if not theatrical. The actor, for whose benefit the whole piece almost appeared to have been written, pervades the scene. His eyes and his big moustache are unforgettable even after the curtain has fallen. He had a leading role too, whose role of Empress was most perfect. For Eugenie was Empress to a degree rarely attempted by hereditary dynasts.

The British ambassador somewhat stepped on to the stage himself and took a turn among the principals. On the stage or off it, he was always near enough to catch their asides and watch their features under the make-up. He has furnished Downing Street with a full chronicle of manners and men in Paris or at Compiègne; and the resultant bundle of letters is a rare addition to our knowledge of this singular age. . . .

It is a highly creditable achievement . . . and the result provides an adequate memorial of a great diplomat as well as a contribution of genuine importance of European history. These letters help it to live again; the cheerful, crowded Court, the slightly incompetent statesman, the lovely Empress, and the dull eyes above the big moustache.

tercollegiate competition in football which so much resembles the national armament races between nations. THE AMHERST STUDENT has proposed that the college abolish intercollegiate football and build up a strong intramural game. At Cornell where an alumni committee is "investigating" the athletic situation, THE SUN asks that these well meaning adults stop worrying about the instability of Cornell teams to win games. THE SUN says that "the situation does not want to be investigated. It wants to be left alone."

From the Commerce Evening School

By ALEX LINDHOLM

The Commerce School has just completed its second quarter with the past week donated to final examinations. The third quarter started March 27th. Dean Sparks announces that the summer term this year will commence July the eighth and run through August the thirty-first. At this session there will be offered courses in accounting systems, public speaking, business ethics, and English literature. There is already a scheduled enrollment of a hundred students and more are expected.

We would like to voice at this time a special welcome to a number of old students who have come back to school for the third quarter. Some of these have not been in classes for several quarters but announce their intentions of remaining at this term.

The completion of the second quarter adds several to our list of graduates. Among these are Miss Mary Cheatham and Alfred Carlsen. We hope, however, that graduation will not necessarily mean that we lose these two splendid students at this time.

Dean Sparks also takes pleasure in announcing that three evening school boys are preparing to stand the C. P. A. examination at a very early date. These are, Horace B. Elliot, President of the Senior Class; H. E. Kitchens, and T. M. (Ted) McClelland. We wish these gentlemen the best of luck and feel sure that they will do credit to the evening school.

Kappa Chapter of Delta Sigma Pi held its first initiation of 1928 on the evening of March 23rd, at which time eight pledges were initiated into membership. The following night a formal ceremony was held at the Henry Grady Hotel followed by a dinner and several speeches.

The speaker of the occasion was Mr. H. G. Wright, National Secretary and Treasurer of the organization. Kappa Chapter feels highly honored by Mr. Wright's presence and extends a hearty invitation for him to return.

We are adding, or rather resuming, an old course this quarter in Real Estate under Professor Holmes. This course was offered some time ago but was discontinued. We feel that its resumption will add no little value to the courses given the third quarter.

This department is in receipt of an inquiry as to the meaning of the word "reprehensible." Professing to no such heights of knowledge we would like to direct our inquirer to Mr. "Red" Kimberley who has advised us that he has a complete definition of the term.

We would like to state that this column is conducted for the evening school and to its interests, and that any contributions or comments are welcome.

Raccoon Coats No Longer Collegiate

New "collegiate" styles rule against the raccoon coat, baggy trousers and tattered felt hat, reads an article in the current issue of "Time, The Weekly News Magazine."

These were the sacerdotal vestments of the initiate "collegian." But last week, "Time" reports, Princeton's witty and learned Dean Christian Gauss hailed the passing of the coonskin. Said he: 'Undergraduates who wear coonskin coats now are not nearly so jaunty about as they used to be; they are quite properly a little shamefaced. Their rakish enduements are relics of the past age of collegiatism. Students now wear them for lack of polo coats or Chesterfields which are velvet-collared black or dark blue coats.'

"Since 'collegiate' and its derivatives seemed to need a definition, Dean Gauss ventured: 'To me it (collegiate) means nonsense, fiddle-faddle, sumptuous social immaturity complicated sometimes but not always by acute class consciousness.'"

"On Trial For Life"

Mary Dugan was a member of the "Follies," and was known professionally as "Mona Tree." Her youth and beauty made her popular. She was sought after by wealthy men, who gave her motor cars, furs, jewels and expensive apartments.

Edgar Rice, a prominent banker, married and highly respected in financial and social circles, became acquainted with Mary, and a few nights later the stage-door man at the theater where she was appearing in a musical comedy, sent word to her dressing room that her new car was outside. Mary was astonished to find a Rolls Royce, with her initials in gold on the panels.

A chauffeur drove her to the exclusive Park Garden apartments. Here, an elevator man handed her a key and took her to one of the floors above. Entering, she found a magnificent suite, sumptuously furnished. During the play, all her things had been moved over to the new address. In the dining-room, softly lighted, a table was set for two. Champagne was being chilled in an ice-filled cooler. Mr. Rice, in evening dress, sat at the table, waiting, with a quizzical smile on his lips. After the butler had left the room, he asked: "Do you like it, Mona?" And Mary Dugan, being thoroughly human, nodded yes.

One night, a year or so later, Rice was taken suddenly ill during the night. Mary wanted to call a doctor, but the banker, fearing exposure, asked her instead to run to the drugstore on the corner for some medicine. Mary threw a sable coat over her nightgown and slippers, and hurried out of the apartment. The drug-store was closed. She hastened back, determined to summon a physician. Upon reaching her apartment, she stood aghast. Rice lay on the floor, face downward. From his back protruded the handle of a sharp paper-knife. She pulled it out as she sank on her knees and took his head in her lap. Her efforts were futile. His eyes were glazed. He was dead.

Somehow, Mary phoned the police. They came. They photographed everything, including her blood-stained body. Her finger-prints were found on the handle of the knife. Mary claimed they were left there when she withdrew the knife from Rice's body. The police claimed they were made when she stabbed him in the back.

She was arrested and charged with the crime. It was a sensational case. The girl was young and beautiful, the man rich, influential and married. Mary Dugan was brought to trial.

Word reached Mary's young brother, Jimmy, out in California. He rushed to her aid. Hurling himself into the courtroom, he seized his troubled sister in his arms and assured her of his protection. A quarrel with her lawyer, resulted in Jimmy taking over his sister's defense—his first case as a young lawyer. To his utter astonishment and horror, he found, during her examination, that she had raised and educated him with the money paid her by her wealthy lovers.

"The Trial of Mary Dugan" will come to the Erlanger theater for an engagement of one week beginning Monday night, April 8th.

Tech Freshman Has Song Published

When man bites dog it is news, but when an engineer writes a song hit it is a sensation. Nick E. Chotas, 19 year old Architecture freshman has had his love lyric "Memories of You" accepted by the New York music house of Kendis, Samuel and Gusman.

This is Nick's first song and upon its favorable reception depends any future composing by him; music being only an avocation to him as he intends to practice architecture. However Nick says he has in his mind a song which he will dedicate to Tech.

The lyric "Memories of You" was written jointly by his sisters, Miss Daisy Chotas, secretary to the Greek consul in Atlanta, and Miss Helen Chotas, a senior at the Girls' High school. Nick composed the song about eight months ago, but as ever has been the fortune of genius his composition was rejected by more than a dozen publishers before its merit was appreciated. It is a distinctly modern love waltz and is printed in standard sheet-music form.

Nick received his first musical training during a two year visit with his family in Greece. He has since studied in Atlanta, and was actively engaged in the Boys' High Concert Orchestra, playing violin and 'cello. He is a member of the Tech Chorus.

Dictaphone Helps Taught In Annual Visit Of Expert

On March 26, Mrs. Lester of the Training Department of the Dictaphone Company made her annual visit to Tech. Mrs. Lester's object on such visits is to instruct the boys in the proper use of the Dictaphone not merely as operators, but also as future executives. She also gave some very important reasons for the use of the Dictaphone as regards efficiency and economy, both in time and in labor.

Stumpy's Bear Robs Crowley Of Pants

Tree Climb Proves Disastrous To Sophomore

Thursday afternoon Stumpy and his now famous bear had callers. Jim Crowley was trying to get the bear to show off for the company and ran to a tree in the yard which had been topped and started climbing it, hoping to induce the bear to climb. The bear, naturally, caught the idea but he also caught Jim part the way up the tree.

Jim thought the idea of being up a tree trunk which had no limbs on which he might retreat not so good, but he thought the idea of backing down into the mouth of the bear not even that good, so he proceeded to ascend the tree with unbelievable facility, followed closely by the bear. Upon the abbreviated crown of the tree Jim jumped from side to side, the menacing paw of bruin making lightning-like passes at him and frequently engaging with his breeches. There Jim pranced and dodged and screamed, and there hung the bear, growling and making pieces of breeches rain down like feathers at a pillow fight.

Presently the bear, becoming tired of holding on with three feet, descended to the ground, settled himself at the base of the tree and played possum. Jim watched for an opportune moment and commenced descending. When he got about half way down, the bear suddenly sprang up the tree and Jim climbed in a few jumps back to his perch at the top of the tree.

After going through this procedure several times, someone managed to get the bear to playing on the other side of the yard and Jim quickly slid down the tree and made for the safety of his room, vowing to never again try to make the bear show off.

TECH FENCING TEAM TO ENTER SOUTHEASTERN MEET IN APRIL

FOILS TOURNEY AT COLUMBIA, S. C., APRIL, 25, 26, AND 27th

Two Teams Will Be Sent From Georgia Tech To Compete In Tournament

With the Fencing tournament to be held April 25, 26 and 27, at Columbia, S. C. nearing, the Georgia Tech R. O. T. C. Fencing club is working even more fervidly than ever to put across a winning team. In this match contesting teams will probably be sent from South Carolina university, The Citadel, College of Charleston and some other southern institutions.

Two teams will be sent from Tech, three to a team and one substitute each. One of the teams will enter the foils match, the other the epee (pronounced apay). In both cases each member of each team will meet the three contestants of the opposing team in one match apiece and the highest number of games won by a team gives it the title.

Such a fencing match is fought on a mat one yard wide and ten yards long. With the foil points are made only when the foe is touched on a spot above the waist and below the neck or on the arm above midway. It is necessary for the opponents to remain on the mat and if one steps off a foul is counted. If the same one steps off three times he loses a point to his opponent. With the

Swimmers Engage Gators Here

Hard Contest Between Old Rivals Anticipated

Georgia Tech's swimming squad which has been idle for the last two weeks, takes to the water again tomorrow against the Florida Gators. Tech's team has been fairly successful this year, with two defeats and two wins to their credit. However they have not been defeated in Southern circles. Florida sends a strong squad of paddlers to meet the Yellow Jackets, boasting such stars as Jack Hall, Ray Carter Sawyer and a few other outstanding Florida swimmers. Tech has a well balanced team with such proven stars as Joe Holleman, Dick McKinstry, Buster Harris and Uriah Hagerty. The winner of this meet will probably be the winner of the Southern title and the Techsters are not to be denied. The Tech swimmers and their events will read something like this:

- 100 yd. dash—Holleman and McKinstry.
- 220 yd. dash—Holleman and Hagerty.
- 50 yd. dash—McKinstry and Cubbage.
- 100 yd. back stroke—Hagerty and Simpkin.
- 100 yd. breast stroke—Harris and House.
- Diving—Harris and Maier.
- Relay—Holleman, McKinstry, Cubbage and Scrutchin.

epee a point is scored if any part of the body is touched.

Infantry Wins R. O. T. C. Track And Field Meet

COAST ARTILLERY TAKES SECOND PLACE AS NAVY FINISHES THIRD

Graydon, Infantry Star, Led Field In Individual Scoring

The Infantry unit track team, last year's champions, had an easy time winning the annual track and field meet sponsored by the R. O. T. C. of Georgia Tech Saturday afternoon on Grant Field.

The Infantry copped first place in 10 out of the 13 events, and ran up a total of 75 points to their nearest rival's 32. The Coast Artillery came second, while the Navy finished in third place with 19 counters. The Ordnance, Signal Corps and the Air Corps failed to win a single place.

Douglass Graydon, Infantry star, led the field in individual scoring honors with a total of 21 points to his credit. Graydon won first place in the 100-yard dash, the shot-put, the broad jump and the javelin; and placed third in the discus throw, and was a member of the winning relay team.

Medals will be awarded the first, second and third place winners, while a large trophy will be presented the Infantry unit.

The summary:

- 100-Yard Dash—Won by Graydon (I.); second, Weatherford (C. A.); third, Barron (I.) Time, 10.2 seconds.
- 220-Yard Dash—Won by LaForge (I.); second, Weatherford (C. A.); third, Witmyer (I.) Time, 23 1-5 seconds.
- 440-Yard Dash—Won by LaForge (I.); second, Saks (C. A.); third, Hanneit (N.) Time, 53 seconds.
- 880-Yard Dash—Won by Patridge (N.); second, Ashby (C. A.); third, Coker (C. A.) Time, 2 minutes 9 seconds.
- Pole Vault—Won by DeJarnette (C. A.) second, Jones (I.); third, Camp (C. A.) Height, 10 feet 7 inches.
- High Jump—Won by Boston (I.); second, Hudson (N.); third, Daniels (N.) Height, 5 feet 6 inches.
- Discus—Won by Weatherford (C. A.); second, Pike (N.); third, Graydon (I.) Distance, 99 feet 9 inches.
- Shotput—Won by Graydon (I.); second, Huntsinger (I.); third, Weatherford (C. A.) Distance, 35 feet 3 inches.
- Broad Jump—Won by Graydon (I.); second, Barron (I.); third, Saks (C. A.) Distance, 20 feet 10 1-2 inches.
- Javelin—Won by Graydon (I.); second, Jones (I.); third, Hale (C. A.) Distance, 178 feet 1 inch.

Greeks to Hold Track Meet Saturday

Sponsored By Spiked Shoe Society

The Interfraternity track meet will be held on Grant Field, Saturday, April 6th, at 2:30 P. M. This meet is an annual affair sponsored by the Spiked Shoe Society for the purpose of building up an interest in track and in finding new track men.

The following events will be run off in the order named: high hurdles (trials), 100 yard dash (trials), mile, 440, 100 finals, high hurdles (finals), 880, 220 (trials), low hurdles (trials), 880, 220 (finals), low hurdles (finals), 1/2 mile relay (each man runs 220 yards).

The following field events will also be held; high jump, pole vault, broad jump, discus, javelin, and shot put.

The first four men to finish each event will score points for their fraternities: 5 points for first place, 3 points for second place, 2 points for third place and 1 point for fourth place.

The fraternity scoring the most points will be given a silver plaque. All men are eligible except track and cross-country letter and numeral men who were awarded letters or numerals previous to this school year.

Tornado In Scrimmage All Next Week

Captain Rusk Is On LaCrosse Team

The Golden Tornado has started real scrimmage at last, Tuesday was the opening day. The warriors have been going through extensive workouts for the last four weeks, these workouts being both physical and mental. At last the scrimmage period has arrived and things seem to cheer up a little. One gets tired of daily grinds without a scrimmage to make the afternoon a success.

The greatest problem facing the local mentors is the line. Last year saw the going of Captain Peter Pund, Frank Waddey, Kenneth Thrash and Raleigh Drennon. These boys will certainly be missed. Alexander will try to build around the remaining linesmen who played in the Rose Bowl (Continued on Page 7)

Anderson, Petrels Second Baseman, Outstanding Star Of Series

Coach "Kid" Clay's Yellow Jackets nine received their first set back of the 1929 season last Saturday afternoon when the Oglethorpe Petrels staged a ninth inning rally to win the ball game by a 5-4 count. The Jackets led the way up to the final frame but were passed in the last frame. Coach Clay's charges tried desperately in their last time at the bat but were smothered before anything successful resulted.

On Friday afternoon the Jackets tied the Petrels in the opening class of the season, after exhibiting a good brand of ball playing through the entire affair. And they did no less in Saturday's game, the Jackets knew their ball, but so did Oglethorpe.

Baseball Squad Meets First Conference Rival

Loss Of Frank Waddey And Arthur McCash Felt

The Golden Tornado baseball squad meets its first Conference rival this week-end, when they trek down to the land of sunshine for their annual frays with the Florida 'Gators, the games being played in Gainesville, today and tomorrow. The Conference record of the Jackets is not marred by their defeat by the Oglethorpe Petrels last week, since the Birds are not in the Conference.

The Florida outfit displayed a hard-hitting combination last year, so the Techsters will have a hard job cut out for them in these games. These two games are the only struggles scheduled between the two schools.

Following the Florida games, the Jackets will return to the Flats in order to prepare for the invasion of the Clemson Tigers who arrive in Atlanta for games next Friday and Saturday.

Tech seems to feel the loss of Waddey and McCash, last year's fence busting combination, and the pitching situation is not as bright as last year. However, Coach Clay is very optimistic concerning the progress of his team, and looks forward to a successful season.

MILITARY-FACULTY KOLUMN

Open For Those Who Wish To Speak By The Sport Editor

The students of this famous institution of learning are to be ravished again. Yesterday we received notice of the coming Army-Navy vs. Faculty Baseball Game to be played on Memorial Day at Clay Field.

A small amount will be charged for admission and the proceeds of the coming annual clash will be used for the support of the Genz Trust Fund in memory of Professor Genz, who passed away late in February.

Personally, this is one game we have been looking forward to this year. Captain Robinson, Army-Navy manager, was interviewed yesterday regarding the game and declared he was willing to accept, providing the city's lineup supply be canvassed and if found sufficient, he would accept the challenge immediately, since he expected to triumph in the first five innings.

Faculty practice has been temporarily suspended upon announcement from Military headquarters that their team had not been called into the field. "We feel," declared Roy Mundorff, Faculty manager, Wednesday night, "that it will be useless for us to waste any more of our valuable time practicing since the Military team has not taken the game seriously enough to try and place the best team available in the field."

Reporters were unable to locate Captain Robinson, Military manager and whether or not he will defend himself is not known, but it has been rumored that he has retained Colonel Pearce as legal adviser.

Sporting Goods Dealer, Atlanta, Georgia. Car load baseball supplies expressed today from nearest branch via Shovem Pacific Railroad. Should arrive in time for Military-Faculty game. Representative en route.

Lame Bros. Sporting Goods Mfg. Co.

We received no telegrams or letters on this game yesterday, but with the announcement, it is likely that numerous communications will be forthcoming from now on until the day of the game.

Rambling and Rumbling

By Hank

We are feeling pretty darn irritated and disgusted. The Oglethorpe Petrels took the City Championship in the final game Saturday, 5 to 4, in the last of the ninth and it hardly seems humanly possible that such a heartbreaking streak can continue. These here Jackets of ours, fellows, went mad with the heat Saturday and acted like former Kaiser Bill Hohenzollern. He was the man who made more errors, we believe, than any other human since Eve and the Snake pulled the first boneheaded play in the Garden of Eden. Say, lets change the subject, at that, and talk about the Garden of Eden, a while.

Honestly, now, fellows, we don't care to discuss the Oglethorpe-Tech baseball series. We'll bet there were some swell baseball diamonds in Eden, don't you? Nice, smooth infields, with streams of cool, running water, flowing past first and third bases, soft grassed outfields with great shade trees casting comforting shadows over the heads of the fielders, and the umpires used to call 'em right in those days, too. That was way back when the first accident happened in baseball. Pitcher Cain hitting his brother, Abel on the bean with his fast ball, high and over the inside corner, and laying poor old Abel, who was a swell sacrifice hitter, out cold.

Eve used to play in the outfield and she showed great form, too, we are told. She could hit that old apple; knocked one right off the tree. We understand she was chased out of the park with Manager Adam and then Eden, with the spirit and attendance falling off steadily, similar, only much worse, to Georgia Techs student body, lost its hold in the race, and got out of the conference struggle.

What's that? How come? Say which? You really would like to read about the ball game with Oglethorpe Saturday? Oh, Spare Muh, Spare Muh! Well, we forgot now who it was who first sang that sweet ball song that "To err is human; to forgive divine." But if it's the truth, then we regret to state that some of our Jacket pals sure were human, with a capital H—Saturday.

Our dear mother had high hopes when we were a small little boy of making an Episcopal bishop out of us. Had she succeeded we might be a divine now, so to speak, but we disappointed her grievously, and so being far from divinity we dunno whether we'll forgive these bloomin' bums of ours, or not. Honest now fellows, that Shakespeare comedy of errors Saturday was so fierce that before the game was over it ceased to be tragic and one of the most laughable farces we ever witnessed.

We just let our feelings have full sway, until we reached the point where every time one of our boys kicked the old apple around we luffed and luffed as if we were listening to Al Jolson. We guess every ball team has its off days. At least we never knew a team that didn't. Saturday was one of those off days for the Yellow Jackets. They pounded the onion to every corner of the park. They massed seven base hits but their poor old fingers were all thumbs, and their brain cells were not working like our one brain cell works some weeks when we try vainly to write something that we hope will please you, only to fail miserably to locate the words we need.

Fellows, today and tomorrow, we have a hunch our boys will go out there and knock Florida Gators for a row of South American humming birds.

"To err is human, to forgive divine." Shucks, guess we'll get a wee bit divine. We forgive you, you bunch of future engineers, but don't ever do it again or we are going to move to Georgia University, quit this Technique staff and open a hand laundry, all by our own self.

Georgia Tech's student-sport world is about to embark upon another venture which promises much in return. It is the coming Golf Tournament sponsored by THE TECHNIQUE the middle of April. Golf tournaments are not hatched up and arranged overnight. Not the kind sponsored by THE TECHNIQUE. In bringing this tournament to Georgia Tech, THE TECHNIQUE has offered all students an opportunity to enter some form of athletic competition during their collegiate careers. The tournament was not arranged exclusively for certain players. Not at all. It is Georgia Tech's tournament. Every student is invited to enter. All students are invited to witness the play.

The response to THE TECHNIQUE's invitation will largely determine Georgia Tech's sportsmanship. There is no fee to be paid, no obligation of any kind to those who enter the tournament, no admission charged to those who witness the play. Of course not. It is an open sporting event, open to both student spectators and student participants. Come fellows, send in your applications.

This particular fellow entered the spacious editorial room of THE TECHNIQUE last week and asked for a try-out on the staff. And we questioned him, us and Burton Cloud, and he knew a lot of things but we had our chief, Burton, throw him out when he declared that he knew Babe Ruth when she was a chorus girl. Whoops!

Some clever fellow (with sense of humor) sent us a postcard last week suggesting that we drown our own self in the bathing pool at Piedmont Park. Fine suggestion old topper, but that would make it appear that we were in favor of bathing, whereas we are opposed to it, particularly in early spring.

Delta Sigma Phi Wins Inter-Frat Basketball Tournament

Defeat Of S. A. E. In Fast Tilt By Score Of 18 To 17

The Interfraternity basketball championship of Georgia Tech was won by the Delta Sigma Phi five last Friday afternoon when they quelled the Sigma Alpha Epsilon quintet by a 18-17 score. The Delta Sig team led all the way until the closing minute of play when Reed of the losers sank a long shot to make the count 17-16 for the S. A. E.'s. However, Herrin of the D. S. P.'s promptly retaliated by dropping in the winning goal from the middle of the court. The guarding of the winner was too much for the S. A. E. basketeers throughout the game and their former stars were unable to get started. The score at the half was 11-5 in favor of the victors, and after the intermission the S. A. E.'s gradually crept up until they were within 2 points of leading. The Delta Sigs then started freezing the ball until the final whistle blew.

The guarding of the Champs was a feature, especially the work of Sullivan and O'Neal. Herrin played a nice floor game in addition to shooting the winning goal and 4 other points. Harris was the high point man for the S. A. E. men and also played a good defensive game.

Tidesmen Wallop Tech In Golf Match

Second Straight Defeat For Jacket Team

Georgia Tech's golf team went down to defeat last Saturday at the hands of the Alabama Tidesmen, the score being 14 1-2 to 3 1-2. The match was played over the beautiful Shades Valley Country Club course, and the weather was ideal for golf. The scores were rather high, though, none of them being anywhere near par.

In the first foursome, Scott Hudson playing number one for Tech, was pitted against Harry Pritchett for Alabama, and Irvin, number two, played Perry. Things were breaking pretty even for the first three holes, Pritchett being one under par and Hudson being exactly even with the old man. From then on though, the boys from 'Bama began to draw away from the Jackets. Pritchett went one up on Hudson at no four, and Perry made it two up when he won number five. The first nine ended with the Tidesmen three up. The back nine was even, Hudson losing his match to Pritchett while Irvin defeated Perry three up.

In the second foursome, Charlie Brumby and John Leach, playing three and four for Tech, were paired against Shipp and Barfield, of Ala-

Conquering the Cascades

SNOW falls every month in the year where the Great Northern crosses the Cascades. Steep, tortuous grades increase the difficulty of the railroading problem. Nature has stubbornly resisted man's effort to conquer the range.

In January, 1929, the new Cascade tunnel was opened. Man, with electricity as an ally, had conquered the Cascades.

The eight-mile bore was driven in three years—a record impossible without electric power. And electrification has been extended to the entire 75-mile route through the mountains.

The conquests of electricity on the land and on the sea, in the air, and underground, are making practicable the impossibilities of yesterday. As our vision encompasses wider horizons, electricity appears as a vital contribution to future industrial progress and human welfare.

Beta Kappa To Be Installed April 21-22

The youngest local fraternity on the Tech campus will be installed on April 21-22 as Alpha Gamma chapter of Beta Kappa fraternity. The local, Chi Beta Sigma, was formed with the idea of petitioning of Beta Kappa, which is one of the very strongest of the younger national fraternities. Beta Kappa was founded in 1901 on the Hamline University campus at St. Paul, Minnesota. The fraternity has steadily grown in all parts of the U. S., until at present, it is composed of twenty-six chapters with Chi Beta Sigma becoming the twenty-seventh. Beta Kappa has three chapters in the South; one at the University of Virginia, one at Alabama Polytechnic Institute (Auburn) and one at Birmingham-Southern, with still another to be installed at Mississippi A. & M. shortly after Alpha Gamma. In 1928 Beta Kappa became a senior member of the national Inter-fraternity Conference.

Alpha Gamma chapter will be installed by Sigma chapter from Auburn with several of the officials of Beta Kappa in attendance at the time of the ceremonies. Prominent among these officials will be the Grand Arkon, of Beta Kappa, Dr. Henry W. Church of Allegheny College, Meadville, Penn. He will be very cordially received by the many friends that he made while here on a short visit in December 1927.

The installation of this new chapter of Beta Kappa will be brought to a close with a formal banquet at the Atlanta Biltmore on the evening of April 22. The chapter will entertain later, on May 17, with a formal dance in celebration of the event.

Chi Beta Sigma had its beginning on March third 1927 as Quota Club. On December 4, 1927, the Tech Inter-fraternity Council accepted the petition and passed a resolution allowing the Quota Club to become Chi Beta Sigma, a local fraternity on the Tech Campus. On the 29th of October the local presented its petition to Beta Kappa. On January 4th this petition was accepted. Very recently the dates for installation of their new chapter were set. The chapter, which has its house at 113 North Avenue N. W., is fast becoming firmly established on the Tech campus. Last year the chapter led the twenty-three Greek letter fraternities on the Tech campus in scholarship.

At The Theaters Next Week

HOWARD

The Management of the Howard invites you to make whoopee and more whoopee next week because Clara Bow is starring in a picture which displays all her "whoopie making" ability.

Clara Bow's latest and first talking picture, "The Wild Party," is a vivacious story of carefree youth from the pen of Warner Fabian, author of "Flaming Youth," which meteorically flashed her into fame.

On the stage, The Prince of Personality, Al Short directing the Howard Stage Band in an Emmett Rogers Production, "Clever Cover Capers," featuring the Reade Girls.

METROPOLITAN

Colleen Moore in "Why Be Good" with Neil Hamilton as leading man will be shown at the Metropolitan next week. This is her greatest picture and is the hottest thing since "Flaming Youth." This is a sound picture but with no talk.

Colleen shows you in this the jazziest, most modern picture in many a moon, answering the question; does it pay to be good or is it better to be bad? Don't miss it!

This is the third week of the stage show which has proven very popular with the audience. Next week will be no exception.

On the stage next week will appear Chief Shee-Noo. "The Indian Bard" and Nellie Sullivan's girls in Broadway's Indian Dance.

GRAND

Leatrice Joy plays the leading role in the murder mystery filmization of "The Bellamy Trial," the picture which opens at the Grand Theater the week of April the 8th.

The stellar cast supporting Miss Joy includes George Barraud, Kenneth Thompson, Margaret Livingston, Betty Bronson and many others.

OGLETHORPE COPS CITY TITLE

In Saturday's affair, Tech started the scoring in the first frame when Red Terrell tripled to deep right, and scored on Warner Mizell's single. The Gold and Black of Oglethorpe kept slugging at Quinn's slow curve, but couldn't break the ice until the fourth when a single by Anderson produced a score when Frink let the ball get by, and Kimbrell socked an infield hit.

Things rocked on until the seventh, and the Hutchison, batting for Tom Jones, let one fly deep into center, Issacs hit for Frink, and both Jackets were safe when Anderson played with the ball. Dunlap made an easy out and with two away, Quinn smaked a beautiful Texas leager that scored Hutchison and Issacs. Martin booted Smith's grounder and Quinn stole two bases to cross the platter and bring the Jackets three runs ahead.

Oglethorpe dropped that inning without anything resulting but then came the ninth and the Waterloo for the Jackets. Goldin drew a base on balls, and then Thompson got to first and moved Goldin on to the second sack. Then Issacs threw a hot one to Red Terrell and it proved to be a little too hot to hold. Quinn attempting to catch Martin off, hurled the ball to center field and both Petrels advanced and set the stage for a four base knocker by Frank Anderson that won the ball game for Oglethorpe.

Tech tried hard to rally in the last half of the ninth but it was all in despair and the Petrels won 5-4.

Meyer studio to give Monta Bell, the director, some advise on court procedure, declared that the radio equipment in the cinema courtroom was not at all out of place and would probably become a part of courtroom equipment in the near future.

The film, "The Doctor's Secret," a Paramount all-talking picture, comes to the Grand as the feature for the three days beginning Thursday the 11th.

H. B. Warner, a well known English actor, plays the important role as the husband of Ruth Chatterton. Among the excellent cast supporting the stars are John Loder and Robert Edeson.

RIALTO

On Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday of next week "Red Lips" with Charles "Buddy" Rogers and Marion Nixon will be shown at the Rialto. This picture portrays a new side of collegiate life in vivid colors, but with rare understanding. Also during the first three days will be shown the Sharkey-Stribling fight.

On Thursday, Friday, Saturday of the same week "Convoy" will be shown. Dorothy MacKaill, Lowell Sherman, Lawrence Gray, Buster Collier, Jr., and Joan Keith head an impressive cast.

This picture unfolds the dramatic tale of the Navy's part in the World War and is being talked about in New York as the "Big Parade of the Navy." Actual scenes of the Battle of the North Sea between the combined American and British battle squadrons and the German Grand fleet constitutes one of the many highlights of the story.

To give everybody a chance to see the great picture, "Broadway Melody" the Capital management has decided to show the picture another week. The theater was packed every hour last week without having a stage show, but next week "Blackstone" the worlds greatest magician presents America's Wonder Show on the stage. The stage show is a combination of magic, mystery, illusion and comedy. This is the show, too, where the unbelievable is done right before your eyes.

Texas Guinan in "Queen of the Night Clubs" will be the picture at the Georgia for the coming week. Texas Guinan gives one at the most authentic characterizations yet to reach the talking screen which gives so true a portrayal of a night club impressario, because she is simply being herself in the atmosphere in which she is familiar.

On the stage the following acts will be given:

Jack Pepper in "Southern Entertainer."

Koran in "Crystal Sue Supreme." Swift Sisters and Scott, featuring snappy "songs and steps."

Clifford and Marion in "Just Dumb."

PAUSE AND REFRESH YOURSELF

THE FELLOW THAT SHOUTS, "KILL THE UMPIRE," LOUDEST, USUALLY WOULDN'T HURT A FLEA. ORDINARILY HE'S JUST GOTTEN ALL HOT AND BOTHERED AND NEEDS NOTHING SO MUCH AS AN ICE-COLD COCA-COLA AND THE PAUSE THAT REFRESHES.

Millions have found that this pure drink of natural flavors, with its delicious taste and cool after-sense of refreshment, makes a little minute long enough for a big rest. The one who pauses to refresh himself laughs at the overheated fellow.

Sunday the bunnies gamboled upon the green and the new suits had just the same influence as the moon usually has. Those flimsy dresses that the fair damsels wore, too helped in the new art of love making or would it be more proper to say mugging in this new age of what have you. But Easter was nevertheless a most beautiful day and everything was great except that there were lots of Tech boys who proved conclusively that they are not all dead yet—they went to that midnight show somewhere down town. Yes there is one born every minute when rational and sane people will stay up to that ungodly hour and then pay to see a spectacle and motley brawl, when the actors are tired and the people beyond control. But there is no limit to which some people will go to be collegiate.

This week the Knights of A— (known as the Kappa Alphas)—were the hosts at the Driving Club. It was a great party and that band did play that night. That Driving Club is some swell joint to pitch a party in, eh, guy? As far as our limited observation could ascertain, there was little out of the ordinary—there were those sleepy no-breaks, the crash and bang of the band, and the inevitable lead out. Such are frat dances and it is all dependent upon the people that are there and the mood they are in as to whether the dance is good or not. Well, everybody was in a good humor and that party was, to repeat, the stuff.

Saturday after that nightmare of a baseball game, the Chi Phi's had their first tea dance of the spring season.

"Y" Singers To Give Social and Stunt Program In Y. M. C. A.

On Monday night, April 8, the Tech Y Singers with the help of the various Tech Bible Classes, are giving a combination social and stunt program. This program is to be held in the Tech Y. M. C. A. auditorium, and the admission will be twenty-five cents.

The program is being given to raise money for music for the Tech Y Singers, and also to bring the members of the numerous Tech Bible Classes together in a social gathering. The stunts will be exceedingly comical and enjoyable to everyone that attends. It will be a great chance to get a hearty laugh, and at the same time support a worthy cause.

Tickets may be claimed at the door, from a member of any of the Bible Classes, or from a member of the Tech Y Singers. Don't forget the date, April 8, 1929.

Far from the crowded mob scenes of the football tea dances, the one Saturday was just right. The punch was good, the food was good, the girls were, to drop from the literary heights, K. O., and then too Miss Nora was out in her glad rags. If there is one person who likes these frolics and loves her boys and girls, it is Miss Nora. A Chi Phi tea dance and very few other college dances here would be incomplete without her. And football and baseball season would be incomplete without the good times that we have at those tea dances.

Some few of the folks went out to another of those "come one—come all" high school dances last Monday. But Monday is a hard night to play on, so it makes very little difference as to who and what happened out there if any. But it was unusual in that it was a sport ball and we certainly do enjoy those informal dances in the spring. It is so hard to do any good with a Tux on. Just when those sweet nothings begin to pour forth, that collar will reach up and choke you and you will say things and that will break the whole spell of the moon and music and flowery language.

As life meanders through the spring, the dances pursue the even tenor of their way. Friday night the Pi K. A.'s will fling the brawl in competition with the seminary's last sorority dance given by the Sigma Deltas. Well, competition is the spice of the trade and both should be good with a slight trend toward the Pi K. A. Be sure and read these pages for the latest sport dope and social tips. They are red hot at time—sometimes not so good—they ain't (to use a colloquialism) supposed to be.

New Yellow Jacket Out Soon

The Yellow Jacket has chosen as the theme of its next number, the Modernistic tendencies that are being expressed in art and literature. These Modernistic expressions are at present exciting a great deal of comment in all fields of artistic endeavor, and should prove to be very interesting subject matter for a comic magazine.

Aided by the Architectural department, the Art staff has produced some very finished drawings that have a distinctive air of smartness about them. The literary staff too, has produced some very clever take-offs on the productions of the Imagistic poets and brilliant playwrights and novelists of today. And those jokes—say, you'll laugh your sides off at them. This Moderne Number will be the best of the year.

game, namely Tom Jones, Joe Westbrook, and Vance Maree. Captain Rusk of the 1929 edition of the Golden Tornado is now in the hands of Coach Crenshaw of the LaCrosse team. Harold is one of the high spots in this sport, and is a winning factor on the team. The rough and tumble sport will most certainly keep him in shape for the balance of the spring. Rusk is expected to follow right along in the footsteps of the great centers who form the wheel-horses of the Tech elevens.

Jim Brook seems slated to fill the vacant shoes of Raleigh Drennon. He is a great player and Coach Fincher has plenty of praise to dish out for him of his showing during this spring practice. Pifer is another mighty good man that is trying for a berth. Coot Watkins, Shorty Millians and Sam Fincher, are all hammering away for a tackle berth. At this moment however Mr. Coot Watkins is sprinting around with the LaCrosse team out Piedmont Park way. Ed Herron seems favored to step in the shoes vacated by Frank Waddey. Ed is busy with baseball now, but he will be on deck next fall.

Earl Dunlap will undoubtedly start off next season as quarter back. He is a great player and is very versatile, making an all-threat back.

Confession Admits Richard Barthelmess Did Not Sing "Weary River"

Voice "doubles" spoke and sang for Richard Barthelmess in Weary River and for Louise Brooks in The Canary Murder Case according to a confession printed in the current issue of "Time, the Weekly News Magazine." Frank Withers, says "Time" was the voice for Richard Barthelmess and Margaret Livingston talked for Louise Brooks.

Dr. Plato Durham Gives Interesting Talk

Heroism Of Religion Subject

In the academic building from 11 o'clock to 12 o'clock on Wednesday, March 27, Dr. Plato Durham spoke to the Tech students on the subject of "Heroism of Religion". He was introduced to the audience by Dr. Brittain. The chapel was entirely filled. Dr. Durham presented his lecture in a very forceful manner with a select vocabulary.

In the lecture Dr. Durham said: "Evil is not inherent; it is the misuse of divine powers vested in us. Each life is a spark of the Infinite Life. Religion unfolds the true light of life. The fealty of the heart to the ultimate values of life is religion. Where values are at stake, then fealty to those things awake heroic feeling in the heart and soul."

One of the incidents related by Dr. Durham is as follows: A certain Jew in the U. S. Army in France was despised by his companions. Although he had few friends, he did have a brave spirit. He proved it by throwing himself in front of his superior officer who was in the line of fire in order to protect him from death. In saving his officer he was riddled with bullets. He proved the stamina of his spirit.

The Doctor analyzed the heart of a football player while in action. He said that, written upon the heart of the player, there could be visualized a "T" because he was fighting for his school not himself. Also he said that fealty of the soul would be found in the hearts of great statesmen and leaders, if their hearts be analyzed.

According to Dr. Durham, bravery is not necessarily connected with military action alone. He was making a talk at Emory, when a soldier boy, who had been on Flanders Field, interrupted him by saying that he was brave on the field, but not very brave in the White Army of Christ.

Dr. Durham related how the Hindenburg line was broken by the Allied armies, and he told of what material the soldiers were made in order to carry out this terrible attack. One incident occurred as follows: A captain was instructed to lead his company to a certain village and was to be there at an appointed time. A few minutes after he had started the men on the march, he was shot in the throat and could issue commands only in a whisper. However, he plugged on bravely. The men were dying to the right and left, and the captain was shot in the knee, but he kept on. He was shot several times in the body, but he would not stop. He swore to reach his objective, or to die in the attempt. Soon after, he was killed by a burst of shrapnel. His bravery should be a standard for all to strive for.

Dr. Plato Durham's lecture was indeed inspiring.

Pinch Hitter's Paradise!

THERE'S a whole world waiting for inspired "pinch hitters."

In one industry alone—in the telephone making industry — hundreds and hundreds of men have won their spurs by pinch-hitter-like concentration.

For specialization is the order of the day. Specialization by some individual is the key to a short cut in making tiny switchboard lamps, to a more accurate inspection of the carbon in many million telephones, to a revolution in warehousing methods.

The stirring thing is that, just as the game of telephone making is constantly getting bigger, so the opportunity for "pinch hitters" becomes constantly greater.

Four Freshmen Make Debate Team

Four Atlanta boys were elected to defend Tech's honor in the freshman debate with Emory May the first. The team is made up of William R. Weems and Russell J. Brooks, Engineering students, and Claud D. Shaw and William A. Horne, Jr., Commercial students. Samuel S. Feldman and Ralph R. Doak were selected alternates.

The debate which will be held May 1 is on a subject of interest to every citizen in this country. Resolved: That the public should retain the ownership of, operate and develop the principal source of hydro-electric power in the United States.

Yale men decide which is best cigarette...

[Reproduced from the Yale News, Jan. 25, 1929]

OLD GOLD CIGARETTES WIN FIRST IN TESTS AT YALE

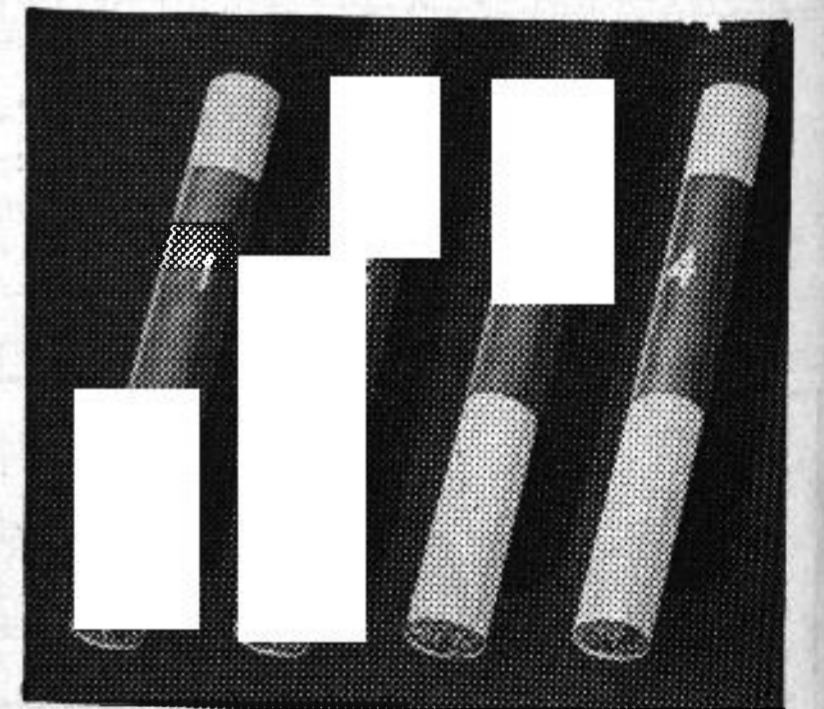

In the recent cigarette test made at the University, OLD GOLDS were chosen by the students as the best. The cigarettes were masked by black labels so that the names of the brands were concealed. Each label was numbered. This was judged to be the most sporting way of testing the merits of the four leading brands. Some 208 Yale students were asked to smoke the four disguised brands without knowing their identity.

They were merely to choose, by number, the one that was most appealing to the taste.

The NEWS supervised the test on January 18 at various fraternity houses and in the NEWS office.

When the votes were recorded it was discovered that OLD GOLD (Cigarette No. 3) had won. Old Gold was given 63 first choices, which was 11 per cent ahead of Cigarette No. 2, 34 per cent ahead of Cigarette No. 1, and 53 per cent ahead of Cigarette No. 4.
