After considering requests sent in by student organizations, the Joint Finance Committee draws up a budget which it submits to the two houses for approval. In addition to written policy, the committee bases its budget recommendations on a tier system in which certain organizations are given priority. Money can also allocated later on during the fiscal year if the organizations submit bills to either of the houses.

- Tier I organizations are given highest priority when preparing the budget. They affect many and provide services to all students on campus. They are not required to charge membership fees. The Student Center Activities Board and the Campus Recreation Center are included in this group.
- Tier II organizations are given second priority. They have the ability to create funded positions for students. DramaTech, graduate SGA, undergraduate SGA, Intramurals, the MOVE Office, the Music Department, ORGT, President's Council, the Student Center Programs Board, Student Publications and WREK are included in this group.
- Tier III organizations are given least priority. These organizations may not create funded positions for students. Tier III organizations which take part in contests must charge member dues of at least $15 to each member while those which do not must charge at least $35. Most student organizations fall into this category.
