The Alberta Library (TAL) hosted a federation searching symposium, and the blog wrap-up makes good reading on the discussion at this Canadian symposium: see blog.

Christine, you mentioned in your presentation that you and Alexis reviewed the literature on federated searching. Do you have a bibliography of what your review included? I'm interested in reading more.

Open source federated search software
by Andrea Goncalves - Wednesday, 5 April 2006, 12:34 PM

Does anyone know of open source federated search tools? I've just learned about two products: dbWiz and Keystone DLS.

I would love to hear comments about these from someone that have tried them, or any other open source software that you are aware of.

Thank you!
